NATIONALISTS SEIZE MILAN

Facta Cabinet Gains Strength and May Survive Ordeal in the Chamber.

ROME, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Milan, Ancona, Genoa and other Italian cities were kept in a state of turmoil last night and today by bands of Fascisti bent on working reprisals against the Socialists and Communists.

In Milan the Fascisti occupied the municipal building to the accompaniment of triumphant shouts. All the offices were taken over, and when the raiders reached the room where the Socialist Aldermen were at work, they demanded the resignations of the Aldermen, charging that the Socialist administration showed itself unfit to rule the community.

In the fighting of the last twenty-four hours in Milan more than fifty persons have been wounded. Ten of them received injuries from which they are not expected to recover.

D'Annunzio Asks for Fraternity.

Gabriele d'Annunzio appeared tonight on the balcony of the Milan Municipal Building. He addressed thousands gathered in the square below, making one of his stirring speeches. Repeatedly he asked the opinion of the crowd, being answered with a formidable "yes" or "no," according to the question.

In effect he said that he had not come to speak the "word of battle," but the "word of fraternity." Explaining that this must be the new dogma of the nation, he asked, "Do you believe in this dogma?" The multitude shouted "yes."

The poet-soldier emphasized the necessity of unity and brotherhood among all Italians, saying:

"Every workman, every peasant and every sailor led astray by evil shepherds must be convinced of this."

He urged Italians "to strive toward goodness—not inert, weak, indulgent goodness, but virile goodness, a goodness which conquers national frontiers, which grimly faces the hardest destiny and which overcomes all evils."

All Day Battle at Ancona.

Because the strike at Ancona continued in spite of the Fascisti ultimatum for its cessation, the Fascisti decided upon the occupation of the city. Numerous bands, marching from the provinces, began an advance at sunrise. A rifle shot from a window, which wounded a member of the Fascisti, was the signal for a battle, which continued throughout the day. The hardest task of the Fascisti was to dislodge a group of anarchists who had entrenched themselves in the highest parts of the city.

As soon as they had put down their opponents the Facisti set fire to the Anarchist Club, the Chamber of Labor, the Railway Men's Club, the Soviet Club and other headquarters. Four dead and many wounded have been reported.

Only a few trains were sent out of Ancona today. These were manned by Fascisti engineers and stokers. The Communists fired upon several of the trains. Fascisti bands from the neighboring Province of Perugia are being rushed to Ancona to help their comrades.

Fascisti Mass at Genoa.

Five thousand Fascisti are gathered in Genoa determined, as their leaders announce, to break the Socialists. More than 2,000 Fascisti are spread in the neighboring communities of San Pier d'Arena, Sestra, Voltre and Savona. They are engaged in fighting from street to street and from house to house. The number of dead and wounded in this vicinity cannot be ascertained.

There was fighting nearly all of Wednesday night in Genoa between Fascisti and Arditi (an organization called Arditi del Popolo, founded by Communists). After restoring order troops occupied the headquarters of the Arditi, where they found explosives, bombs and revolvers and arrested forty persons. Bands of Fascisti arrived in Genoa from Turin, Milan, Pavia and Ferrara to help their comrades.

At Padua the Fascisti raided the home of Dante Gallani, a Socialist Deputy, charging that a shot had been fired at them from the house. Dr. Gallani is a well-known physician. The interior of the house was wrecked and the doctor, his wife and their children were forced to flee, escaping from a back window.

At Pistoja, in Tuscany, parties of Fascisti occupied the municipal building. The Chambers of Labor at Asti and Padua were set on fire, and in the villages of Pagezzano, Rebecco and Calappa, near Spezia, the Socialist headquarters were destroyed.

Two persons were killed and several hundred wounded in the fighting between Fascisti and Communists at Bari in connection with the general strike, according to the latest reports received here. The troops used armored cars to put down the disturbances.

Cost of Living in Germany Rose 32 Per Cent. in July

BERLIN, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The cost of living in Germany took an unusual leap of 32 per cent. in July, as compared with 9.2 per cent. in June. The index figure rose from 3779 to 4990. The index figure for food alone went to 6836, representing an increase of 33.5 per cent. over June.

The prices of virtually everything except rent rose. This was especially true of new potatoes. The increases were uniform in small and large communities, none showing a rise of less than 20 per cent.

The further depreciation in the value of the mark is held responsible for the increase.

Poincare to Propose Levy on German Property in Return for a Short Moratorium.

PARIS, Aug. 4.—Private advices to the French Foreign Office late tonight from Berlin say the German Cabinet completed at 7:30 o'clock tonight a note to the French Government refusing to meet the terms of M. Poincaré's ultimatum to promise by noon tomorrow to pay $10,000,000 due on Aug. 15 on account of debts due allied nationals.

At the Quai d'Orsay it was said that if such a note was received tomorrow by noon, or if no note was received, measures would forthwith be taken.

What these measures are was not told, but it is understood they include the seizure of property of a certain number of Germans in Alsace-Lorraine and their expulsion from French soil, plus the seizure of certain properties in the Rhineland territory occupied by French troops.

The Foreign Office emphasizes that measures will be progressive, and that if the first steps do not bring results further steps will be taken. It indicates that Germans will be progressively expelled from France until Berlin gives way.

It is understood the French plan calls for notification to marked Germans of Strasbourg tomorrow afternoon and they will be told they must get out of France by Monday noon.

There is a certain inclination in French political circles to regard these measures as the beginning of French individual action to collect from Germany.

Note Denies French Right.

BERLIN, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—In a supplementary note sent to Paris tonight, the German Government reaffirms the position it assumed in its original communication with regard to the payment of private debts contracted with Frenchmen before the war.

The note declares the German Government does not propose to default in carrying out the payments, but merely requested a reduction of the amount to be paid.

The note calls attention to the British and Belgian replies and asserts that neither the Versailles Treaty nor the London Agreement provides for punitive measures before Aug. 15, on which date the next instalment of the debt payment is due.

It concludes with the hope that action will be deferred until the reparations question is regulated.

The note is accompanied by statistical data on German finances and economics.

Germans Withdraw Funds in France.

PARIS, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—German banks within the last forty-eight hours have transferred to Holland and Switzerland between 60,000,000 and 70,000,000 French francs which had been on deposit in American and other foreign banks in Paris, The Associated Press learned this afternoon.

The money was hurriedly withdrawn, it is understood, in anticipation of its being seized by the French Government as part of the penalties to be imposed upon Germany for her refusal to pay the £2,000,000 instalment due for private debts contracted before the war with Frenchmen.

These penalties are to become effective beginning at noon tomorrow, and although their exact nature has been carefully guarded by the Government it has been assumed that all German bank de-

65 CASES OF RUM, SEIZED BY POLICE, ARE SOUGHT IN VAIN

HE THREATENS A SEARCH

CAPTURED IN THE NARROWS

Motor Launch Carrying the Liquor Boarded After Shots Were Fired From Police Boat.

Investigation into the disappearance of sixty-five cases of Scotch whisky from a lot of 100 cases seized by the harbor police in the police boat Blue Boy in the harbor early yesterday morning from a rum runner called the B. N. J., was demanded of Police Commissioner Enright yesterday afternoon by United States District Attorney William Hayward in a letter to the Commissioner. The Federal prosecutor charges that the sixty-five cases disappeared between the time of the seizure and the time when the police turned the rum-runner over to the customs authorities.

Herman L. Falk, an assistant of Mr. Hayward, said that unless the missing liquor, worth about $7,800, was restored, a warrant would be asked for authorizing a search of the Blue Boy and the Harbor Police Station at the Battery.

"We must have the sixty-five cases turned over to us immediately, and I trust you will make a thorough investigation and find out where those cases are," said Hayward in his letter to Enright. "I would be glad to have a conference at my office between my assistant, Mr. Falk, and your office as soon as possible."

The seizure of the B. N. J. early yesterday morning followed an hour's chase, during which the rum runner and two police boats played a game of blind man's buff in the heavy fog.

Rum Runner Sighted.

Reports from the prohibition patrol off Fire Island that several large ships loaded with liquor were waiting outside of the twelve-mile customs limit for a chance to discharge their cargoes to smaller craft had caused the police to send out both of the department boats—the Manhattan and the Blue Boy—yesterday. The police boats were cruising about the harbor when the Manhattan sighted a small motor boat heading in at full speed. When hailed by the police boat, the crew of the motor boat refused to stop. The Manhattan started after the smaller craft, but plumped into a bank of fog and lost her.

The Captain of the Manhattan then sent a radio message to the Blue Boy. Lieutenant James Bannon, in command, took the Blue Boy to the Narrows and laid in wait. Within a short time the chug-chug of the motor boat became audible and while the two craft were still invisible to each other Lieutenant Bannon hailed the motor boat.

"Oh, we're all right," was the response. "We are revenue men out hunting for rum runners."

Lieutenant Bannon ordered the strange craft to halt, whereupon the motorboat tried to race away. The police boat commander then ordered a volley to be fired in the air, but even this did not stop the motorboat. The Blue Boy gave chase, following by ear. At Romer Shoals, off Ellis Island, the rum runner's motor went dead and the Blue oBy steamed alongside.

The boat was a forty-foot launch, bearing the names "B. N. J." and "K-3701." There were three men aboard. In the bottom of the boat were sacks of whisky, which the police reported they did not attempt to count, but which they estimated at 200 bottles.

The crew of the boat were arraigned before Magistrate Levine in the Tombs Court and later before United States Commissioner Samuel M. Hitchcock. The motor boat and thirty-five cases of whisky were turned over to the customs authorities.

Disappearance of the Whisky.

The disappearance of sixty-five cases from the whisky seized on the boat was charged during the hearing before Commissioner Hitchcock by Assistant United States District Attorney Falk. Mr. Falk said that the B. N. J.'s cargo had been taken off the schooner Minnie Wallace

BURST MAIN FLOODS BROOKLYN SUBWAY

BREAKS THROUGH A WALL

A sixteen-inch distributing water main at Fourth and Flatbush Avenues, Brooklyn, broke last night and loosed a flood which traveled a block underground, tore through the wall of the Interborough subway station at Atlantic Avenue and inundated the south tracks.

Service beyond that point was discontinued for nearly three and a half hours until 12:16 this morning, no trains running to or from Flatbush and East New York.

The column of water first broke through just above the track level, sending a shower of brick and cement ahead of a Broadway-Seventh Avenue express pulling out for Flatbush and East New York stations. The motorman made an emergency stop as the torrent poured over the third rail. The passengers were hurriedly debarked and shifted away out of danger.

The flood, starting shortly before 9 o'clock in the evening continued until 10:30, at which hour an emergency crew of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity managed to close two gate valves at Fifth Avenue and Pacific Street.

Meantime the underground stream had found a further outlet into cellars. Tons of water poured into the basement pressroom of The Brooklyn Times, sending pressmen who were plating the machines for tomorrow's early run scurrying to higher levels. Before the emergency men got the valve shut off, about four feet of water had gathered in the pressroom, where it was said that some damage was done to the machinery, while a number of big rolls of print paper were turned into sopping pulp.

Fire Engine Called.

A fire engine was called and set to work pumping out the cellar of the newspaper building while preparations were made to print today's issue in Manhattan. It had been expected to use the presses today for the first time since a 12-inch main burst early on last Friday morning within four feet of yesterday's break and sent a big stream flowing down on the presses.

Through the Brooklyn Times Building was the only one that suffered severely, a number of nearby cellars gathered some water, but not enough to necessitate pumping. The sidewalk in front of the newspaper's building began sagging shortly after the flow started, slumping until it was almost at the level of the vehicular roadway. Reserves from the Bergen Street Station then roped off the entire block in front of the structure from Flatbush to Atlantic Avenue on Fourth Avenue and turned aside all vehicular traffic from Times Plaza, its normal route to and from Coney Island.

The Brooklyn Edison Company and the city's water department brought big hydraulic pumps to bear on the accumulation in the subway and it was expected that the south tracks, alone affected, would be clear and dry before the morning rush hour traffic set in.

Shutting the gate valves at Fifth Avenue and Pacific Street deprived a section some ten blocks square of water. Late last night there appeared to be no prospect of the water being turned on by this morning, because while one big break had been located it was feared that there was a second one, some distance under ground. Fire hydrant supply lines were not affected and neither light wires nor telephone cables suffered.

Cause Is a Mystery.

The cause of the break which brought another in the long series of subway floods of the last few weeks was not determined definitely. It came at the edge of a hole thirty feet in diameter in which workmen throughout yesterday had been repairing the break which had sent a stream tumbling into The Brooklyn Times basement last week. It was said that one of them might have struck it with a hammer, or strained it with a crowbar, but nothing of that sort was established by preliminary investigation.

The first any one knew of the break was when the hole caused by the earlier one, widened into a deep excavation, began to fill with water. A watchman guarding the hole for the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity saw the rising water and telephoned to an emergency station. By the time trouble men got there the excavation was brimful, but the water was not gushing over, sure sign that it was finding its outlet underground.

Beneath the 16-inch distributing pipe runs a drain, sloping down to Fifth Avenue, where it has an outlet into a sewer designed to take care of any small leak. This drain, carried the bulk of the stream downhill, but the outlet at the bottom of the slope was not nearly adequate and it began damming against the subway wall.

The burst in the tube at the track level soon was followed by the seeping

Illinois Owners Grant Most of Demands in Offer to Miners.

PRICES DROP IN PITTSBURGH

INDIANA TROOPS UNDER FIRE

Ambushed Attackers Routed by Machine Guns Without Casualties—First State Coal Mined.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—While deciding at their meeting today to decline the invitation of President Lewis of the mine workers to attend the Central Competitive Field Conference at Cleveland on Monday, the Illinois coal operators made a new offer to the miners for a settlement of the strike within the State, on a basis more favorable than any terms they have heretofore offered.

The proposal was made in a letter to Frank Farrington, President of the Illinois district of the United Mine Workers. "Acceding to and being governed by the request of the President of the United States," said the letter, "we are prepared to at once open our mines for work, paying the wage scale in effect at the expiration of the last contract, and to avoid possible further disruption of coal production this Fall and Winter when the coal supply will be dangerously short, even under the best of conditions, we will agree that the old wage scale shall remain effective until March 31, 1923."

Under the plan proposed, if the men return to work immediately a board of arbitration shall be selected to begin efforts toward permanent settlement of differences. Pre-strike working conditions also are to rule pending a permanent agreement. It is proposed that the "truce" remain effective until March 31, 1923, by which date it is expected an arbitration board would have had opportunity to rule on all points at issue. The decision of the board would be binding for two years from April 1, 1923.

The personnel of the board would consist of "citizens of high standing, agreed to mutually" or appointed by President Harding, none being a miner or operator. Those signing the letter were Rice Miller, President of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association; W. K. Kavanaugh, President of the Coal Operators' Association, Fifth and Ninth Districts of Illinois, and H. C. Adams, President of the Central Illinois Coal Operators' Association.

The belief of the operators that their offer will bring about peace is based on the fact that it concedes most of the seven demands drafted at the miners' convention at Indianapolis, which were:

1. Continuation of the wage scale prevailing then.
2. A six-hour day and a five-day week. (Thirty hours a week instead of forty-eight hours.)
3. Time and one-half for overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays.
4. Elimination of certain differentials as between States and districts.
5. Elimination of the automatic penalty clause from the working agreement.
6. A weekly payday instead of every two weeks.
7. A two-year contract, to expire March 31, 1924.

The operators gave as their reasons for refusing to attend the Cleveland conference the fact two such meetings called by Lewis and which they had agreed to attend had not materialized and that the miners had refused to agree to President Harding's plan to end the strike.

"By reason of the published refusals from practically all other unionized districts to attend your suggested meeting," the letter continued, "it is clear that the conference cannot be in any sense representative or a proper basis for determination of wage scales to apply throughout the country.

"It will be aproximately only the equivalent of your dealing with a portion of the State of Ohio and possibly a few scattered operators of small tonnage from other States. It is universal-

Harding Said to Have Summoned Strike Leaders; Jewell and Others Will Meet Him This Morning

Special to The New York Times.

ELKHART, Ind., Aug. 4.—President Harding communicated today with the railroad strike leaders at Chicago and asked that a committee confer with him at once in Washington.

In response to this invitation, B. M. Jewell, President of the shopmen, and William Johnson, President of the International Machinists' Union, are on their way to Washington tonight. They will be joined in Washington by James Noonan, President of the Electrical Workers' International Union, and the three will meet the President at the White House at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

It is believed that the President is about to make another effort for a settlement of the railway strike and important developments are expected by the strike leaders.

The seniority question, as well as the National Adjustment Board for the prompt settlement of grievances, will be taken up by the President.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—When a White House official was asked late tonight whether Mr. Jewell, Mr. Johnston or Mr. Noonan had been summoned to the White House, that official reverted tto the official denial that had been authorized by the White House at 3:30 this afernoon to the effect that the President had not asked Mr. Jewell or Mr. Cuyler to come to the White House.

When asked whether, if not summoned by the President, the labor leaders named had themselves requested an appointment with the President, the White House official refused to affirm or deny, or to state whether the President had an appointment to meet them.

WANTS LEGISLATURE TO MEET COAL CRISIS

Assemblyman Jesse Appeals to Governor for Extraordinary Session.

MILLER NOT YET READY

Foresees, However, the Need of Special Powers to Deal With the Situation.

Pointing to the grave situation impending with the coal strike unsettled, coal scarce and Winter coming nearer, Assemblyman George N. Jesse of the Twenty-third (Manhattan) District has written to Governor Miller asking him to call an extraordinary session of the Legislature to deal with an emergency he believes imminent and threatening.

Mr. Jesse points out that the price of coal has soared to more than 100 per cent. in excess of what it was before the strike, where it is to be had at all. In commenting on his letter yesterday, Mr. Jesse said that one of the largest retailers in coal in this city had told him that soft coal which sold at $5 a ton now costs the consumer over $11—and that anthracite, used exclusively by New York householders, is not to be had.

Governor Miller, replying to Mr. Jesse's letter, said that he could forsee that the Coal Commission recently apointed by him, with Eugenius H. Outerbridge as chairman, might have to be clothed with powers that only the Legislature could confer. Mr. Jesse made public his correspondence after the departure of Governor Miller, who spent some hours in this city yesterday on his return from Washington where he had been in conference on Thursday with President Harding and Secretary of Commerce Hoover over the coal and rail situation.

The Governor's Reply.

Executive Chamber,
Albany, Aug. 2, 1922.

Hon. George N. Jesse, 621 West 179th Street, New York City.

My Dear Jesse: I acknowledge your letter of July 28, which has only just been received today. It may be necessary to call an extraordinary session of the Legislature, and in such case you may be sure I shall not hesitate to do so.

The immediate thing that will help save the situation will be the resumption of mining in the anthracite fields. The New York State Legislature cannot hasten that, as, unfortunately, we have no coal mines. Of course, the committee appointed by me will be able for the most part to exercise only moral suasion, and I can foresee that it will be necessary to clothe them with power.

I am obliged to you for your suggestion. Very sincerely yours,

NATHAN L. MILLER.

ROADS HERE FILLING QUOTAS FOR SOUTH

Aid to Coal Carriers Merely Precautionary, Eastern Executives Say.

REPORTS EQUIPMENT GOOD

The response of the Eastern railroads to the call for skilled shopmen to strengthen Southern lines serving the great non-union coal regions was described as "surpassing all anticipations," yesterday by L. F. Loree, President of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad and chairman of the Eastern Presidents' Conference. He announced that the first quotas of shopmen already had begun to arrive in Richmond, Va.

The quotas of workmen are being sent to the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Norfolk & Western, the Virginian and Louisville & Nashville Railroad. Most of the roads in the New York region had selected their quotas yesterday afternoon. The Erie officials said they were sending sixty men, the Lackawanna announced it had picked thirty-six to be sent South before night and the Lehigh Valley said its quota, forty-two men, was almost complete.

At the office of Mr. Loree it was said that word had been received during the day of the arrival of the vanguard of the quotas of skilled shopmen sent to the relief of the distressed Southern roads. The Eastern presidents believe that their quick response to the call from the Southern systems will furnish the best evidence of the ability and disposition of the railroad executives to move coal during the present emergency.

Ready to Fill Quotas.

New York Central officials have not yet determined upon the size of their quota, but have notified Mr. Loree that they stand ready to "do all that is shown to be necessary." The size of the quota will be fixed probably this morning, it was explained at the executive offices of that system. The Pennsylvania Railroad officials in New York City were awaiting word from headquarters in Philadelphia as to how many relief workers the Pennsylvania lines would furnish to the Southern roads.

The condition of the four Southern roads, according to Robert S. Binkerd, assistant to the Chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, was considered well in advance of the national meeting of executives at the Grand Central Terminal. He estimated that the number of shopmen to be furnished to the four Southern roads would approximate 1,200.

Coal movement to date, according to Mr. Binkerd, has been well maintained. He said that 14,000 cars were moved on Monday in the Pocahontas field in West Virginia, as against a high record of 17,000. That showed, he explained, that the reinforcement of shopmen was merely "a stitch in time" rather than an indication of any pressing situation that might get beyond control.

David Williams, Secretary of the Central Strike Committee, issued a formal statement in which he said that the shipment of the shopmen southward furnished proof that the strike on the Southern roads was "100 per cent. effective," and that the efforts of the employers to consolidate their forces showed the necessity for the railroad employes also to consolidate both union and non-union workers.

Few Jobs for Strikers.

Brotherhood Chiefs Ask Him to Try Again to End Rail Strike.

Conditions Are Better Now Than Under Government Control, They Assert.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Legislative representatives of three of the four railroad brotherhoods in Washington were requested by telegraph tonight to arrange a conference between President Harding and the chief executives of the brotherhoods for the purpose of presenting to the President their views in connection with the present strike of railroad shop crafts.

A telegram was sent direct to President Harding tonight by the three local chief executives of the brotherhood, asking for a conference.

The matter has been under consideration since yesterday by Warren S. Stone, President of the Brotherhood of Engineers; W. G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and D. B. Robertson, President of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, but because of the failure to get a reply for joint action from L. E. Sheppard, President of the Order of Railway Conductors, the other member of the "Big Four," it was decided tonight to ask for the conference through the legislative representatives of the engineers, trainmen and firemen.

Mr. Sheppard was advised by telegraph tonight that because of the serious situation hourly developing it was decided to seek the conference immediately.

"If you decide to take similar action you can wire your legislative representative direct," the telegram said.

Telegram to the President.

The telegram to the three legislative representatives was addressed to H. E. Wills of the engineers, Arthur J. Lovell of the firemen and W. N. Doak of the trainmen and read as follows:

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 4.

Referring to our joint telegram this date authorizing you to arrange conference with the President. We have wired the President as follows:

"The undersigned have this day wired our national legislative representatives at Washington instructing them to request a conference with you for the purpose of presenting to you our views in connection with the present strike of railroad shop crafts which is daily developing into a more serious situation."

(Signed)
STONE, LEE AND ROBERTSON.

Another message to the three legislative representatives, signed by the three chief executives, sent tonight, gives details for the urgency of the conference made necessary by the flood of complaints received at headquarters regarding working conditions on railroads since the beginning of the shopmen's strike through brotherhood members being asked to take out locomotives and equipment in dangerous and unsafe condition and of assaults and insults to brotherhood members by armed guards.

The legislative representatives are requested to file this message with the President as a basis for discussion with him of the questions at issue.

Outline of Grievances.

The message is as follows:

H. E. Wills, Arthur J. Lovell, W. N. Doak, Washington:

Complaints in increasing numbers are pouring into our respective offices against demands that our men take out locomotives and equipment which are in dangerous and unsafe condition, in violation of safety statutes and rules which have been enacted for the protection of the lives and property of the public, and of assaults on and insults to our members by armed guards that are placed on the various railroad properties.

Up to this time, by constant urging of a neutral attitude, fidelity to their contracts and in the interest of public peace and safety, we have prevailed on our members to continue at their posts. Constant aggravation of the above conditions and the refusal of the railroad executives to accept the proposals of the President for a compromise settlement of pending questions are making the situation infinitely more difficult to handle. The plain intention of the railroad executives to smash the shop craft unions is resulting in more and more of the locomotives and equipment getting into disrepair, and the dangers of a most hazardous occupation are being daily increased.

We fear that a continuation of these conditions will inevitably result in our members, as a matter of self-protection, being drawn into the controversy, and we greatly deplore such a contingency.

We feel that the American public is fully in sympathy with the President's

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Daily Chronicle, commenting editorially on the statement that the Prime Minister is thinking of writing a book, says:

"The publication of a book by the Prime Minister would be a public event of far greater importance than the average battle, and its influence would be more beneficial and more lasting. If our correspondent, 'A Student of Politics,' is right in thinking that in his zeal for European peace and settlement is to be found the key to his politics, the right subject for such a book would be the development of the idea of peace as it has presented itself from time to time to Mr. Lloyd George's mind. It should begin further back than the Versailles conference, and it should come down to a later period in which the idea of peace has passed through its most troubled and at the same time its most hopeful stages."

The Star's political correspondent writes:

"Mr. Lloyd George has agreed to undertake the writing of his memoirs. Already he has begun to collate the material for the opening chapters, but it is likely to be a very long time before he finishes his task, unless, of course, he decides on a general election soon, in which case he will no doubt have more spare time than he has at the moment. * * *

"Rumors to the effect that Mr. Lloyd George is to receive a sum running into six figures are dismissed as incredible in Coalition circles, but the opposition are of the opinion that if the Prime Minister tells 'the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth' his revelations would be priceless."

Ten Bullseyes by Major General in Mud Pit Show Japan's Army Trained from Ground Up

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 4.—An American army officer on the National Guard rifle range today asked Major Gen. H. Haraguchi of the Japanese Army if the commissioned personnel of the Japanese forces were well trained "from the ground up."

The Major General answered an hour later.

In his finest uniform, resplendent in its decorations of golden lace, its medals for bravery and distinguished service, its stripes and its leather fittings, General Haraguchi accompanied Adjt. Gen. J. Leslie Kincaid, N. Y. N. G., down a line of Seventh Regiment men at practice on the 500-yard range. The detachment of National Guardsmen were prone; it was raining; the firing line was a quagmire. In the centre of the line lay a private, mud-smeared, and every time he fired a flag waved over the target, informing him that his shot had missed the mark entirely. He missed again and again, and the Japanese General smiled.

"May I take the soldier's rifle?" he asked the Adjutant General.

General Kincaid nodded.

The private saluted, handed his rifle to the Major General and moved to the rear. Into the muddy hole slid General Haraguchi. He fired ten shots.

From the pit under the target a soldier telephoned:

"Ten straight bullseyes. Some shootin', Buddie."

efforts to settle this strike, and, in the light of the above facts and in the interest of public welfare, peace and safety, we suggest you call upon the President and urge him to again bring this matter to the attention of the railroad executives, with the hope that he may yet succeed in convincing them of the necessity for their prompt acceptance of the President's proposals, which have been accepted by the shop crafts.

Continued refusal to accept the President's proposals for a compromise settlement of pending questions will place upon the railroad executives full responsibility for the increasing seriousness of the situation.

We suggest you file this message with the President, as a basis for discussion with him of the questions at issue and to show you have full authority of the undersigned chief executives to meet him. We are wiring the President you will call upon him with full authority to discuss this subject.

STONE, LEE and ROBERTSON.

Request Reaches White House Late.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The telegram sent from executives of three of the four railroad brotherhoods in Cleveland asking a conference with President Harding on the railroad strike situation did not reach the White House in time to receive the President's consideration tonight.

Legislative agents of the brotherhoods also were understood to have agreed to wait until tomorrow before presenting the request, with an explanation of reasons which impelled the brotherhood chiefs to seek the conference.

The Administration's immediate attitude toward the rail strike, its spokesmen have declared, would be to await determination of whether the railroad managements would be able to carry out their proposal to "deliver transportation" despite continuance of the strike of the shopmen. In some quarters it was expected that the protest of the brotherhoods would be considered in relation to this policy, the Government seeking to determine whether the use of alleged dilapidated equipment had reached the point where it endangered public interests.

The major purpose of administration intervention in the rail strike was accomplished, a White House spokesman declared today, when both rail executives and shop craft union leaders agreed to consider authority of the Railroad Labor Board as supreme in future controversies.

This aspect of President Harding's proposals for a settlement of the strike is viewed by the Administration as paramount. The fact that the executives rejected the President's further proposal that, to end the strike, strikers be taken back by the carriers without impairment of their seniority status, was said to be secondary in the White House view since the success or non-success of governmental mediation efforts in industrial strife could be considered a small matter compared with maintenance of the integrity of legally established agencies of the Government itself.

This outline of the Administration attitude was made available after the Cabinet session, which was occupied for more than two hours with consideration of industrial difficulties in coal mining and transportation. It strengthened the belief that for the moment no further Government move affecting the conduct of railroads was to be expected.

Roads' Figures on Bad Order Stock.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The following statement was issued today by the Association of Railroad Executives:

"Representatives of the striking railway employes are attempting to arouse public concern over the alleged enormous impairment in the condition of motive power and cars of the railroads.

"No industry in the world is conducted with anything like the publicity which surrounds all the important aspects of American railroad operation. Among other things the railroads report and publish regularly statistics covering their car loadings, their idle cars and their bad-order equipment.

"The stories to the effect that a thousand locomotives are falling out of use every day are ridiculous. On July 15 of this year—two weeks after the strike began—there were fewer locomotives in bad order than Feb. 1, March 1, April 1, May 1 or June 1. Below are the figures showing the number of bad-order locomotives from July 1, 1921, to July 15, 1922, inclusive:

	Locomotives.		Locomotives.
Aug. 1, 1921	15,43[illegible]	Mar. 1, 1922	16,297
Sep. 1, 1921	15,569	Apr. 1, 1922	16,165
Oct. 1, 1921	15,47[illegible]	May 1, 1922	16,227
Nov. 1, 1921	15,491	June 1, 1922	15,765
Dec. 1, 1921	15,790	July 1, 1922	14,624
Jan. 1, 1922	15,383	July 15, 1922	15,764

"The number of bad-orders has been excessive ever since the period of Federal control.

"The inability of the railroads to earn even operating expenses during a part of 1921, coupled with the resistance of the men now on strike to any reasonable reduction in wages, made the adequate maintenance of the cars of the country financially impossible over a long period.

"Bad order cars on July 1 numbered 324,583, and on July 15 342,078, an increase of 17,495. This is not an abnormal increase, in view of the traffic indicated by the heavy car loadings of the months of June and July."

Senate Considering Engine Inspection.

A resolution offered by Senator Harrison, at the request of Senator King, who is absent in Utah, calling upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to report whether the locomotive inspection laws are being violated, was reported out favorably this afternoon by the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce. The resolution, which may be called up for consideration in the Senate tomorrow, reads:

"Resolved, that the Interstate Commerce Commission is hereby required and directed to report to the Senate whether or not the provisions of the act entitled 'An Act to Promote the Safety of Employes and Travelers Upon Railroads by Compelling Common Carriers Engaged in Interstate Commerce to Equip Their Locomotives With Safe and Suitable Boilers and Appurtenances Thereto,' approved Feb. 17, 1911, and the amendment to said act approved March 4, 1915, requiring the regular inspection of the boilers of locomotives, is being violated, and if so, to report the extent of such violation and to report specifically whether inspection of locomotive boilers is presently being made in all Federal locomotive boiler inspection districts and upon the roads of all common carriers engaged in interstate commerce as required by said act."

MANION DETAILS GRIEVANCES.

Head of Telegraphers Tells Why He Wants a Conference.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—E. J. Manion, President of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, today outlined to The Associated Press his reasons for sending a letter of invitation to the Presidents of sixteen railroad unions suggesting a meeting to discuss the relationship of their men to the shopmen's strike. The message could not be made public, he said, because of an agreement among the unions.

"The purpose of the suggestion is to have a consultation among the Presidents of the railroad unions," Mr. Manion said, "with the idea of solving the present predicament in which the men not on strike find themselves.

"The primary consideration is, then, the involving of the men in the work of the strikers, the men being asked to do work formerly done by the shopmen, which, of course, they cannot do.

"Another grievance is the treatment the men are receiving from the guards at the shops, who interfere with their free passage to and from work daily. This has proved annoying, and results in a growth of feeling against the railroads."

Mr. Manion added that the men did not wish to call a sympathetic strike, but desired heartily to go to the end with the strikers. "A delicate and difficult situation has been created," he said.

Mr. Manion announced that more than $10,000 had been received during the first week in response to an appeal to the 60,000 members of his union for one day's pay to help the cause of the striking railroad men and striking coal miners. He said $150,000 would be realized.

WAY MEN AGAIN RESTIVE.

Leaders in Eastern Section Recommend a Sympathetic Strike.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 4.—William D. Roberts, local President of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Railway Shop Laborers, announced tonight that he and E. L. Enke, also of this city, a member of the Brotherhood Executive Board, had telegraphed to President E. F. Grable at Detroit, their recommendation of a sympathetic strike with the railway shopmen.

They hold jurisdiction over the maintenance of way employes on twenty-eight Eastern railroads, from the New York, Ontario & Western in the North, to the Baltimore & Ohio in the South.

SEVERAL ROADS SEEK MEN IN NEW ENGLAND

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 4.—Advertisements were printed by newspapers in Connecticut today for men to enter the employ of the Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western, Central of New Jersey and Lehigh Valley Railroads.

In the case of the first two roads mentioned the applicants were instructed to apply to E. E. Regan, superintendent of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad here. The Lehigh Valley Road directs applicants to apply to an agent in this city. All expenses to place of employment are offered.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 4.—President W. J. Harahan of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway formally announced today that other railroads were supplying men for his company's shops, and said that the Chesapeake & Ohio was "hiring a great many men at various points."

"We still feel," Mr. Harahan said, "that we would prefer to do business with our old men, but the situation, of course, is being rapidly changed by the bringing in of these new men. The men that we are hiring are in no sense whatever strikebreakers, but are skilled mechanics."

Heads of the striking shopmen on the Chesapeake & Ohio, however, declared that if any outside men had been brought to Richmond to work in the company's shops they were not aware of it. The union chiefs added that they had watched all incoming trains since last night.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4.—The Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroads today announced that their shop forces were within 25 per cent. of normal, and that traffic was unaffected by the strike. Additional men are being put to work daily, it was added. Union leaders said the strikers' ranks "remain firm."

A statement from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad said the situation was so reassuring that the road, instead of contracting work, would make repairs with its own men. Forty men, it was said, went to work in the shops here yesterday, and additional workers will be put on from time to time. These men, road officials declared, would be housed and fed at the shops. A "good freight movement" and "improvement in passenger service" were noted in the statement.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 4.—That the West Springfield repair shops of the Boston & Albany Railroad now have 500 men at work was the statement today of Master Mechanic E. A. Butler, who said that the force was adequate to handle the entire quota of work assigned to the shops.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—A move by Eastern railroads to employ war veterans to replace striking shopmen and to fill vacancies in other departments was revealed today with publication of a report of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad.

Of the new men hired in the mechanical department to replace strikers, the report said, 19.3 per cent. are war veterans, while 36 per cent. of the telegraphers and 18 per cent. of the employes in the electrical transmission department of the electrified division are overseas veterans.

Railroad men here say the Bangor & Aroostook, in Maine, and other New England roads are also making a special effort to fill vacancies with ex-service men.

TERMS NOT CHANGED, SAYS WHITE HOUSE

CUYLER SAW IN WRITING

Statement Is Made in Answer to Reports That He Got Verbal Summary.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The seniority conditions as contained in the written Administration proposals rejected Tuesday by the railroad executives were shown by President Harding in his preliminary negotiations last week with representatives of the carriers and striking shopmen, it was stated at the White House today.

The statement was in reply to speculation in both labor and railroad quarters as to whether a change was made in the seniority proposal of the Harding settlement plan. After a meeting of the Cabinet today, at which the industrial troubles were discussed, the President let it be known that the only difference between his informal proposal and his written conditions was in the second clause relating to lawsuits arising out of the strike. Notice of this change was given in the communication of his plan to Bert M. Jewell, head of the Railway Employes' Division of the American Federation of Labor.

The White House statement was as follows:

"The President said that in dealing with a matter of this importance, as in all other matters, he never presents a misunderstanding nor makes any misrepresentations."

Concerning reports from New York that the railroad Presidents in their meeting there Tuesday were taken by surprise by President Harding's proposal that seniority rights should be restored unimpaired to the strikers, it was said at the White House that these terms were made known to Mr. Cuyler last week when he saw the proposal at the White House.

This statement has aroused considerable comment in Washington tonight. It is recalled that Mr. Cuyler's last conference with President Harding was on the night of July 27, following which he said that the Railroad Presidents would meet in New York on Aug. 1 to consider settlement proposals submitted by the President. Mr. Cuyler left Washington the next day, when it was said at the White House that the President had not framed his proposals in final form and that it would be a breach of faith to make public its features before they had been laid before the railroad men.

Over the week-end word came from sources close to the President that Mr. Cuyler would agree under protest to the program. This brought denials from the railroad executives on Monday.

Mr. Cuyler arrived in New York the same night, and in an interview with THE NEW YORK TIMES said: "I have neither approved nor disapproved President Harding's peace plan. When I left Washington the President had not drafted his plan, and consequently I do not know what it comprises. How could I approve or disapprove it? That is a matter to be decided after the plan has been received and at our conference here tomorrow."

The text of the President's formal proposals, addressed to Messrs. Cuyler and Jewell, was dated July 31, the day before it was rejected by the railroad executives.

BOARD ORDER FAVORS CLERKS.

Decrees Restoration of Sick Leave and Vacations With Pay.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Railroad clerks were favored today in a decision announced by the Railroad Labor Board, ordering railroads to continue customary sick leave and vacation with pay gratuities pending adjustment of disputes over these practices, either by a ruling from the board or by agreement between managements and employes.

This is regarded by union leaders as highly favorable to the clerks, inasmuch as a number of railroads abolished these gratuities without sanction of employes or Labor Board.

Commenting on today's ruling, Chairman Ben W. Hooper said:

"After our remanding order a number of railroads discontinued these gratuities. This created considerable dissension among the clerks. The railroads undoubtedly felt that, inasmuch as they had established these practices, they also had a right to abolish them at will.

"When the board issued its remanding order no attempt was made to place an interpretation on the board's power to assume jurisdiction in the dispute. But today's resolution, an interpretation of the original decision, holds that the board has the power to order that the past practices continue pending settlement, either through the board or management and employes."

B. & O. OBTAINS INJUNCTION.

Atlantic Coast Line Also Receives Court Protection.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—A preliminary order restraining members of striking shop crafts unions from interfering with shop employes of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at Wilsmere, near Wilmington, Del., was issued today by Judge Dickinson in United States District Court.

The order provided, however, that the strikers may hold peaceful assemblies and picket in a lawful manner, but enjoins the strikers from exercising any violent or intimidatory means in behalf of their cause.

The Court specified also that a hearing will be held at Wilmington on Aug. 16 on the road's application for a preliminary injunction.

Seven shop crafts organizations and forty-nine individuals, twelve of them union officers and the remainder strikers, are affected by the order.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The Atlantic Coast Line Railway has obtained a temporary order at Pensacola, Fla., restraining strikers of the federated shop crafts from interfering with that company's employes or property, other than picketing by peaceful means. The order was directed particularly at shopmen on strike at River Junction and High Springs, Fla.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, the Seaboard Air Line and the Western & Atlantic Railroads were charged with maintaining a "standing army" to suppress the strike of railway shopmen in a lengthy answer filed at Atlanta by union officials to the petition of the roads for continuance of a temporary restraining order against the strikers.

In their answer to the petition the strikers requested the Court to prohibit the railroads from "maintaining more than two members of their standing army to any one garrison."

ERIE TO CANCEL 20 TRAINS.

Shortage of Coal Makes Curtailment Necessary, Road Announces.

HORNELL, N. Y., Aug. 4.—The Erie Railroad will cancel approximately twenty trains in this region, effective Aug. 5, according to an official announcement here today.

The cancellation is due to the shortage of coal, the officials stated.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Restoration of two passenger trains on the Toledo & Ohio Central between Hobson, Ohio, and Charleston, W. Va., was announced last night by General Manager H. E. Speaks. The trains had been discontinued ten days because of coal shortage, he said.

CLERKS VOTE ON YAZOO LINE.

Ballots Are Returnable on Aug. 8, the Union Announces.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 4.—Clerks on the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad are taking a strike vote, it was announced here today at the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Station and Express Employes.

E. H. Fitzgerald, President of the union, said the vote was returnable on Aug. 8.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 4.—Illinois Central officials here stated today that they were without information as to a possible strike of clerks employed on that road and the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley lines.

In union circles it was stated that the strike vote was in connection with wage cuts effective last June 30, and returnable Aug. 8.

Michigan Central to Reopen Shops.

JACKSON, Mich., Aug. 4.—Officials of the Michigan Central Railroad announced today that the plant of the railroad here, operations of which were curtailed recently because of the shopmen's strike, would be reopened within a few days. The announcement said that 482 men are employed now, against 1,000 before the strike.

Kentucky Troops on Louisville Line.

MADISONVILLE, Ky., Aug. 4.—Kentucky National Guard troops today were put on guard at Earlington, where officials said a serious situation had developed between striking Louisville & Nashville shopmen and the men employed to take their places. The troops were taken to Earlington from this city on motor trucks.

striking employes back in a body, but indicates that jobs will be found for comparatively few. The statement added:

"Our electrical shops are fully manned. Our passenger car shops have more than 60 per cent. of a permanent force, and are being operated. The freight car repairs have never been interrupted. Our roundhouse forces are normal, and the forces in the blacksmith, machine and boiler shops are practically all working at the new rates established by the Railroad Labor Board or by agreement with the new employes."

The New Haven announced a temporary agreement with clerks and other employes threatening to strike had been reached at a conference between the employes and officials.

Officials added that the new force of skilled mechanics was beginning to approach normal. They further said that the number of engines held in reserve because their use was not absolutely necessary was fifty-one, and that bad order freight cars on June 30 was 26.6 per cent. and on July 31 26.8 per cent.

Soon after the Erie disclosed that every suburban train arriving in Jersey City for the last three days had been reported on time, E. M. Rine, Vice President and General Manager of the Lackawanna, asserted that he had built up the "back shop" force at Kingsland in the Jersey meadows to 80 per cent. of normal. Mr. Rine said that the strikers were not rushing back to work, but were returning steadily, in fulfillment of the road's prediction that the strike would end with gradual disintegration. The strike leaders in this district challenge the statement of Mr. Rine.

Railroad officials said they were not concerned about the call for a national conference sent out by E. J. Manion, head of the telegraphers, to the twelve railroad unions not on strike. "The Big Four" brotherhoods were among those included in the invitation by Mr. Manion to discuss the "growing tendency to involve noncombatants in the shopmen's struggle." In railroad circles it was believed that the "Big Four" would not take part in such a conference because their agreement with the roads runs until Fall, and because the wage and working conditions questions affecting them are still to be heard by the Railroad Labor Board.

Explains Heavy Traffic.

Mr. Lores in a statement said that the heavy traffic handled despite the strike was due to full co-operation of shippers. He said the Public Service Commission's statement for July, 1920, showed 79.5 per cent. of all New York trains on time, as against 78.8 in the July, 1922, statement. He also pointed to the steady market quotations on rail stocks as indicative of public support.

In a formal statement the Association of Railway Executives said the striking railroad employes made an attempt to arouse public concern over "the alleged enormous impairment of motive power and cars." The statement pointed to the reports published monthly by the railroads and added:

"The stories to the effect that a thousand locomotives are falling out of use every day are ridiculous. On July 15 of this year, two weeks after the strike began, there were fewer locomotives in bad order than on Feb. 1, March 1, April 1, May 1 or June 1."

The Strike Committee, in a statement on equipment, said:

"Information on bad order cars given out by the American Association of Railway Executives and local railroad officials purporting to represent actual conditions on all roads on July 15, entirely omit returns from those very roads which have been hardest hit by the strike."

The Association of Railway Executives made public a statement explaining that seniority now guaranteed to loyal and new men conferred these valuable privileges: Choice of the opportunity of shifting from night to day work; choice of desirable vacancies or new jobs; assurance of being the last to be laid off and the first to be taken back, and the opportunity of filling vacancies at other points temporarily. The statement added:

"The proposal to restore unimpaired the seniority rights of the striking employes would mean:

"That a returned striker would displace on the seniority list a loyal man wherever the seniority of the striker was greater than that of the man who remained faithful to his obligations.

"That every striker would take precedence over men employed since the strike began.

"That the new men employed since the strike began would necessarily be the first to be laid off in any reduction of forces."

Other developments in the strike were: Health officials of Jersey City said that improperly cooked food probably followed by green apples was responsible for the sudden illness of twenty strikebreakers held in reserve in Jersey City by the Pennsylvania lines; the announcement of a $1,000 reward by the Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central Railroads for the arrest and conviction of dynamiters who tried to blow up water supply pipes of their joint system at Mauch Chunk, Pa., on Monday; notice purporting to be addressed by Erie commuters indicating that foreign strikers were engaged in violence, and a retort from Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City asked why the Erie ever employed them in the first place.

An appeal to the soldiers not to shoot their "brothers, the railway and mine strikers," issued over the signature of J. Davis, Executive Secretary of the Central Executive Committee of the Communist Party of America is being distributed through the mails and otherwise. The appeal appears upon a sticker designed for posting.

RAIL GUARDS ARE HELD.

Federal Attorney Gets Writs for Their Release.

Vincent Keuper, Federal Deputy Marshal, and George C. Valentine, a detective of the Erie Railroad, were held for the Grand Jury on charges of assault by Judge O'Regan in the Second District Court, Jersey City. Bail in each case was fixed at $500. They were arrested during a disturbance near the Erie terminal in Jersey City on July 27. The complaints against them were made by Mrs. Veronica Kierney, 178 Eleventh Street, and Mrs. Vedicta Mikula, 182 Eleventh Street, who testified that the two officers roughly handled them in hallways into which Keuper and Valentine had pursued strikers they alleged had stoned Erie trains.

Mrs. Kierney and Mrs. Mikula, arrested at the same time, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Hendrickson on a charge of conspiracy, and were held in $2,500 bail each for the Federal Grand Jury.

Assistant United States Attorney Harlan Besson procured a writ of habeas corpus from United States Judge Bodine for the two men. The writ is returnable in Jersey City on Monday.

HIDDEN BAND FIRES ON INDIANA TROOPS

FIRST STATE COAL MINED

State Representative Protests to Governor McCray Against Presence of Troops in Town.

STAUNTON, Ind., Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The first hostilities following the taking over of mines by the State occurred today when an outpost of National Guard troops on duty here were fired on from ambush. The fire was returned by the troops, and later the firing became general over the entire militia-patrolled area. Automatic rifles were brought into action by the troops. Firing began soon after midnight and continued until after daybreak.

Reports received by Major General Tyndall, commanding the Guard, said that no one was injured. It was said, however, by some of the men on duty that one was slightly injured.

Investigation by military officials indicated that although the firing lasted for several hours the attacking party was small. It was reported that several men from near-by towns came to this city and announced that they were going to "get a flock of soldiers." They fired on an outpost and the fire was immediately returned. As a result of this firing, whenever there was any movement in the woods near by the guardsmen fired. Several men who, when called on to halt failed to obey, were fired on.

The continued firing was the result of the "take no chances" orders given to the militia. No one is supposed to be in the occupied zone without a pass and those with passes are supposed to travel only on the public highways in the open. As a result, when the attackers fired, the guardsmen swept the spot with machine gun and rifle fire.

Temporary telephone wire strung between General Headquarters and the outposts were cut in some places before the firing started and squads were busy today repairing them. New outposts were established at various strategic points and several new machine gun nests were installed at points where they could rake every vulnerable point of the occupied zone.

The outpost fired on was in command of Captain William Brann and was near Mine No. 3, which is due west of Staunton and only 200 yards from General Tyndall's headquarters. How the persons who opened fire there ever got through the outer lines of defense is a mystery, but it is presumed that under some pretext they obtained passes, entered in the daytime and lay concealed in the woods until night.

The loading of coal into cars preparatory to shipment would begin late today, Governor McCray said after a conversation over the long distance telephone with General Tyndall. "We will load some coal today," said Governor McCray.

Shipment of coal from the Staunton mines will begin about Monday, John W. McCardle, Chairman of the Public Service Commission and head of the State Emergency Coal Committee, announced after a conference with the Governor.

David E. Matthews, directing the work of the State committee, announced that canning factories had been placed in the first class for emergency coal supplies. Although the State institutions which are out of fuel will be taken care of first, all other priority orders for immediate coal supplies will go to the canning plants to take care of perishable crops.

Governor McCray said a price of $4 a ton at the mine had been agreed on for the first coal produced from the two Staunton mines. The consumer is to pay freight charges, which will make the price of State coal $5.60 a ton in Indianapolis.

All sections of the twenty by forty mile area through which the troops are scattered were quiet tonight, but the situation was considered by the officers to be decidedly tense, especially in the neighborhood of Jasonville and Linton (Greene County). At Staunton there was no indication of further disturbance, but every outpost had been doubled in strength, new machine gun posts were established and preparations were completed to rake the fields and woods with fire in case of any sort of an attack.

NO RULING ON NEW UNIONS.

Labor Board Will Not Act Unless a Dispute Comes Before It.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The Railroad Labor Board will not be called on to pass on the question of recognition of the newly formed union of Santa Fé employes until some controversy involving the union is brought before the board, it was explained by members today.

The Missouri Pacific is reported to have completed organization of a similar new shop association.

"I am certain that when distribution of coal begins, which, I believe, will be soon, New York State will receive its quota of coal based on past consumption," was all the Governor would say. He said he had given close study to the coal situation in its relation to the domestic and industrial needs of the State ever since the stringency began to make itself felt and that he was preparing to deal with the emergency to the full extent of the powers vested in him.

"Hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers are virtually out of coal and the dealers have no anthracite on hand," said Assemblyman Jesse when asked about his letter to the Governor. "I called up one large firm of retailers today and they told me that soft coal, ordinarily worth about $5 a ton, was now selling at $11.35, and that they had no anthracite at all. It is better to cure the ox now while you can than to give him pills after he is dead.

"Governor Miller is a man of action. I believe he will recognize the need of prompt action in meeting this grave exigency. If we do not have coal by the middle of October, the grasping landlord, and there are many of them, will boost rents and when he is haled to court his answer will be that coal to heat his apartment costs $20 a ton. The law cannot but sanction an increase in rentals if the landlord can show that his expenses have been appreciably increased. I believe that the Governor will meet the situation with characteristic vision and energy."

Names Utilities Committee.

William A. Prendergast, Chairman of the Public Service Commission, yesterday authorized the appointment of a committee to represent the public utilities of the State, to co-operate with Governor Miller's Emergency Coal Commission. The big utilities corporations, he said, had good supplies of coal. Arrangements will be made for them to help out some of the smaller corporations, if necessary.

The first meeting of the committee was fixed by Mr. Prendergast for 10 o'clock this morning at the offices of the Public Service Commission, 30 Church Street. There will be general discussion of the present condition of different classes of utility corporations in the State. The members of the committee are W. R. Addicks, Vice President Consolidated Gas Company; J. C. De Long, President Syracuse Lighting Company; Edwin Duffey, President Cortland County Traction Company; Frank Hedley, President Interborough Rapid Transit Company; Harry F. Huy, Western New York Water Company; J. Ledley Hees, President Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad Company; E. H. Hill, Vice President Elmira Water, Light and Railway Company; J. W. Lieb, Vice President New York Edison Company; J. H. Jourdan, President Brooklyn Union Gas Company; W. O. Peck, Superintendent Dunkirk Municipal Plant; George L. Maltby, General Superintendent Jamestown Street Railway Company; W. S. Menden, Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company; E. H. Rosenwuist, President Elmira State Gas and Electric Company; R. M. Searle, President Rochester Gas and Electric Company; M. S. Sloan, President Brooklyn Edison Company, and H. B. Weatherwax, Vice President United Traction Company, Albany.

Jersey Chairman Seeks Data.

William T. Grier, Chairman of the New Jersey Coal Commission, appointed by Governor Edwards to deal with the strike emergency, conferred yesterday with Chairman Outerbridge of the New York Commission at Mr. Outerbridge's office, 11 Broadway. Co-operation between the two commissions in line with the policies of the Federal Coal Commission was discussed.

The New Jersey Commission met yesterday afternoon in the Governor's office in Jersey City and went over reports from municipalities, corporations and institutions on coal supplies. The meeting adjourned to Monday.

The Public Service Electric Company, which furnishes 141 New Jersey municipalities with light, power and transportation, has only enough coal to last until Oct. 10, it reported. The estimate of the total required to April 1 is 459,000 tons.

The Public Service Gas Company reported 2,921 tons of coke on hand, 38,194 tons of anthracite and 18,011 tons of steam coal. It will use about 500 tons of coal a day until Oct. 10, and after that date about 600 tons a day.

Brooklyn holds itself in readiness to co-operate with the Federal authorities and the State Coal Commission in any emergency arising from a shortage of coal, Acting Borough President Joseph A. Guider said yesterday. Mr. Guider will confer with Leroy T. Harkness of the Transit Commission, and William A. Prendergast of the Public Service Commission, both of them Brooklyn men. He said some system of rationing would be adopted in the borough if necessary.

Anthracite coal is so scarce in Pennsylvania that were any being produced it would be seized by those in the vicinity and not allowed to go any further, John Mates, member of the International Board of the United Mine Workers, said last evening at the Hotel Continental.

ODD LOT LIBERTY BOND SALES LAID TO STRIKE

Wall Street Reports Flood of Small Denominations From Inland Banks.

Reports were current in the financial district yesterday that strikers in many communities have been obliged to sell Liberty bonds acquired during the war. A flood of $100, $500 and $1,000 pieces of practically all issues have rolled in on the Wall Street district during the last few days, many of them from Chicago, and a large number from Pittsburgh and other coal mining regions.

In the majority of cases these bonds have been sold in the open market here for the account of inland banking institutions. The sales of "bunched bonds" were easy to distinguish in the bond market yesterday. By this practice a large number of odd lots of bonds of one issue are put together and sold in a block. Selling of this character brings uneven quantities to market.

For instance, "bunched blocks" sold yesterday included $7,800 of 3½s, $11,000 of second 4¼s, $2,050 of first 4¼s, and $8,900 of fourth 4¼s.

FIVE RAIL MEN BEATEN, ONE PROBABLY FATALLY

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 4.—Twenty-five masked men kidnapped five Seaboard Air Line employes and one railroad guard at Manly, near Southern Pines, today, carried them two miles from that point and severely beat them.

One, it is believed, was fatally injured, according to reports to the Seaboard offices here.

SAYRE, Pa., Aug. 4.—The homes of two workmen in the Lehigh Valley Railroad shops here were stoned today by alleged strike sympathizers. One of the disorders took place at Waverly, just across the State line, and resulted in calling out the New York constabulary. Two men were arrested, but were released later.

Three foreign-speaking strikers were served with writs ordering them to appear in court at Towanda tomorrow to answer contempt charges for alleged violation of the injunction restraining the strikers from interfering with the shop workers.

NEW HAVEN RESTORES PRIVILEGES OF CLERKS

Strike Is Averted by Agreement—Clerks Accept Pay Cut Pending Decision by Board.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 4.—Restoration of privileges in effect prior to July 1 and postponement of further action by employes in connection with pay reductions were agreed upon at a conference today between officials of the New Haven road and a committee representing the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, freight handlers, express and station employes, according to a statement issued by the railroad company tonight.

The company is said to have agreed to restore all former rules and practices in effect prior to the decision of the Labor Board with respect to vacations, Saturday half holidays and sick leave, pending the final decision of the board, which has the matter under advisement. The committee promised postponement of all action by its organization in connection with the acceptance or rejection of the reduction in rates of pay awarded by the Labor Board, effective July 1, pending further advice from the board to the committee regarding the protest against these reductions now on file with the board.

The conference was an amicable one, according to advices from some of those present.

According to statements emanating from the clerks' headquarters the result of the conference is regarded as a victory for the men.

STRIKERS THROW GAS BOMBS

A Marshal and Two Guards Are Overcome in Lincoln, Neb.

Special to The New York Times.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 4.—Gas bombs were used by railroad strikers this morning when a gang of Mexican strikebreakers were being run into the Burlington shops here. When the attack of the strikers was over United States Marshal McClung and Earl Hanning and H. G. Stewart, railroad guards, were found to have been overcome by the fumes. All three men are still under treatment.

Earlier in the day gas bombs were thrown at the residence of Louis Brill, who had refused to strike. Mrs. Brill and other members of the family were made ill by the fumes.

A crowd of between forty and fifty strikers tried to prevent the strikebreakers from being taken into the shops and a fight with the police followed. Marshal McClung arrived in an automobile and a gas bomb was thrown into his car by one of the strikers.

One woman was arrested and fifty strikers invaded the United States Marshal's office in a demand for her release. This was refused and the woman was held. Five attacks on the homes of strike-breakers were made today and last night.

COAL PRICE DROP SEEN AS PEACE SIGN

Independent Operators in Pittsburgh District Predict Conference Will Be a Success.

MANY TO GO TO CLEVELAND

Say 50 Per Cent. of Central Competitive Field Tonnage Will Meet With Miners.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4.—Despite reiterated denials by members of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, which dominates the coal mining industry in this district and wields a strong influence in the coal and coke operations in the Connellsville region, indications are growing daily that the joint conference of operators and representatives of the United Mine Workers will effect a settlement of the coal strike at the meeting in Cleveland next Monday.

Probably the most significant move this week which shows the trend of opinion among coal operators is the fact that fuel, almost impossible to obtain last week, except at prices ranging from $8 to $9 a ton, has, during the last few days, been offered in carload lots by several big mine companies at prices ranging from $7 to $5.50. The American Steel and Wire Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, is reported today to have found it necessary to put another steamer and crew on its river route to handle the increased tonnage of coal coming from West Virginia points on the Monongahela River.

Two big boroughs adjoining this city were in the market for coal this week for their municipal plants and Public Works Department. Last Monday coal in carload lots was quoted at $9 a ton to them. Yesterday one bought several carloads at $7 and today the second purchaser obtained a month's supply for $5.50 a ton.

A big Clarksburg, W. Va., mine early in the week quoted a price of $8.50 a ton at the mines. Today it was offering coal at less than $7 a ton.

The Valley Camp Coal Company, controlled by Cleveland interests and operating several mines in the Pittsburgh district, was asking $9 a ton previous to the calling of the conference. It is now quoting coal at less than $7 a ton.

Several operators who are members of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, but who are not in accord with the interests controlling it, asked today for a reason for the drop in the price of coal, did not hesitate to say that it foretold the settlement of the strike at the Cleveland conference.

"Over 50 per cent. of the tonnage in the central competitive field will meet the representatives of the United Mine Workers at Cleveland, a basic wage settlement will be effected, the operators will resume operations at their mines and unless the others get into line quickly they will find their business rapidly dwindling," declared an independent operator. "That explains the slump in the price of coal."

For several weeks reports have been current here that the Paisley interests with headquarters in Cleveland and controlling several big coal operations in the Connellsville region, the Pittsburgh district, northern West Virginia and Ohio are not in accord with the stand of the local operators' organization in refusing to meet the miners. That the Paisley interests will be represented at the conference and that with them will be many other large independent operators has been the confident assertion of officials of the United Mine Workers for several days.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—President Lewis of the United Mine Workers was formally notified late today by the Freeport Thick Vein Operators' Association here that the organization was willing to discuss strike settlement problems with district representatives of the United Mine Workers, but that it would not attend the four-State conference at Cleveland on Monday.

Operators attending the conference represented about 70 per cent. of the association tonnage. It is understood that some operators who were not present may take part in the Cleveland meeting. The Freeport operators, in their telegram to President Lewis, offered to the union miners the wage scale in effect in November, 1917. This would mean a reduction of from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent. in wages. The operators also refused to continue the check-off system.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 4.—Michael Gallagher, President of the Pittsburgh Vein Operators' Association, today said 75 or 80 per cent. of Ohio's coal tonnage would be represented at the interstate conference here next Monday of bituminous operators and miners.

A prominent operator today estimated that nearly 90 per cent. of the Ohio field would be represented at the conference, probably 30 per cent. of the Western Pennsylvania field and 35 per cent. of the Indiana field. Illinois, he said, would have a fair representation.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 4.—Before leaving here today for Cleveland to attend the conference of miners and operators, John Wilkinson, President of District 21 of the union, said he was confident the conference would produce a basis for negotiations which would terminate the strike.

ly recognized that the old central competitive field method of negotiation has been permanently outgrown and discarded as a practical method of determining wage scales. Your own action in sending invitations to this meeting to a number of individuals not parties to the old central competitive field organization violates former central competitive field procedure and acknowledges that you yourself recognize and are following a new course."

ILLINOIS TRAIN IS FIRED ON.

Trestle Set Afire Following Shots at Coal Cars.

CARBONDALE, Ill., Aug. 4.—A coal train running from Paducah, Ky., to Carbondale, Ill., on the Illinois Central railroad, was fired on near here last night, the train crew reported today. Signs were found in scattered sections along the railroad reading: "Notice: Railroad men—Quit hauling scab coal."

The trainmen, including the engineer, fireman and brakeman, said they stooped below the windows of the cab while the shots spattered against the sides. The crew of another coal train reported finding a trestle afire near here just after the shooting.

Coal from the non-union fields of Western Kentucky is being transported on the Illinois Central via Paducah and Carbondale.

The crew of the train fired on refused to start today on the round trip to Paducah for more coal. The men said they feared their lives were in danger.

CABLE COAL ORDERS FALL OFF.

Cancellations Lead British to Expect End of Strike.

Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Many American coal contracts, placed here in the last fortnight, were canceled by cable today, which leads to the belief that the United States coal strike may be settled soon. Advices from Edinburgh assert that Scottish coal masters received cable cancellations from America yesterday amounting to many thousands of tons.

Despite this, the price again advanced two shillings a ton and the Canadian and German demand is increasing steadily with other continental orders pouring in. The German orders are so heavy that all available shipping next week will be necessary to make deliveries. Ottawa coal dealers today ordered 9,000 tons for immediate shipment.

MUST BURN SOFT COAL.

Women to Demonstrate Its Use for Home in Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Before Winter comes new England householders must master a new science, the proper method of burning soft coal, James J. Storrow, State Fuel Consignee, said in a statement made public tonight. Anthracite, he said, would be scarcer next Winter than at any time during the war and bituminous coal must take its place for household use.

Describing the fuel situation as "strenuous but not alarming," Mr. Storrow advised the Massachusetts public "not to get scared." Immediate steps would be taken, he added, to teach the use of soft coal. "In this campaign we will enlist the help of women of the State," Mr. Storrow said. "We plan to erect stoves for demonstration purposes in all cities and towns in the State and these will be 'manned' by women."

He recommended the briquetting of soft coal as a means of reducing the dirt consequent on its use and announced that a committee had been appointed to study the feasibility of briquetting here.

Ford Arranging Plan to Haul Coal.

DETROIT, Aug. 4.—Representatives of Henry Ford will leave here tonight for Louisville to confer with officials of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad regarding the arrangement agreed to between that road and the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton, the Ford line, for carrying coal from the Kentucky fields to Detroit, it was announced at the offices of the motor manufacturer this morning.

HARDING AWAITS CONFERENCE DECISION

Cabinet Discusses Coal Commission Personnel—Hoover Denies Cutting Off Illinois From Fuel.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Reports regarding the conference to be held on Monday at Cleveland by the mine workers and at least some of the operators of the Central Competitive Field were watched with intense interest by the Administration today, and it is doubtful if any further action will be taken by the Federal Government concerning the coal strike until the outcome of the conference is decided.

It was reported today that there was discussion of the President's proposal to appoint a Federal Coal Commission at today's Cabinet meeting and that personnel was touched on. The commission probably will be named some time next week, but in the event of an agreement at Cleveland it is believed that it will be restricted to a fact-finding body. Failure of the Cleveland conference probably would be followed by the selection of a commission with the double duty of seeking compulsory arbitration and of making a thorough investigation of the industry for reorganization purposes.

Secretary Hoover devoted much of the day to getting in operation the Federal organization which has charge of priorities and the movement of cars. The offices of the Fuel Distributor have been flooded with requests for coal.

Complaint was made by representatives of the canning industry of Kentucky that the Louisville & Nashville Railroad had refused to obey an order of the Kentucky State Commission to supply coal cars to serve that industry. The Interstate Commerce Commission amended its original order and placed coal for the production and manufacture of foodstuffs and medicines and for the manufacture of containers thereof, in class four in the priority list.

Another amendment made to the original order placed in Class 2 bituminous coal which has passed over screens of four inches or larger opening, coke and anthracite, to be shipped to retail dealers for household use.

The Government machinery for distribution will be in full operation by next week and will be continued even though a settlement is reached at Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—No orders have been issued against shipment of coal into any State, Secretary Hoover said today when his attention was called to statements of State officials that Illinois had been restricted by the Federal Government to coal mined within its own borders.

"There has been no order issued against shipment of coal into Illinois or any other State of priority class coal," said Mr. Hoover. "We are waiting for the Governor of Illinois to complete his State's fuel organization with information as to the stocks in the State, its needs and its priority necessities. The Federal Fuel Administrator will do his best to deliver Illinois its full quota of the available coal."

Production of bituminous coal, which amounted to 14,200 carloads Monday, declined to 11,783 carloads Tuesday and 13,218 carloads Wednesday, according to figures assembled today by the railroads. Estimates were made by railroad officials that figures for Thursday and Friday would show larger loadings and that the total bituminous output for the week would be more than 4,000,000 tons, an amount greater than that produced in any week since July 1, when the combined railroad and coal strike began to affect production.

TEST CASE SUGGESTED ON SENIORITY QUESTION

Report Is That 100 Strikers May Return to Work and Then Appeal to Labor Board.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Despite reports from Washington that the Government would take no further action in the strike of railway shopmen at the present time, union leaders and rail executives tonight reiterated former assertions that the next move so far as peace is concerned will be up to the Government authorities.

B. M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen, said tonight that he had no reply to the message to President Harding in which the unions accepted the President's proposals for ending the strike after placing their own interpretation on the propositions. In union circles most interest seemed to centre in the President's reply to the acceptance of the shop crafts leaders.

The railroads with headquarters centred in Chicago maintained that transportation conditions were nearly normal and that new men were being hired and former employes were returning to work. The fifth week of the strike ended tonight, with each side apparently prepared to stand firm on the issues involved for an indefinite period.

There were reports today that the shop crafts leaders might order 100 shopmen back to work and then have them appeal to the Railroad Labor Board to retain their former seniority rights in order to make a test case, it being pointed out that these shopmen could not make such an appeal so long as they were on strike, and, therefore, not employes of the road. Mr. Jewell would not comment on this report.

STRIKERS WILL CONFER WITH SOUTHERN ROAD

Conference Is Set for Today in Washington on Invitation for Separate Peace.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Representatives of the six striking shop crafts unions on the Southern Railway will meet in Washington tomorrow with H. W. Miller, Vice President in charge of operations on the system, to consider proposals for settlement of the strike on the basis suggested by President Harding to the executives of all the railroads.

The conference is a result of an invitation extended the general Chairmen of the unions concerned by Mr. Miller.

The Southern Railway, acting separately from the other large lines of the country, has made no attempt to break the strike nor has it refused returning strikers seniority privileges. No statement would be made in advance of the meeting by Southern officials as to what prospects they saw for success of the conference.

RHODE ISLAND YARDS BARE.

Several Communities Are Without a Pound of Coal.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 4.—State Fuel Administrator Webb announced today that a survey of the anthracite coal situation in Rhode Island showed that not more than 25 per cent. of the normal Winter supply had been delivered and that yards throughout the State were practically bare.

Narragansett Pier and Manville, being without a pound of anthracite, are in no worse a situation than half a dozen other communities, Mr. Webb said. Coal dealers, bankers and representatives of public utilities, at a conference with Mr. Webb today, agreed on Duff C. Sherman of this city as consignee to whom all coal shipped into Rhode Island under the Federal Fuel Administration regulations will be consigned.

MUST CURB TURKS, SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

Allies Won't Make Peace and Leave Minorities Unprotected, He Declares in Commons.

EXTERMINATION TURKS' AIM

Greeks Also Guilty of Outrages, but in Isolated Cases—Bound to Defend Constantinople.

WILL HOLD BALANCE EVEN

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Before the House of Commons adjourned today for fourteen weeks, Premier Lloyd George took the opportunity, in replying to speeches from various members, of making a statement defining the Government's policy in the Near East.

Answering pro-Turkish speeches by Lieut. Commander Kenworthy and General Surtees and an earnest pro-Greek appeal by Major Glyn, the Prime Minister declared Great Britain's business was to hold the balance fair between Greece and Turkey on grounds of humanity and not as a question between Mussulman and Christian.

He repudiated Kenworthy's suggestion that a friendly Turkey had been alienated by British policy. He reminded the House that during the war this "friendly" power slammed the gates of the Dardanelles in the face of France and Britain, without whose continuous assistance the Turkish Empire would not have been in existence and that the collapse of Russia and Rumania was almost entirely due to Turkey's taking sides with Germany in the war.

Dealing with the Smyrna question Lloyd George pointed out that the allocation of Smyrna and the two adjoining vilayets to Greece was the action of the five powers at Versailles, that they were handed over to Greece because they were predominantly Greek in population, wealth and historic association. It was not an isolated act of this country. Great Britain could not evacuate that territory and leave half a million Greeks behind until she knew what provision there was for their protection.

The Prime Minister scouted with indignation the suggestion that Great Britain had favored Greece and he replied to it by the reminder that it was the British, French and Italian forces who were preventing the Greeks from entering Constantinople.

Much had been made of isolated excesses committed by Greek soldiers, but the Prime Minister reminded the House of what the Turks had done in Pontus, where hundreds of thousands had been deported or killed without provocation, where a policy had been pursued, according to American observers, of calm, deliberate extermination. It was Britain's duty to see that these Christian populations were adequately protected from further outrage.

Suppose, demanded the Prime Minister, Armenians were in control of Asia Minor and had been guilty of the atrocities, would this country not have been bound to intervene? As a great Mohammedan power, it would have been Britain's duty. This country was now responsible, he said, for bringing about peace with Turkey which should prevent these Christian peoples from being placed at the mercy of those who had been guilty of these acts of deportation and outrage. That was an essential part of any settlement Britain could accept.

There was no doubt at all, Lloyd George continued, that if anyone could just watch what had happened he would see that there was a sentiment growing up that there was only one way by which Turkey could get rid of her embarrassments from non-Mussulman populations and that was deportation or extermination. The same policy was being applied to the Greeks. Turkey wanted a homogeneous population.

"I earnestly hope," said the Premier in conclusion, "that whatever happens we shall see the Christian populations of Asia Minor are adequately protected against repetition of such horrible incidents as have disgraced the annals of that land."

LONDON, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Fethi Bey, Minister of Interior in the Turkish Nationalist Government, has arrived here for the announced purpose of making proposals concerning the status of the Dardanelles and Thrace.

The disposition of Adrianople, which was given to the Greeks, is the principal obstacle to peace from the Turkish viewpoint, Fethi Bey declares. If that difficulty were removed, he believed peace would be speedily re-established in the Near East.

Greece Defends Its Course.

ATHENS, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Responding to the Allied Powers' note of July 31, the Greek Government says it decided to occupy Constantinople in order to bring about peace by means of decisive military action against the Turkish capital.

Complaint is made that the allied decision against such a move raises an obstacle to the proper exercise of Greece's right as a belligerent to put an end to Turkish resistance by moral and military actions of incontestable importance.

The Greek reply reiterates that continued delay in the conclusion of peace will result in fresh calamities to the Christians in Asia Minor and further aggravation of the whole Near Eastern situation.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug 4 (Associated Press).—The council of allied generals is taking drastic action to prevent repetition of such incidents as the clash between Greek and Turkish troops on the frontier northwest of this city early in the present week, in which three Greeks were killed. It has been decided that the Greeks shall occupy new positions, less menacing to the Turkish lines.

General Mombelli, commander of the Italian forces, is now at the front conferring with General Vlachapoulos, commander of the Greek troops in Thrace, regarding the Greek Army's intentions. It is believed all danger of an attack on Constantinople has passed.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 4.—The concentration of troops on both sides of the Tchatalja line has not disturbed traffic on the railway to Constantinople, the Orient Express and other trains going and coming regularly across to Thrace. Calm prevails on the Greek-Bulgar frontiers.

ANGORA, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—General Ali Ishan Pasha, formerly commander of the Turkish army in Palestine, and more recently in command of the Turkish troops on the Afium-Karahissar front, has been removed from his command because of an ultimatum he sent to Mustapha Kemal, the Turkish Nationalist leader. In this communication General Ali Ishan demanded that he be promoted to chief of command on the Greek front, replacing General Ismet Pasha, whom he described as incapable of realizing the army's aims. He threatened to take independent action in event of refusal.

SAYS COX QUIZZED LONDON ON LEAGUE

Former Democratic Candidate Is Buttonholing Bystanders, Traveler Reports.

William Clifford of Duluth, Minn., who arrived at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday from England, said he visited London at the same time that James M. Cox, former candidate for President, was there, and that Mr. Cox attracted much attention in his effort to find out the attitude of the English people on the League of Nations.

"Almost the first thing Mr. Cox did," said Mr. Clifford, "was to stop a group of men, total strangers to himself, and say, with a polite bow:

"'I am an American who was almost elected President of the United States two years ago. Would you mind giving me your opinion on the League of Nations; how successful it is today, and how much more successful it would have been had America entered it?'

"Mr. Cox explained that he did not want to know what Premiers think of the League, that he had not sought the council of the various foreign ministers, but that he sought the views of the common people as he stopped them on the sidewalks and in hotel lobbies.

"He is creating rather a sensation in this way in London."

BANKER SEES GERMANY ON VERGE OF COLLAPSE

Henry Goldman, Passenger on Reliance, Blames Treaty-Makers for Conditions.

Henry Goldman, former senior partner of the banking firm of Goldman, Sachs & Co., who arrived yesterday on the Reliance, of the United American Line, from Hamburg, said that Germany was on the brink of a catastrophe.

"The architects of the Treaty of Versailles," he said, "built a treaty which is falling down over their own heads. The German people have become fatalists and have no more real interest in the result of what they were compelled to sign. This is the cause of what is happening to the mark.

"This fatalism pervades all branches of society from the laboring man to the great industrialist. Germany is on the verge of some great catastrophe, the nature of which no man can define."

IRISH BATTLE RAGES ABOUT KILMALLOCK

BOTH SIDES SUFFER HEAVILY

Free State Force Landed in Fenit Captures Tralee and Marches on Listowel.

LIMERICK, Aug. 4.—Kilmallock, the stronghold of the irregulars in County Limerick, is passing into the hands of the National forces. There has been severe fighting all day and tonight the National troops are within half a mile of the centre of the town. They have closed in on three sides and from Quarry Hill the National artillery dominates the town.

Cork, Kerry, Middle Limerick men and Dublin Guards have taken part in the fighting under the direction of General Murphy, while the co-operation of the artillery under Commandant General McCormick has greatly aided the infantry. Had it not been for the timely assistance of the guns it is likely the troops would still be held up before Kilmallock Hill, from which they could advance no further because of the enemy's deadly machine gun and rifle fire. Shells from the guns blotted out the trenches and the infantry swept on to join up with other units on Quarry Hill.

The irregulars have retreated to the town and will endeavor to make their escape to Buttevant.

The National troops have captured several leaders of the mutineers.

Advancing Toward Listowel.

A swift advance has been made by the national troops, who effected a surprise landing at Fenit, on the Kerry coast. It was announced today by the army publicity department that the troops have advanced to Tralee and captured the town. Tarbet and Ballylongford have also been taken.

After the capture of Tarbet and Ballylongford the troops are now advancing on Listowel. If they are to join up with the regulars operating from Limerick a big task is in front of them. They will have to advance through a desolate, sparsely populated district, and the commissariat question will obviously present difficulties. It is expected that the irregulars will offer strenuous opposition, but the landing party will probably be strengthened by volunteers from the towns they enter.

Eamon de Valera has been moving about his followers with a rifle hung over his shoulder. He will probably retire to a mountain fastness. Those of his followers who escaped capture when the national troops entered Carrick have already retired across the hills toward Dungarvan.

Irregulars Mostly Schoolboys.

Many of those who banded themselves together under de Valera's standard are boys of school age. Some of these lads were taken prisoner at Carrick. They smoked cigarettes with an air of bravado and appeared to regard service with the mutineers as fun.

To capture Carrick the National troops marched over mountains from South Kilkenny, but it was not until they had descended into the Suir Valley that they came into contact with the irregulars. The Piltown road was blocked, and the mutineers were concealed in a wood from under the cover of which they opened rifle fire. To this regulars replied with machine guns and soon brought into action an 18-pounder gun.

While the wood was being bombarded with shrapnel the National troops advanced to within fifty yards of the irregulars' lines and between bursts of firing the mutineers were heard shouting "Up Cork!" and "Up Tipperary!"

After nightfall the irregulars retreated through the woods, crossed the Suir and after blowing up bridges made off across the hills.

Early yesterday afternoon the National troops, who had suffered in casualties one killed and three wounded, entered Carrick.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Daily Mail's special correspondent with the National Army in Southern Ireland says the Nationals began their final attack on Kilmallock, at dawn Friday; that they are steadily progressing and that when the dispatch was filed they were within a half-mile of the centre of the town, which the National artillery commands from Quarry Hill, taken from the irregulars after hard fighting.

The dispatch adds that the fighting is on a wide front and that there have been many casualties on both sides.

DUBLIN, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The irregulars have apparently abandoned whatever intentions they had of making a stand on the banks of the River Suir. National troops entered Carrick-on-Suir yesterday, the 300 irregulars who had occupied the town fleeing across the hills toward Dungarvan. Before the evacuation they destroyed all the Suir bridges.

As the Government troops had previously taken Cahir, west of Clonmel, they now dominate the way east through the Suir Valley toward Waterford. Clonmel, which is menaced from two sides, cannot hold out long. The Nationals have already captured Butlerstown Castle, near Waterford.

Mullinahone, County Tipperary; Windgap, in Kilkenny, and other small towns also have been taken by the Government forces.

The official announcement of these operations says:

"National Army troops occupied Carrick-on-Suir at 2 P. M. Thursday, on the way to it clearing Callan, Mullinahone, Ninemilehouse, Kilmegany and Windgap of irregulars. The 300 irregulars at Carrick-on-Suir retreated hurriedly across the mountains toward Kilmacthomas and Dungarvan, blowing up the bridges at Carrick-on-Suir. The town did not suffer appreciable damage.

"Early yesterday the National Army captured ten irregulars occupying Butlerstown Castle, near Waterford City, together with nineteen rifles and Lewis guns."

A band of irregulars early today entered Sligo in an armored car and exploded a mine at the Ulster Bank, almost completely wrecking the building. No lives were lost. The armored car, engaged by a machine-gun post of national troops, finally retired.

ALL GERMAN EYES ON ALLIED MEETING

Conservative Opinion Believes It May Lead to Another Conference and Debt Reduction.

By CYRIL BROWN.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—The Wirth Government's answer to France will enjoy the undivided moral support of all German public opinion regardless of party, with the exception of the Communists. The public and even the best informed German opinion is, however, very much divided on the question whether France will spring unknown new sanctions tomorrow as advertised in Poincaré's "ultimatum."

The majority of opinion inclines to the belief that France will not indulge in new measures of coercion on the eve of the London conference, but await the outcome of the meeting between Lloyd George and Poincaré.

Considerable optimism was read into Lloyd George's and Horne's speeches featured here today. Bourse circles, after analyzing Lloyd George's utterances, reached the conclusion of justified hopes of English intervention to restrain France from premature new sanctions, though warning voices were raised against pinning excessive hopes to this argument and urging moral preparedness against shock of new French sanctions being put into force against Germany tomorrow.

All German eyes today are focused on the London conference, and Teuton breasts are singularly torn between hopes and fears. The consensus of the best German opinion is that nothing concrete will come of the London conference, but that it can prove a necessary forerunner to another conference at which the Gordian knot of the reparation problem could be cut with the sword of common business sense, particularly on the matter of readjustments by partial cancellation of interlocking international indebtedness.

What the London conference can accomplish, according to the most intelligent German opinion, is, first, agreeing in principle on granting Germany a long time moratorium; secondly, granting Germany a temporary short time moratorium, both as a postulate to rounding up the international bankers and economists at Paris again to formulate a basis and terms for an international loan to Germany and recommending the same to the world, particularly America. This is a practical program for the London conference, as it looks to German eyes.

The democratic Boerse Courier in a concise analysis says:

"The chain of debts, beginning with Germany and ending with America, girdles the globe. If Germany can't pay, then France can't either, and if France remains England's debtor England will have at least difficulty in repaying America. Surveying the chain of facts from America, first, it would appear desirable in the first line to afford England some relief from its debt burden which would make possible a breathing spell for France as a postulate for a reparation policy which would make it possible for economic values to stream back to France, England and America from a recovered Germany.

"Beginning with Germany in analyzing the chain of facts, it would appear that making Germany worthy of sufficient credit can make Germany the carrier and guarantor of an international loan which, particularly for France, is vitally essential. Further than that, such a loan would not only stabilize the mark, but enable Germany to become a commercial customer of England, in turn placing England in the position of adjusting its American debts in a way satisfactory to the United States. It is clear that the tunnel of world help must be bored from both ends."

The rapidly alternating optimistic and pessimistic opinion is barometered by the wild fluctuations of the mark. Opening at 760 to the dollar, it soared, with incessant fluctuations, to 735 around noon. Equally rapidly it fluctuated downward to an official rate of 760, and late in the afternoon had risen sporadically again to 725.

A peculiarly interesting feature noted today was the very heavy foreign purchases of stocks and other securities on the Boerse. Particularly heavy purchases were attributed to American interests. It was argued that large holders in America and elsewhere abroad had finally lost all faith in the paper mark and turned to buying securities at the Berlin and other German Boerses as the sole remaining way of getting rid of their paper mark holdings at the least loss.

WOULD GO SLOWLY IN WAIVING DEBTS

Institute of Politics Speakers Question Legality of Scaling Foreign Loans.

CANADA CALLS FOR EQUITY

French Member Says Russia Must Be Reorganized From the Borders to the Centre.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 4.—Discussion in the conference on interallied debts at the Institute of Politics this afternoon found a clear majority of the members maintaining that there is no reason why the United States should take any early initiative whatever in the matter of canceling or scaling down the foreign debt to this country.

The debate was led by Oscar T. Crosby, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and President of the Interallied War Purchase Council. Dr. Adam Shortt of Ottawa and Philip Kerr of London were in attendance as visiting members and participated. Raymond Recouly of Paris gave the public lecture tonight, and this morning Dr. Josef Redlich, former Minister of Finance in Austria, made his first public appearance as Treasurer of the Institute of Politics.

Mr. Crosby opened the conference on interallied debts with the remark that concerning Earl Balfour's statement to the French Government this week he wished to point out one thing.

"It is a fact," he said, "perhaps not familiar to those of you who have not followed the matter closely, that in waiving a share in the German indemnities—reparation is the more polite word—as they have been now fixed we have waived particularly that portion which might have been credited to us under the heading of pensions, damages to civilians, &c. That rubric was the cause of very much discussion in Paris as to whether or not there could be a legitimate claim against Germany for injury to civilians. The controversy raged as to whether such questions should be or should not be considered as being consonant with the conditions. It was obvious that victors might impose any terms that victors might care to impose upon the defeated.

Big Part of Claim Waived.

"In so far as we, therefore, waived that we waived a considerable portion of one-half or two-thirds of this claim. Our percentage of the 132 milliards of marks would have been very much larger had we gone in for it at all. It might have been not quite as much as the British claim, but it would have borne a proportion substantial to the troops in the field not in France but furnished for the war.

"As Lord Balfour now offers such remission in the light of a concession by the British Government, what I ask is that it shall be remembered that we have already done a similar thing. And in view of this fact let us ask ourselves, is it wise to make the beau geste too soon?"

Discussion next turned on the question of the constitutional right of the United States to cancel or scale down its loans abroad. Although many members of the conference seemed agreed that, under the general welfare clause if under no other, the remission of a part of the debt or all of it probably would be found constitutional, the ultimate sense of the meeting was that there was a definite legal issue involved here, and that before any action be taken by the United States the question of constitutionality certainly should be broached and fully considered in responsible quarters.

Dr. Adam Shortt gave the Canadian viewpoint to the conference.

"Canada takes much the same attitude as Britain not because of the imperial connection, but because we happen to be in much the same position," said Dr. Shortt. "That is, Canada is not asking for any remission of obligations. She expects to meet all genuine obligations at one hundred cents on the dollar, and, as you know, our exchanges are very much on par now, but we have spent upwards of two billions and a half and we are subject to very heavy taxation.

A Question of Obligations.

"If there is to be any remission of obligations it is a question not of asking for any remission of our actual obligations but a question of what are our obligations. In other words, if we have been supplied with certain things at an exceptionally high market rate, which was due to war conditions, and we are asked to pay back on that exceptionally high rate while others are granted special terms, then we are laying very heavy burdens on our people to pay more than we got. We do not ask for any remission on the ground that we wish to escape our debts, but there might be a very considerable remission to be considered on the ground of equity; that is, what is to be paid for what we got, and also on the ground of interest.

"Is this to be regarded as a normal business transaction in which the interest comes in just as in buying goods from a manufacturer or borrowing for any ordinary investment, as, for instance, when we borrow some hundred millions a year from Britain which we expect to return with the current rate of interest? But when we were forced by a World War to make an investment we were not buying on a normal basis, and therefore the question of interest is really a pertinent question.

"We look at it as an obligation to be paid as soon as possible, and therefore some minimum rate of interest will be an inducement.

"Gold has nothing to do with this settlement. It is a mere flywheel on a complicated piece of machinery to take up extra power when it is not being used and give it out when it is being demanded. But a flywheel on a machine where it is not required is a wholly useless expenditure of energy, and a flywheel that represents 10,000 tons of inertia where half a dozen tons would do is equally useless. So that the matter should not be discussed from the point of view of gold reparation, but from the point of view of putting things back as nearly like we found them when we began as possible.

"That is the view of Canada. While Canada is quite willing to meet all obligations, it does not wish to find itself with a frightful obligation facing world competition with others whose load has been taken off. Therefore I think that we are immensely interested in this question of time. A long period of time should be determined upon in these matters."

Wants Russian Facts Faced.

"The only sound and practical policy with Russia is to face the facts, to see them as they are," declared Raymond Recouly in his address tonight. "The moral and material destruction of Russia has been so complete that it is impossible to think of a rapid reconstruction.

"That reconstruction will take a very long time and require a great amount of money. It cannot be made, as we say in French, en bloc, as a whole, and all at the same time. It will mean, as a matter of fact, more a colonization than a reconstruction. We shall have as soon as possible to begin by working from the boundaries of Russia to the centre, from without to within. It will be necessary to proceed step by step, reorganizing one province after another from the borders of Germany, Poland and Rumania and proceeding to the interior of Russia.

"I am aware that this is a very modest program. But what is the use of having very big and ambitious programs if they cannot be carried out?

"For that reason the countries of Europe, which are in a far better and more satisfactory condition than Russia, must be cared for and reconstructed first—that is to say, Austria, Germany, Belgium and especially France, where the people in the devastated regions want only one thing — to have their homes rebuilt and to be able to work."

Mr. Recouly said mistakes in regard to Russia were committed by all the allies, English, American and French, largely because they regarded the Russian revolution as similar to the French. He related his personal experiences as head of the French Military Mission in Russia in 1917, and said that when he reported to Foch in August, 1917, the Marshal's reply was:

"Then you think that the Russians are done for and we cannot expect more from them. Well, it is a great blow for us, but I hope the Americans will come soon."

Cites Illusions About Bolsheviki.

"Now some of the Allies," said Mr. Recouly, "some very great statesmen have exactly the same illusions about the Bolsheviki. They think that the Bolshevist revolution would proceed on the same lines as the French revolution. They thought that the Bolshevist régime, atrocious, barbarous and anarchical as it might be, would pretty soon ripen into a more normal government. For that reason they were willing to recognize the Soviet and they tried to bring other countries to follow the same policy.

"The conference of Genoa and The Hague showed the complete failure of the policy. They proved that as long as the Bolsheviki stuck to their principles, as long as they refused to recognize the right of property and the right of man, it was absolutely impossible for any civilized country to co-operate with them."

Dr. Josef Redlich was accorded an unusual reception at the end of his speech this morning, he being the first of the Austro-Germans to lecture in America. Dr. Redlich spoke on the great historic periods of the international relations of the nations of Europe. He told of the forces of integration and disintegration in the past and, beginning with what he termed the work of "universal disintegration" of the ancient world as represented by the Roman Empire, traced in considerable detail the formations of the modern nations of Europe down to the Congress of Vienna in 1814.

The lecture tomorrow night will be given by Professor Michael I. Pupin of Columbia University. Dr. Redlich will speak again tomorrow morning.

FATHER DOMINIC DEPORTED.

British Order Republican Priest to Return to Ireland.

LONDON, Aug. 4 (Associated Press)—A bulletin issued by the Irish Republican headquarters heretoday asserts that Father Dominic, chaplain of the Republican Guard, who is coming to London on his way to the Continent, was deported by order of the British Government.

Upon the recommendation of a competent military authority, says the bulletin, Father Dominic, on July 19, was given twenty-four hours to quit the country on pain of arrest, and was not permitted to go anywhere except to "the area under the jurisdiction of the Irish Provisional Government."

WORLD COURT OFFER TO COME TO US SOON

League Leaders Would Grant Part in Selecting Judges if We Subscribe to It.

TAKE HUGHES AT HIS WORD

But They Would Want Definite Assurances Before Asking the Assembly to Act.

PARIS, Aug. 4.—In his letter on the League of Nations addressed to Hamilton Holt on July 14 Secretary of State Hughes wrote: "I see no prospect for any treaty or convention by which we should share in the maintenance of the World Court until some provision is made by which without membership in the League this Government would be able to have an appropriate voice in the election of Judges."

This statement has been the subject of an important exchange of views by League leaders as a result of which it has been decided to say to the American Government that the League Assembly, which meets next month in Geneva, will be asked to take appropriate action to meet the American wish as expressed by Secretary Hughes, if Washington will give assurance that if its wishes are met America will subscribe to the World Court.

In this representation Secretary Hughes will be told that the League is ready to meet his wishes to give Washington a voice in choosing judges to the World Court, and will ask Mr. Hughes to indicate what provisions he would regard as correct if he is willing to promise the Washington Government would be favorable to ratification of the court constitution if those conditions are met.

The project has gone so far that it has been decided just which power will place the proposal before Mr. Hughes and how. I am not at liberty to state which power, but it is one of the big Allies. It is violating no confidence to say that Chief Justice Taft and Solicitor General James M. Breck are cognizant of the steps to be taken.

Secretary Hughes's statement, taken in connection with his known private approval of the World Court, have been interpreted by League leaders as meaning that if America is given a voice in the choice of judges she would join the court. They argue that Mr. Hughes' statement must mean that or nothing. Therefore they are accepting what they regard as an invitation to make a proposal.

But the League leaders would not have the Assembly make any provision for American participation in the election of judges unless assured it would be likely to lead to results, for if such action were followed by silence in Washington it would look like one more instance of begging America to take a part in League activities, which the League leaders wish to avoid for the present. However, if Hughes means business, if he means that should America be given a voice in choosing judges America would join the court arrangement then the leaders will undertake to get the Assembly to take the action Mr. Hughes seems to indicate.

In the constitution of the World Court is a clause written by Elihu Root providing that nations named in the annex to the covenant of the League may subscribe to the court arrangement without being members of the League. This was written to leave a way open for the United States to come into the court arrangement now ratified by more than forty nations.

League leaders make no point of the fact that an American, John Bassett Moore, now sits on the bench of the World Court. They admit the soundness of Mr. Hughes's reasoning and upon his own premises are willing to take action to meet the objection he voiced.

It appears that the initiative in taking Mr. Hughes at his word is to be credited to Lord Robert Cecil.

AUSTRIA ASKS A HEARING.

Wants London Conference to Take Up Her Financial Situation.

PARIS, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Austria has requested the allied powers to consider the Austrian situation at next week's London conference. Diplomatic representatives of the Austrian Government in both Paris and London have pointed out that the threatened financial collapse in Austria would be likely to have a serious effect upon the whole European situation and especially that in Central Europe.

Austria also asks that the Allies discuss the possibility of giving a guarantee for the large international loan for which Austria has been negotiating with American and British bankers for several months.

The Reparation Commission today finally approved the law passed in Austria recently creating a bank of issue in that country for the purpose of stabilizing exchange.

Bavarian Coalition Is All Bourgeois.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—A Munich message to the Deutsche Tageszeitung announces the formation of a new Government coalition in Bavaria, composed of the Rightist parties. The correspondent remarks that whereas all the other German State governments contain a sprinkling of Socialists, Bavaria is the first State to have a purely bourgeois cabinet.

FURIOUS FIGHTING IN ITALIAN CITIES

tually the entire population of the city attended the funeral.

The Italian National Socialist Congress, which had been scheduled to meet Aug. 6, has been postponed until the end of the month, according to the Tribuna. Fear that strong feelings, as a consequence to the general strike, might make the congress too stormy was the cause of the postponement, the paper says.

Navy Wrecks Genoa Barricades.

GENOA, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Several hundred sailors were landed during the night from the battleship Dante Alighieri and the cruiser Pisa, and joined with the Royal Guard in firing upon rioters, who had erected barricades in the streets.

The fighting continued until 8 o'clock this morning, by which time the barricades had been demolished by machine-gun fire.

MILAN, Aug. 4.—Using lorries as battering rams, the Fascisti smashed through the front door of the Socialist Club here today, and then set the building on fire. Upon recognizing the young Communist Deputy, Repossi, who is a mechanician, the Fascisti set upon him and clubbed him severely.

The Fascisti have published a manifesto saying that the municiality will be returned by them to whoever will guarantee normal administration.

The Chamber of Labor at Piacenza has been transformed into Fascisti headquarters. The Labor Chamber at Pavia has been set on fire.

LEGHORN, Aug. 4.—In reprisal for the wounding by Socialists of a Fascisti lieutenant, Vaccari, the Fascisti have invaded and devastated the Chamber of Labor here, the seat of the Socialist Provincial Federation and the Communist Club. They also entered the houses of Aldermen Deacci and Urbani. Councillor Gemigliano was wounded when a group of Fascisti stormed his house.

Altogether the outbreaks brought about the deaths of two persons and injuries to a score.

Facta Cabinet Now Stronger.

Copyright, 1922, by The New York Times Company. By Cable and Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Aug. 4.—Though the general strike has ended, its effects are still felt where the animosity between the opposing groups is more acute. There have been more conflicts in various parts of Italy, with tragic results.

Everywhere the police and troops have been subjected to hard service and have behaved well.

The strike, according to a view expressed here, has proved that workers are drifting from the Socialist and Communist organizations into other organizations set up by Catholics and Fascisti who guarantee the workers' rights.

In a lonely suburb of Rome, close to a street car depot, the police were cleverly lured to a distant part of the district last night. In the meantime Communists tried to tear up the railway tracks but were discovered and attacked by Fascisti when only a few yards of the line had been destroyed.

In most other Italian cities the same state of affairs prevails as in Rome. Police and Fascisti are keeping the disorderly elements well in hand. Bari is the only city where the strike was general. Nobody worked there and pickets tried to prevent any shops from opening, but the Fascisti and police checked their action.

It had been thought that Premier Facta, returning before the Chamber with his new Cabinet, in which only five Ministers have been changed, might be overthrown immediately by the same majority which on July 19 voted against him, disapproving what was considered his "weak policy." Evidently, however, Signor Facta and his colleagues, after having studied the feeling of various groups in the Chamber, have become convinced that there is no danger of their failing to remain in power. This is emphasized by the departure of Signor Schanzer, the Foreign Minister, for London tonight to participate in the meeting with Lloyd George and Poincaré about reparations.

More Than Twenty-one Killed.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—A dispatch from the semi-official Stefani Agency at Rome says that normal conditions have been restored in all the provincial cities except Parma and Bari, whence come reports of violent collisions between the Fascisti and Communists.

The Government has taken strong steps for the restoration of order and the punishment of the guilty persons.

The Milan correspondent of The London Times says that more than ten persons have been killed at Ancona, while six were killed in Leghorn and five in Parma, in addition to a great number of wounded.

FRANCE TO BEGIN PENALTIES TODAY

posits in France, Alsace-Lorraine, and possibly in occupied territory, would be confiscated to meet this payment. It is emphasized in official quarters that the funds on deposit in Paris were sufficient to pay more than half of the August debt instalment.

The Paris deposits, it was learned, were withdrawn by telegraph and telephone when Premier Poincaré's last reply to the German Government on this question was received in Berlin.

A very small percentage of the deposits of German banks has been kept with French institutions in Paris. This money has been entirely withdrawn. In the case of American and other foreign banks, the Germans have left nominal sums to meet day-to-day transactions. These foreign banks were surprised when the orders came to transfer the cash to Dutch and Swiss banks, but there was nothing for them to do but to obey the request of their German clients.

The money withdrawn was being held in Paris by the German banks for the account of German business houses and also for the German Government, the latter's policy having been to establish credits in foreign currency in Paris, Brussels and London to meet reparation payments.

Reports have also reached Paris banking circles that the Germans had also withdrawn large sums from the banks in the occupied districts of Germany and from Alsace-Lorraine, but these have not been confirmed.

To Urge Penalties at London.

Although the strictest secrecy is being maintained concerning the plan Premier Poincaré will take to the London conference, it has been learned on what usually is considered good authority that the French Premier will propose that a moratorium of from four to eight weeks be granted the German Government for its next money payment, but Germany in return must give unequivocal proof of good-will by accepting and applying a radical program of financial reforms.

At the same time the general mortgage on Germany held by the Allies under the peace treaty must come into play—the levy of 26 per cent. on capital of German industrial corporations, the exploitation, even the cession, of Government mines and the forests on the left bank of the Rhine, and other matters.

If Germany declines to submit to the proposed measures or raises difficulties to them, her absolute intention to default will be considered to have been established beyond doubt and the Allies will have no option but to employ coercion after the expiration of the delay fixed, in the Rhineland and the Ruhr, notably by the seizure of the railroads.

In that eventuality the French Government, considering these measures of control as indispensable, would, it is understood, act forthwith.

These are said to be the main lines of M. Poincaré's plan. It is pointed out that this plan does not touch the question of inter-allied debts, the problems arising from this question probably being considered too closely bound up with the question of reparations and necessitating separate deliberations.

The French Premier will leave for London at noon on Sunday, accompanied by Finance Minister Lasteyrie, Count Peretti de la Rocca, Director of Political Affairs in the Foreign Office; Secretary Massigli of the Ambassadors' conference and M. Camerlynck, interpreter of the Supreme Council. The Finance Minister will be accompanied by MM. Tannery and Margerie, financial experts.

AMERICA NOTIFIED OF ALLIED MEETING

London Hopeful of Extending Debts and Reparation Conference to Include Us Eventually.

LONDON, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Both the United States and Japan have been formally notified of the allied conference which is to begin here Monday.

Japan is expected to be represented, but it is not known whether Ambassador Harvey, who is on a holiday in Scotland, will attend either as an active participant or as an observer.

The prospect of next week's conference now tends to overshadow the Balfour note, and hope is eagerly expressed that it will lead to some arrangement between the European Allies which will avert the ugly menace hanging over the Continent through the reparations and cognate questions.

Further hope is ventured that the meetings will prepare the way for a wider conference in which the United States can participate. Referring to this hope The Daily Mail says the conference in Washington for the funding of the British debt may assume greater significance, and that Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will probably be the principal British delegate. It adds that Ambassador Geddes is taking back important information regarding the British view for communication to the Washington Government.

News dispatches from Paris to the London newspapers today indicate also some increase in hopefulness through France, and the conference which opens here Monday is consequently looked to with growing expectations.

Discussing the agenda of the conference, the diplomatic expert of The Daily Telegraph says the earlier impression that the Balfour note would preclude examination of any project for a broad settlement of the interallied debts is no longer widely held, and it is believed that at the very least an explanation of this problem will be essayed.

The supposed division of opinion in the Cabinet regarding the British policy toward the debt problem seems responsible for another revival of the report that Prime Minister Lloyd George contemplates an early election. It is stated that if the conference yields nothing of value and conditions drift from bad to worse, the Premier is likely to resort to the dissolution of Parliament, with an election in the Autumn.

Speculation in this regard extends in several directions, one idea being that the policy of canceling the European debts regardless of her own debt to the United States will be adopted by Great Britain, but that the work of carrying out this program will be transferred to other hands, to be chosen by an appeal to the people.

The Star, advanced Liberal newspaper, yesterday asked editorially whether the critics of the arguments set forth by the Earl of Balfour in his note thought that the British were going to work twenty-five years to repay the United States, while the other Allies repaid nothing. The newspaper warns its readers that those who answer this question affirmatively are living in a fools' paradise and are likely to be rudely awakened by the advent of a Labor Government which will act with courage to obtain "fair play for the men who risked their lives against those who only risked their money, and get the country out of this web of organized rapacity."

The intended inference is apparently that a Labor Government would institute the confiscation of, or a levy upon, capital for the purpose of paying the debt.

Another incident which is taken as a straw indicating the change in the political mind was an important private meeting of Unionists under the presidency of Austen Chamberlain, held last night to consider the growing desire for the independence of the Unionist Party. The meeting, according to The Daily Mail, decided to press energetically for the Premier's acceptance of a more pronounced Conservative policy.

The Earl of Balfour's note on interallied debts is the subject of equally as keen discussion in the weekly reviews as it has been in the daily press. The note is generally treated as having made worse the situation.

The Spectator finds it far too subtle for the simple matter with which it deals, and complains that throughout it is aimed at the American Government. Otherwise, the Spectator asks, "Why was the question of our indebtedness to America introduced?"

Belief is expressed by The Nation that Lord Balfour was talking primarily to Premier Poincaré and not to America, but that the effect of his "cogent statement of a reasonable and generous policy will be to annoy America."

This journal is of opinion that the best way to move America to a large-minded policy is to enlist her idealism. "In other words," it says, "if America and Great Britain could agree to remit French debts on condition that France abandon her militarism, we do not think much inclination would remain in Washington to press us for our dues."

The Nation thinks that had Lord Balfour taken this line frankly and firmly he would have had more success.

The New Statesman makes the point that by issuing the note Great Britain has surrendered to the United States the initiative in any possible settlement and has made it definitely impossible for Great Britain now to adopt a policy of remitting the debts of her European allies while acknowledging in full her indebtedness to the United States.

This journal thinks that in consequence of Lord Balfour's choice between the two alternative policies there will be need for much more plain speaking between Great Britain and the United States than hitherto.

The London Times Paris correspondent, discussing the situation, takes a similar view that Lord Balfour's note has barred the path to a generous policy toward France. He expects the London conference to fail and predicts that afterward Premier Poincaré will summon the two chambers of Parliament and that a bombshell will come from the Reparation Commission. The correspondent further expresses the conviction that if the bankers' commission should meet again it would not, "under existing circumstances, be as ready as it was two months ago to cover, say, 40,000,000,000 gold marks of the German repa-

INQUIRY ON TARIFF BLOCKED IN SENATE

Gooding Resolution Proposing an Investigation of Opponents Is Unfavorably Reported.

SENATOR ATTACKS MUNSEY

CALDER TO THE DEFENSE

Whereupon Harrison Charges Fear of Losing Support in Campaign—Vote on Resolution Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The resolution of Senator Gooding of Idaho for a sweeping investigation of the interest of Senators, newspapers, importing houses and others in the passage or defeat of the pending Fordney-McCumber Tariff bill precipitated a four-hour debate in the Senate today, at the end of which the move for an inquiry was believed lost.

The Committee to Audit and Control, of which Senator Calder of New York is Chairman, reported the Gooding resolution back to the Senate with the recommendation that the investigation demanded by the Idaho member and other Senators alleged to have large wool holdings be denied.

The resolution will be called up for final consideration the first thing after the Senate convenes tomorrow. The indications tonight are that the Senate will sustain the adverse report of the Committee to Audit and Control.

The adverse committee report on the resolution followed a long speech by Senator Gooding, in which, as a reason for favorable action on his demand for an inquiry, he charged that Frank A. Munsey, owner and publisher of The New York Herald, was opposing the Administration Tariff bill because of investments of his in Europe. He said Mr. Munsey's opposition was due to his interest in such foreign properties as mines, steel plants, woolen mills, sugar beet factories, pottery works, &c., as well as an enterprise to liquidate the estate of the late Archduke Frederick of Austria, an estate which Senator Gooding declared was worth something like $400,000,000.

"Munsey," Senator Gooding declared, "has turned his hounds loose on Senators who are trying to protect American industries and American labor."

Names Other Newspapers.

Senator Gooding also paid his respects to other newspapers which he said were concerned in a great conspiracy to wreck not only the pending tariff bill but also American business. He named the newspapers which he said The Boston Herald advertised as being associated "in the plan to sell America to European manufacturers and merchants." The papers concerned in this "plan" he named as THE NEW YORK TIMES, The Chicago Tribune, The Boston Herald, The Cleveland Plain Dealer, The St. Louis Globe-Democrat and The Minneapolis Tribune.

Senator Gooding again defended his position in the matter of the wool schedule, attention to which was directed last Saturday by Senator Caraway of Arkansas, who asked an inquiry into the "financial interest" of Senators voting for those rates. Senator Gooding said he owned 8,000 sheep, but that this property had in no wise influenced a single vote he had cast on any of the items in the wool list. If it is a "crime," he said, to own property, why then he is ready now to walk out of the Senate and never return.

"If that be true," Senator Gooding said in a loud voice as he faced his colleagues, "let us walk out together and leave the Senate in the hands of those who are without property. That is what happened in Russia."

Immediately after Senator Calder announced that the decision of the committee on the Gooding resolution was adverse, Senator Harrison of Mississippi was on his feet with a motion to reject the report. The charges, he declared, were too serious to be sidetracked. He called attention to the fact that Mr. Calder was a candidate for re-election, that he was a friend of Mr. Munsey, who is mentioned in the resolution, and he suggested that there might be a connection between the action taken and the fact that The New York Herald was usually a Republican newspaper and that its support would not be unwelcome in a fight for "political life" such as Senator Calder, Senator Harrison declared, was facing in New York this year.

When Senator Harrison was replying to the Gooding speech he mentioned the fact that when the chemical pulp duty was defeated yesterday and that article was put back on the free list, Senators Capper, Glass and Hitchcock, all of them newspaper publishers, refrained from voting.

"They refused to vote," said Senator Harrison, "because they are interested in newspapers. I want to ask the Senator from Idaho, does he endorse their position, or does he disapprove of it?"

"I do not endorse it," Senator Gooding replied. He added that those Senators in 1913 vote for free pulp and that when they declined to vote yesterday they "played the part of hypocrites."

Senator Gooding's Statement.

The disposition of the resolution was called up by Senator Gooding immediately after the Senate convened at 11 o'clock. The galleries were crowded and there were few Senators missing from their seats on the floor. Senator Robert Nelson Stanfield of Oregon, who is described in the Congressional Directory as "America's largest producer of wool and mutton," was again seated before the Idaho Senator. When the clerk announced that a quorum was present, Senator Cummins, who was then presiding, recognized Senator Gooding.

"No man in this country," Senator Gooding began, "has a higher regard for the press than I have. No citizens have rendered a greater service than those who edit and control our newspapers. So I hope that anything I may say at this time will not be construed as a lack of appreciation of the great public press of the United States.

"I have no quarrel with the Democratic newspapers that believe that protection is unconstitutional and immoral. The platforms of the Democratic Party for nearly 100 years have declared protection unconstitutional. They have a right to condemn this tariff bill and say anything they please, of course, so long as they tell the truth about it from their viewpoint.

"I was at a loss to understand why The New York Herald should be so bitter in its denunciation and quite willing to destroy a Senator's good name in order to create a prejudice against the tariff bill that is now before the Senate. This viciousness excited my curiosity and I concluded to investigate this man Munsey who has been posing as a great American for so many years.

"Mr. Munsey's attitude toward the Republican Party and the present tariff bill and the agricultural bloc is easily understood when his great interest in foreign countries is unmasked, and it will be easy for the Republicans of this country to understand why Mr. Munsey has turned Democrat and a free trader when the mask is torn off.

Tells of Austrian Enterprise.

"Last September there was organized in Paris a concern known as The General Real Estate & Trust Company, which was to take over and liquidate the $400,000,000 estate of Archduke Frederick of Austria and his family. I now ask to insert in The Record an article from The New York Herald, and cabled from its Paris bureau under date of Sept. 11, 1921, and four articles from THE NEW YORK TIMES of Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 27, 1921, respectively. These articles show very plainly why Mr. Munsey has turned his hounds loose on those Senators who are trying to protect American industries and American labor.

"With Mr. Munsey's interest in one of the greatest steel plants in the world, employing from 20,000 to 30,000 men and running 85 per cent. capacity, owning its own iron mines, its own coal mines, and all the rest of the by-products that go into the making of steel; his interest in 1,250,000 acres in forest and fertile lands; his interest in glass factories, pottery plants and woolen mills, sixteen sugar beet factories, and other industrial institutions in foreign lands, it is not hard to understand why Mr. Munsey has turned his hounds loose on those Senators who are trying to protect American industries and American labor; nor is it strange that he has singled out the members of the tariff bloc of the Senate, for without the steadying influence of the tariff bloc, this propaganda that has been going on by Munsey, Goldman and the international bankers and their kind would have defeated any attempt to pass a protective tariff measure at this session. So I say to Mr. Munsey and his hounds, 'Let them come on, I'll take my chances with the American farmer, the American manufacturer, the American laborer, and the American people regardless of what occupation they follow while he hobnobs with royalty and exploits the poorly paid labor of Europe.'

"No reason is ascribed in any of these articles as to why Mr. Munsey, owner and publisher of these New York papers, should have been selected as one of those to become engaged as a member of this syndicate, which holds such vast properties, many of which are producing tremendous quantities of goods which enter into competition with like products of American industry. It may be in this connection it would be well to investigate the well-defined rumors which were circulated in Washington, Baltimore and New York during the years immediately prior to the outbreak of the European War and during the early period of that war.

Says Munsey Held Austrian Bonds.

"It was commonly reported in banking circles in those cities, so I am reliably informed, that Mr. Munsey had tremendous holdings of bonds and securities of the Austrian Government. It is a matter of common public knowledge that every year for a number of years, previous to the outbreak of the war in Europe, that Mr. Munsey spent several months at the famous watering places located in the Austrian Empire.

"In fact, he was marooned in the Austrian Empire when the war suddenly burst over Europe, Aug. 1, 1914. His automobile was confiscated by the Austrian Government and other personal property which he had with him was held up. He had considerable difficulty in getting out of Europe and was put to many inconveniences in doing so.

"Although he eventually arrived in this country with a safe skin, Mr. Munsey's Americanism, even at that time, was of such a thin veneer that when he returned home instead of being thankful for his safe arrival he proceeded to use the editorial columns of his paper to denounce the American Government for being so grossly negligent as to permit so great an American as he to have been inconvenienced and discommoded by a world-wide upheaval. It was commonly reported in banking circles in 1912, 1913 and 1914 that Mr. Munsey upon his return from Europe each of those years brought with him hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of Austrian Government bonds, part of which he attempted to sell to his friends and acquaintances. A greater part, however, he was supposed to have kept because he regarded them as gilt-edged investments.

"I will leave to the people to pass upon the actions of an American who invests vast sums in foreign properties; who takes the money he earns from American people and places it in factories, mines, farms and other industries abroad for the purpose of building up foreign countries and adding to their prosperity, while at the same time exploiting their poorly paid labor he is able to reap extortionate profits; but it is certainly in poor grace for such a one to criticise through columns of newspapers which he owns those Americans who have accumulated properties in this country and who have invested what properties they have legitimately earned in American enterprises which build up America.

"In view of Mr. Munsey's great newspaper holdings in America and his efforts to prejudice public opinion against American legislation in the interest of his foreign investments, the people of the United States have a right to know all the facts relating to Mr. Munsey's foreign holdings in European industries, stocks, bonds and other securities.

"If the Senators who have stood for protection to American industries and labor are to be blackmailed in the interest of Mr. Munsey's foreign investments, then I want to know about it.

"Mr. President, let us examine further the attitude of The New York Herald. This newspaper is frequently referred to as a Republican newspaper. It has consistently and persistently fought any legislation by this Congress which was in the interests of this country whenever American interests came into conflict with foreign interests. The managing editor of The New York Herald is a Democrat. He was trained and educated in the principles of the Democratic Party by the late Joseph Pulitzer. He spent the greater part of his newspaper career as the managing editor of The New York World. About two years ago Mr. Charles M. Lincoln left The World to direct the policy of The New York Herald for Mr. Munsey. He is now the managing editor of that newspaper.

"The Washington correspondent of The New York Herald, Mr. Louis Siebold, was, like Mr. Lincoln, schooled in the principles of the Democratic Party by the late Joseph Pulitzer. He was for many years the Washington representative of The New York World. During the last two years he has been in charge of the Washington Bureau of The New York Herald.

"Not a Republican Impulse."

"Thus the two responsible officials of The New York Herald who are in charge of its political news and policies are dyed-in-the-wool Democrats who have always been and always will be the willing agents of the Democratic Party. I heard with more than passing interest the eulogy passed upon Mr. Siebold on the floor of the Senate yesterday by the distinguished Senator from North Carolina, Mr. Simmons, who pronounced Mr. Siebold one of the greatest writers in America. This is the opinion of all Democrats.

"Under the direction of Mr. Siebold and Mr. Lincoln, The New York Herald has been definitely aligned against the Republican Party and the Republican Administration for more than a year. The tariff is not the only Administrative policy which The New York Herald is opposing or has opposed. Through its news and editorial columns it has persistently, consistently and most bitterly taken issue with the Republican Administration upon all policies. It has not had a Republican impulse since this Administration began to exert its influence in public affairs. Senators who quote The New York Herald and ascribe to it Republicanism offer an insult to public intelligence and make a laughing stock of themselves among newspaper men.

"The New York Herald is not the only newspaper which is frequently quoted upon the floor as Republican. The record of Senate proceedings of Aug. 1 show that the Senator from North Carolina had inserted a large number of editorials from papers which he labeled Republican. Among them was The New York Evening Post. It is well known that The New York Evening Post for at least a generation has been Democratic. It gained national reputation by its support of Cleveland.

"It has been critical to a degree of every Republican Administration for the last quarter of a century. Under its ownership by Mr. Lamont of the Morgan banking house in 1920, it was conspicuous for its support of Mr. Cox, Democratic candidate for President. Since that time Mr. Lamont has disposed of his interest to a syndicate, among which are such distinguished and well-known Democrats as Cleveland H. Dodge, who financed President Wilson's first campaign; Frank Polk, who was Under Secretary of State under the Wilson régime, and other leading Democrats.

"Other newspapers are quoted and credited as being Republican which are no more Republican than The New York Evening Post and The New York Herald. A paper's policy is determined not by its ancestry, but by the utterances of its editorial columns and the slant of its news columns. In this connection, I ask that the Secretary read an article which appeared in The Boston Herald of July 29, 1922. It was written by Mr. Whiting, the Washington correspondent of The Boston Herald, who contributes to that paper one column of editorial matter a day under his own signature."

"Mr. President, I admit the charges contained in this article that I was born in a foreign country under the British flag. The publisher and responsible editor of The Boston Herald is Robert L. O'Brien, a very distinguished and honorable gentleman, but who, as his name indicates, came from foreign-born ancestry of the same country which gave me birth.

"Mr. President, evidently the main distinction between Mr. O'Brien and myself is that although both of us are of foreign-born ancestry, I am devoting myself to American interests and the protection and development of American industry, while Mr. O'Brien is using his publication, to quote from his paper, 'to assist European manufacturers and merchants to develop their business in America,' which of course must be done and will be done at the expense of American manufacturers and American labor.

"When the Senate committee undertakes this investigation, I insist all the facts relating to Mr. Munsey's foreign investments be probed to the bottom in order that the American people may learn why Mr. Munsey is today the champion of foreign industry and the enemy of American industry and labor. The charges of The New York Herald against members of the Senate is a poor camouflage for the concealment of Mr. Munsey's exploitation of the workers of Central Europe and his investments in foreign industries.

"While we are investigating Mr. Munsey, Mr. President, we should also investigate the financial interests of other newspapers, such as the Boston Herald, and those which it advertises as its associates in the plan to sell America to European manufacturers and merchants. The newspapers which it lists as engaged in selling America to foreign manufacturers and merchants compose those which have been most critical of the pending protective tariff bill, namely, The Chicago Tribune, The New York Times, The Cleveland Plain Dealer, The St. Louis Globe-Democrat and The Minneapolis Tribune. Let us ascertain, Mr. President, why these publications are so interested in the defeat of a protective tariff.

"Let us settle for all time whether it is a crime to stand for the protection of American industries, but a virtue and an exhibition of patriotism to work for the destruction of American industry.

"If it is a crime for a United States Senator to vote for protection because he might safeguard his own investments, it is also a crime for a United States Senator to vote for free trade or a smaller measure of protection in order that he might protect his investments. You cannot make fish of one and fowl of the other.

"Whether I remain in the United States Senate or depart from it, I, for one, intend to continue for the rest of my life to fight for the protection of American industry and American labor, for the men and women of this country who believe that our prosperity depends upon our ability as a people and a nation to secure and protect the rights of property and to maintain a living wage and constant employment for the working people of the United States. Mr. Munsey and his associates may continue to be the enemies of American manufacture, the American farmer and American labor. He and his mouthpieces upon the floor of this Senate may continue to denounce those of us who own property, but that will not deter me from continuing my fight for American rights, American standards and the American nation."

Reasons for Rejection.

Senator Calder took the floor as soon as Senator Gooding concluded.

"The committee to audit and control the contingent expenses of the Senate," said Senator Calder, "to which was referred the Senate resolution which provided for an investigation of certain charges appearing in the press reflecting upon members of this body, report the same back adversely and recommend that it does not pass. The majority of the committee believe that the Senators referred to in these publications are men of integrity, whose votes in this body have never been influenced by any improper motives; all of them have frankly stated their interest in the tariff bill under consideration and the committee is of the opinion that investigation would fail in bringing to light any additional informaton.

"The inquiry would take the time of members of this body and would cost a considerable sum of money and would result in no benefit to the country.

"Speaking for myself, I regret the intimation in the resolution that Frank A. Munsey, the owner of The New York Herald, was influenced in his opposition to the tariff bill because of some personal interest he may have in its defeat.

"I do not agree with Mr. Munsey in his position on this measure, but I am confident that his opposition to it is based upon what he believes to be in the best interest of the country. Mr. Munsey is one of the nation's representative citizens, and I trust when the bill is finally passed and all of its provisions are understood he will come to believe that he was mistaken in his position toward it."

"I would like to ask the Senator from New York," said Senator Harrison, "if he would be willing, if this resolution is voted down, to have it amended in such respects as may be thought desirable and then pass it?"

"If a vote is taken I shall vote against the consideration of the resolution," Senator Calder replied, "and it is the general understanding that this is also the position of the majority leaders."

"The action of the committee to audit and control the contingent expenses of the Senate," said Senator Harrison, "in making an unfavorable report on this Gooding resolution is perhaps without precedent in this body. I am quite sure that not only did it stun the Senator from Idaho, whose integrity has been challenged, but it bewildered other Senators, even on the other side of the aisle.

"A member of this body says, in his capacity as a Senator, that certain charges against him and his colleagues are false, charges which have been published in the public print from one end of the country to the other, that they are interested in wool, interested in sheep, interested in chemicals, interested in mining operations, interested in oils and various other propositions, and because of those interests in these various articles and various things which are manufactured or produced in this country, that they are championing high rates against the interest of the American people.

"So the Senator from Idaho, in order at least to remove that stain upon his character and the fair name of his State and the names of other States whose Senators have been likewise charged, offers this resolution and asks simply that five of his colleagues be appointed to make a fair investigation of the matter. Now we find the Chairman of this important committee, the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate, reporting unfavorably upon the resolution and asking the Senate to adopt that report, which would deny the investigation, and in the same report the chairman defends a certain newspaper of his own city. This is strange politics, indeed.

Finds Other Papers Critical.

"What is there behind all this which moves Senators? The resolution of the Senator from Idaho in simple language makes this charge which the committee, composed of his colleagues, for the most part of the same political faith he holds, turns down. The resolution asks 'that the financial interests of Senators in the wool and sheep industries be investigated.'

"For what purpose? So that they can lay the facts on the table and remove whatever impression may have been created and which has been charged in the public press throughout the country. It has not been confined to any one paper. The New York Herald is not alone in saying in its editorial columns that Senators in order to promote their own private welfare entered into this agreement to have their colleagues unite in the imposition of these high rates on wool.

"I have before me a paper from even as far away as the mountains of Tennessee an editorial which makes similar charges. With such charges as these made, which no doubt the Senator from Idaho has read, I submit that he is entitled to an investigation that the country may know the real facts. Perhaps the committee which considered this resolution from which the Senator from Idaho pleads for a favorable report thereon did not see in a Nashville, Tenn., paper such charges as this. Under a Salt Lake City date line appeared this item:

"'The Shoshone, Idaho, wool clip has been sold by a pool headed by Senator Frank R. Gooding and his brother at an average price of 30 cents a pound to the B. Harris Wool Company of St. Louis and Salt Lake City. The clip consists of 1,000,000 pounds. The prices paid are more than 100 per cent. higher, it was stated.'

"Last year was when the emergency Tariff bill was passed by the Congress. With such allegations as that in the public press, confined to no city or no State, where people by the millions have read them, not only about the Senator from Idaho, but other Senators, where common rumor is afloat in every hamlet and village in this land, I submit that the Senator from Idaho is entitled to a favorable report on this resolution.

"Of course, the resolution was not exactly fair to all parties concerned. It did ask for an investigation as to those charges touching certain Senators having interests in wool and sheep who have voted for these high rates which necessarily impose greater burdens upon every person in the country who uses or needs woolen clothes or woolen blankets. But there would have been many modifications to the resolution proposed in the form of amendments and will be if we can vote down this unfavorable report and have the Senate consider the resolution. There will be amendments to it which will provide that the Investigating Committee shall go into an investigation such as the American people would desire, and which we should have.

"The Senator from Idaho wants to investigate 'the financial interests of Frank A. Munsey in European industries which compete with American industries, the amount and percentage of his income derived from advertisements placed in his newspapers by the importing department stores,' and so forth. That is the part to which the Senator from New York objects. Well, we cannot blame the Senator for objecting. He has on his hands now one of the hardest political fights of his long and eventful political career. Frank A. Munsey is a political strong arm in his State.

"The Herald, I imagine, is friendly to the Senator from New York, and he does not want to bruise the feelings of Mr. Munsey or The New York Herald; so it is good politics, and I congratulate the Senator from New York on reporting unfavorably the resolution if he was going to be moved by that selfish political reason.

Say It Is Unfair to Senators.

"But it is so illogical, it is so unreasonable, so unfair and unjust to the Senator from Idaho and other Senators against whom charges have been made and rumors floating thick and fast all over the country which will be handed down to their children and their children's children, blotting the names of the States which they represent, simply because the Senator from New York was a friend of Frank A. Munsey and The New York Herald and should therefore deny the right of the Senate to investigate all the other allegations.

"If The New York Herald should endorse editorially the action of the Senator from New York and the procedure he has taken here today, that simply in order to help Mr. Munsey and retain his political friendship he would smother all the other investigations that are sought in the other provisions of the resolution, they would say in New York that the Senator from New York is not the kind of man that New York is entitled to have representing her here in part upon the floor of the United States Senate.

"They would say, 'Indeed, we need a bigger man than he; we want one who will overlook his little selfish political interests for the common and general welfare of all the people. We will want one there who when the fair name of the Senate of the United States is dragged in the mud will help to erase it and blot out those accusations which the Senator from Idaho alleges certain interests have brought against Senators upon this floor.'"

Senator Harrison declared that if the investigation was "smothered," the responsibility would rest with the Republicans and not with the Democrats. He said Senator Gooding wants to investigate Senators Glass, Capper and Hitchcock because of their newspaper interests.

"If some of you," added Senator Harrison, "would follow in the footsteps of Senators Glass, Capper and Hitchcock, you would be vastly better off. Yet because of the way these three Senators acted yesterday, when they declined to vote on the pulp schedule, an action on their part that will be approved by the whole country, they must be brought before a committee and investigated. One of the discrepancies in this resolution of the Senator from Idaho is that it seeks to investigate those whose interests would be affected beneficially by the defeat of this bill; in other words, he does not want to investigate those whose interests will be promoted by the passage of the bill. The resolution makes no reference to the great interests whose lobbyists have swarmed around the Capitol to such an extent that a Senator had difficulty in getting in or out of his office."

Senator McCumber, "whose political existence has passed," Senator Harrison said, was anxious to have the tariff bill enacted so he could have his name go down in history as one of its authors. Personally, said Senator Harrison, if he were Senator McCumber, he would prefer to have his name attached "to an indictment in the Federal Court of the District of Columbia." In his opinion, Senator Harrison observed, as he ended his speech, nothing will come of the Gooding resolution. The cards, he added, have been "stacked."

The reply to the Harrison speech was made by Senator Lenroot. He began by denouncing the Democrats for filibustering in the first weeks of the tariff debate against the bill. Now that the Republicans are improving the bill, he said, the minority wants it passed with all the high duties retained in order to make political capital out of it just before election.

"I do not believe," said Senator Lenroot, "that the Idaho Senator's interest in sheep affected his votes on the wool schedule one iota. Does any Senator doubt but that in voting as he did the Senator and other Senators situated as he is reflected the attitude of the people of their States? Of course, they did, and, therefore, when the interest of a Senator is exactly the interest of his State, there is no question but that he is entitled to vote. I think it was proper for Senators who own newspapers to refrain from voting, for their interests are special interests, and that is a very different situation.

"When the questions of free hides come up, how many Senators with cattle interests will refrain from voting? How many will refrain from voting when the tobacco schedule comes to a vote?"

Senator Stanley of Kentucky interrupted to state that he comes from the State that grows more tobacco than any other State in the Union, and he is ready, he added, to vote all the low grade tobaccos on the free list, but, he added, he was not personally concerned.

New Proposals for Final Vote.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—After the debate on the Gooding resolution had died down, new proposals for a unanimous consent agreement for a final vote on the Tariff bill on Aug. 17 were put forward by Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, in charge of the measure, and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, the minority leader. Senator Lenroot, whose objection yesterday prevented such an agreement, stated privately that he would not give his consent to a final vote on Aug. 17, or any other date, until after important committee amendments had been disposed of.

The McCumber and Simmons proposals were very similar and were designed to meet, at least, in part the objections raised by Mr. Lenroot by proposing immediate action on the paragraphs dealing with sugar, hides, leather and shoes, potash, white arsenic, the flexible tariff provisions and amendments to the Tariff Commission act. Also it was proposed to limit debate from this time on.

Senator Lenroot previously had proposed that debate be confined to the Tariff bill, that after August 11 each Senator be limited to one hour on amendments and the bill and that beginning also on that date the Senate would take up in order the paragraphs dealing with hides, shoes and leather, sugar, potash and the flexible tariff plan. Remaining committee amendments then would be disposed of and individual amendments considered.

Late in the afternoon the Senate got back to the Tariff bill, finishing up committee amendments in the schedule on paper and books. There was only one real controversy, the democrats making a strenuous fight against the proposal duty of 35 per cent. ad valorem on stereotype-matrix mat or boards. Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, proposed to substitute 25 per cent., but his amendment was rejected, 28 to 18, and the committee rates approved. Two Republicans, Borah and Jones of Washington, supported the Walsh amendment and one Democrat, Broussard, voted against it.

Opposing the 35 per cent. duty, Senator Simmons said it was admitted that the Wood-Flong Company, of New York City, had a monopoly of the business of making these mats, used by newspapers, and that it had conducted an "insolent" campaign of propaganda. Senator Harris, Democrat, of Georgia, said Mr. Wood, head of the company, had written a letter to him undertaking to "deceive" him about the situation, while Senator Walsh of Montana declared there was only the unsupported statement of Mr. Wood to justify the duty. Senator Frelinghuysen, Republican, of New Jersey, championed the duty, declaring it necessary to keep out the German product. He asserted it was a question of protecting an American monopoly against a German monopoly.

NEIDHAMER JURORS UNABLE TO AGREE

At 12:15 o'clock this morning the jury trying Policeman Frank J. Neidhamer on the charge of assaulting a citizen with a blackjack at the Polo Grounds, disagreed on the verdict and was discharged by Judge Johnstone in the Court of General Sessions.

The last witness in Neidhamer's defense was Dr. Perry M. Lichtenstein, the Tombs physician, who was called as an expert on blackjack wounds. In nine years at the Tombs he is said to have examined 150,000 prisoners and many thousands who have been clubbed and blackjacked. He testified that the complainant, James A. S. Carpenter, would have been killed if he had been punished with a blackjack as he charged. He also denied that Carpenter had sustained a broken nose, saying that a permanent injury would have resulted.

In his summing up to the jury, Assistant District Attorney Wallace said: "There are three kinds of liars—just liars, damned liars and medical experts."

In his summing up for the defense Leonard A. Snitkin quoted Shakespeare to the effect that "spotless reputation" was the purest treasure mortal times afford, and also some reflections of Cassio to the same general effect.

One juror was so impressed by the rendition of these famous passages that he lost control over himself and began to clap his hands. Immediately there was an intense silence. Judge Johnstone scrutinized the juror and the whole courtroom gazed at him, while he appeared to recollect himself and repent of his demonstration. No comment was made, however, and the lawyer continued with his plea.

FIGHT ELIZABETH FIRE FROM OLD GRAVEYARD

Firemen at $40,000 Warehouse Blaze Endanger Valuable Memorial Windows.

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 4.—Fire late tonight did $40,000 damage to the wholesale grocery warehouse of R. T. Potts, at 73-75 Broad Street. The blaze attracted hundreds of spectators, and for a time threatened to spread to a similar large warehouse occupied by Green & Co. Because of its location the fire was extremely difficult to fight.

The four companies which responded to the alarm decided that the best place from which to attack the fire was the graveyard of St. John's Episcopal Church, one of the oldest edifices in this part of New Jersey, dating back more than 200 years. The graveyard is located directly back of the grocery warehouse.

The firemen began to direct their hose perilously close to the valuable memorial windows in the church, many of which were installed when the church was still young. The sexton finally hurried through the fire lines with an earnest appeal to the firemen to alter their position. The fire was considered under control by midnight. The church windows were not damaged.

TOLBERT'S CASE HELD UP.

Subcommittee Awaits Affidavit on Charge of Selling Patronage.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The Senatorial subcommittee charged with determining whether Joseph W. Tolbert is a fit person to be confirmed as United States Marshal for the Western District of South Carolina met this afternoon and talked over the nomination, but reached no conclusion. Senator Dial, who is fighting Tolbert's nomination, explained some of the documentary evidence he had submitted.

It is said that a court record showing that Tolbert had been the principal figure in a criminal prosecution was submitted. An affidavit from the Mayor of a South Carolina city that Tolbert had charged money for Federal patronage was promised by Senator Dial, and the committee decided to await this affidavit before proceeding further.

There has been some gossip about the Capitol that the subcommittee preferred not to handle the Tolbert nomination, and proposed to withhold action so that it would die with the end of the present session and a new nomination could be made at the opening of the next Congress. Both Senator Shortridge, Chairman of the subcommittee, and Senator Ernst, the other Republican member, denied this.

Even if the subcommittee reports the nomination favorably—and this is a question—it is not generally believed here that the Senate will confirm Tolbert. Several influential Republican Senators privately declared today that Tolbert could not expect support from them if his name ever came before the Senate.

ENRIGHT PINS GOLD SHIELDS ON 61 MEN

SIX LIEUTENANTS ADVANCED

All Called to Headquarters for Personal Talk and Congratulations From Chief.

Commissioner Richard E. Enright yesterday transformed promotions in the Police Department from a routine of written red tape to a human and intimate ceremony. The occasion for introducing a procedure, which the Commissioner hoped would become traditional, was the elevation of sixty-one patrolmen to the grade of sergeant and of six sergeants to the rank of lieutenant.

The simple ceremonial which Mr. Enright devised to make the promotions a man-to-man affair began with the summoning to his private office at headquarters of the sixty-one men who topped the civil service list of more than 2,000 aspirants who recently took examinations.

When all had crowded into the room the Commissioner called them to his desk one by one, calling each by name, pinned on the breast of each the gold shield that replaced the silver one of the patrolman, and shook each by the hand with a word of congratulation.

Among the new sergeants who stood before him when the last badge had been affixed were six who wore decorations for distinctive service in the late war, and two whose shields were topped by the department's own new insignia for heroism which have replaced the too inconspicuous sleeve ornaments of other days.

To this picked group the largest number ever promoted at one time, as they were about to start out on new and more responsible details, Mr. Enright delivered a brief speech in which he emphasized the importance of being stern with slacker subordinates, and continued:

"This department wants public good-will just as much as a business concern does. In a city like New York, where 30 per cent. of the population is foreign-born, the officer on the block is the first picture many people get of the Government. Let your personification of government be dignified, conscientious and unvaryingly courteous. Be considerate and patient with foreigners. Let the immigrants of today and the Americans of tomorrow begin with respect and admiration for the law. When you remember that this department makes about two hundred thousand arrests a year, and that each arrest means the hostility of the prisoner's family and friends, you can see the importance of keeping the good-will of these citizens, who are law-abiding."

The first sergeant to be appointed was Harry A. Stacom, a policeman attached to the Butler Street, Brooklyn, Station, who was at the head of the civil service list, receiving a grading of 95.30 per cent.

The following were made Lieutenants at a ceremony similar to that at which the patrolmen received their promotions: Sergeant Charles O'Neill, Thirty-first precinct, who has been a sergeant since 1911 and on the force since 1896; Sergeant George M. Rensselaer of Deputy Commissioner Rodman Wanamaker's office, sergeant since 1917 and on the force since 1907; Sergeant John W. Conway, Seventy-fourth precinct, sergeant since 1918 and on the force since 1906; Sergeant Edward A. Bracken, Eighty-second precinct, sergeant since 1916 and on the force since 1905, also a recipient of honorable mention for bravery; Sergeant Martin Cuff, 109th precinct, sergeant since 1917 and on the force since 1906; Edward H. Conroy of Traffic B division.

Those promoted to the rank of sergeant in addition to Stacom were:

James Nongila, 83d Precinct; Albert Williams, 1st Inspection District; William Beck, 40th Precinct; Patrick J. Daly, Telegraph Bureau; Michael J. Murphy, 116th Precinct; Robert J. Hamilton, 23d Precinct; Oscar Johnson, 1st Precinct; Dennis H. Mitchell, 23d Precinct; Davis Spitzer, Motorcycle Squad 2; Henry Bauer, Telegraph Bureau; Michael J. Kelly, 104th Precinct; Edward M. Butler, 109th Precinct; James Dolan, 87th Precinct; Joseph Green, 116th Precinct; Patrick Sullivan, 28th Precinct; Hatford Keith, 113th Precinct; Thomas B. Crumblin, 65th Precinct; Albert V. Hill, 1st Detective Division; Edward Miller, Traffic A; John F. O'Leary, 56th Precinct; Martin J. Brown, 19th Inspection District; James A. McKeon, 109th Precinct; William W. Murdock, 50th Precinct; Thomas J. Foster, 50th Precinct; Louis Rosenfeld, Second Inspection District; Michael J. Murphy, 83d Precinct; Francis A. Crowley, Motorcycle Squad 2; Thomas F. Mulligan, 2d Precinct; John J. Donegan, 45th Precinct; William J. Bradley, 76th Precinct; Edward W. Flynn, 50th Precinct; George Nearey, Telegraph Bureau; William J. Cassidy, Telegraph Bureau; John A. Berg, 87th Precinct; Henry Harris, 13th Precinct; Arthur Wallender, Training School.

Michael J. Joyce, 40th Precinct; John G. Brunnie, 94th Precinct; John J. Walker, 77th Precinct; James F. Dolan, 87th Precinct; Robert J. Hubbard, 71st Precinct; James Scanlon, Telegraph Bureau; Thomas F. Dugan, Detective Division; John L. Michael, 102d Precinct; Michael Walsh, 69th Precinct; John P. Lotkind, 46th Precinct; James J. Palmer, Traffic B; Arthur B. Dallas, 49th Precinct; Harry Barr, 31st Precinct; Dennis F. Ryan, 91st Precinct; Richard Reynolds, Traffic B; Arthur F. Cook, 32d Precinct; George Doreth, 21st Precinct; William F. Kennedy, 5th Precinct; Louis Stuebert, 56th Precinct; Louis F. Schilling, 4th Inspection District; Arthur Strachan, 87th Precinct; Carl Anderson, 87th Precinct; Albert J. Gallagher, 77th Precinct; James Lennon, 46th Precinct.

CHICAGO CAR STRIKE ENDS IN COMPROMISE

Union Accepts 70 Cents an Hour and an Eight-Hour Day—Must Hold Referendum.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Chicago's traction strike was settled this evening, after a day of conferences between the unions and the owners of the lines and on the eve of action by the State Industrial Commission and the City Council, which had planned to go into the entire situation tomorrow.

In the settlement the men received 70 cents an hour and an eight-hour day. They had been receiving 80 cents, but the company contended it was necessary to reduce this to 65 cents an hour, with time and a half for overtime after nine instead of eight hours. The men made as their final offer 72 cents an hour, the eight-hour day and no ticket sales. But this was reduced to 70 cents today, with all the other concessions granted.

Merchants and business men generally had been bringing great pressure to bear upon the unions and the traction chiefs for a settlement as the strike was demoralizing business. It was announced today that unless the strike was settled, the State Street stores and others would be under the necessity of dismissing hundreds of employes tomorrow.

The acceptance by the union chiefs of the offer this evening must, under the union rules, go to a referendum vote, and this is now in progress. It is said the men will accept by an overwhelming vote, and the cars will probably start running Monday morning by 4 o'clock, perhaps sooner.

NORWAY OFFICIAL SAFE IS LOOTED AT MOSCOW

Previous Attempts to Wreck It Had Been Made by Men Claiming Soviet Authority.

CHRISTIANIA, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The safe belonging to the former Norwegian Consulate in Moscow has been blown open and robbed of its contents, including important Norwegian, American and Rumanian Consular records, it was stated today at the Foreign Office.

It was also said that previous attempts had been made to blow open the safe by men declaring that they were acting under instructions of the Russian Soviet Government. In reply to a protest by the Norwegian delegation in Moscow, the Soviet Government is reported to have said that the Consular property did not have extra-territorial privileges, as the vault was unsealed and contained documents belonging to Russians.

The Norwegian Foreign Office, however, states that the safe bore the Consular seal, and that it did not contain Russian documents. The loss is estimated at 1,000,000 kroner.

FINE SNAKE OIL VENDER $50.

Man Accused of Setting Boy Afire Punished as an Example.

A fine of $50 with the alternate of serving ten days in the workhouse was imposed last night in the Night Court by Magistrate Moses R. Ryttenberg on William Grey, 44, of 238 East Seventy-fourth Street, a street vendor of so-called "snake oil." He was charged with disorderly conduct.

It was alleged that Grey, while selling the oil with a companion at Seventy-second Street and Third Avenue on Wednesday night, poured some of the oil on the head of Joseph Schestre, 11, of 435 East Seventieth Street, and then set the boy's hair afire. The boy's right ear was burned.

The probation officer reported Grey had left his wife and children in New Britain, Conn., coming to New York nearly a year ago. Magistrate Ryttenberg said he would impose the sentence as an example to others.

SAYS BOOTLEGGERS PROMISED $400,000

But Former Customs Guard Declares in Testimony He Received Only $180.

TEN OF ALLEGED RING HELD

Dr. Kherilis of New York Named at Philadelphia Hearing as Helping Scheme.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—Testimony was given before Commissioner [illegible] today that a bootlegging ring in this city bribed a customs guard to allow the substitution of water for whisky in a shipment to Greece. Ten alleged members of the ring were held in $5,000 bail for the Federal Grand Jury.

The former customs guard took the stand and swore that $400,000 was promised to him for allowing the substitution and that he received only $180.

As this testimony relating to the alleged $5,000,000 conspiracy was being given, Matthew Griffin, one of the defendants, former head of the United States Secret Service in this city, and now head of a detective agency bearing his name, sprang to his feet. Holding one hand over his heart and waving the other in the air, he said he desired to waive a hearing and enter bail for court. He was pale.

"I am ill," Griffin said, "and I don't want any one to think I am going to run away."

Others held, for all of whom a surety company gave bail, were: Harry Simon and John McTammany, former Secret Service agents and now employes of the Griffin agency; John Frederich, a bottler; Thomas Kane, a saloon keeper; Andrew Hamilton, former Lieutenant of Police; Samuel Gottesfeld, Atlantic City; H. L. Smith, former President of an exporting firm; Arthur Hamill, a former customs guard, and Joseph Kleinman.

Hamill's testimony was the feature of the hearing. He said that Simon, a fellow-defendant, offered him a bribe of $40 a barrel for every barrel of whisky which he was guarding if he would permit the substitution of water, and that he was also to get a home in West Philadelphia. He was assigned to guard a warehouse at 32 East Cumberland Street in June, 1921, containing 100 barrels of whisky which, Hamill said, he understood belonged to Smith.

"Three days after I went on guard there," he said, "Mr. Griffin and Mr. Simon came to me. With them were two men named Sprague and Thompson, employes of Griffin, who also were guarding the whisky. Griffin and Simon asked me if I wanted a drink of whisky and we went into a back room of a saloon. Griffin opened the conversation by saying there was a chance for me to make some money. That was all Griffin said, but Simon then asked if I owned my own home and I replied that I did not, but would like to. Then Griffin told Simon not to talk any more and we went out.

"Several days later Simon came to the warehouse and said that there was plenty of money to be made. He said that plans were on to substitute the whisky in the barrels with moonshine and ship them to Greece, which would be perfectly satisfactory to the Greeks and perfectly legitimate from every standpoint. He said that by the substitution of moonshine a profit of from $500 to $750 a barrel could be made.

"I asked Simon what the proposition was," Hamill continued, "and he said he proposed to move ten barrels from the warehouse some evening soon, and he said, 'we will pay you $40 for every barrel we move.' When the substitution of the 100 barrels was completed Simon told me I would have $4,000. He also said that I would get the money before the barrels were removed from the warehouse. He said that with the business they expected to do and with me on the job as a Customs guard my profit would amount to nearly $400,000."

Taylor Wilson, manager of the Cafe L'Aiglon, said that Harold L. Smith, of Villa Nova, broker and former intercollegiate sprinter, who is one of the defendants, urged wealthy men and holders of whisky certificates to enter the conspiracy. He said that Dr. George Kherilis of New York, who was held in $10,000 bail in New York, seemed to be the moving spirit of the scheme.

Two defendants who failed to appear were George Miller of Linden, N. J., and Louis Action of New York. The Government has failed to find Action.

DEMAND ON ENRIGHT FOR MISSING RUM

about thirty-five miles off the New Jersey coast and that it had consisted of 100 cases of Scotch, all from Nassau.

Charles Bursind of Jersey City, alleged to be a part owner in the schooner, was held in $10,000 bail by Commissioner Hitchcock. The others—Joseph Helko of Newark and Harry Wagner of Jersey City—were released in $500 bail each. Their hearing was set for Friday.

The sub-chaser Hansen of the prohibition patrol, which since Thursday has been keeping four large vessels laden with liquor under observation off Fire Island and about twenty miles out, was reinforced yesterday by the sub-chasers Taylor and Larsen, two other boats of the dry fleet. Captain George W. Tawes of the Hahn, the prohibition "flagship," reported yesterday to John D. Appleby, zone chief for New York and New Jersey, that all of the vessels were flying British flags.

Captain Tawes and John D. Appleby Jr., 9-year-old son of the prohibition zone chief, went aboard one of the vessels at the invitation of the captain. It was a fine yacht, worth between $300,000 and $400,000, Captain Tawes reported, and its cargo of liquor was valued at $500,000 by the Hahn's skipper. The captain of the rum ship told Captain Tawes that he was on his way to St. Pierre de Miquelon, Nova Scotia, but he could show no manifest or bill of lading.

As all of the ships are well outside of the customs limit the prohibition patrol boats are powerless to interfere with them, but a careful watch is being maintained to prevent the landing of the liquor by means of smaller boats.

Steamer Javary Forfeited.

The Javary, a small steamer seized by customs agents last December after a large part of its cargo of alcohol had been siphoned ashore through a pipe that ostensibly was carrying fuel oil aboard, was declared forfeited to the Government yesterday by United States District Judge Augustus N. Hand. Unless an appeal is taken the vessel will be sold and the proceeds turned over to the United States Treasury. The libel action disclosed the fact that Captain Daniel Docherty, master of the steamer, who is serving a year's sentence in Atlanta, had bought the vessel for $41,000, of which he had paid only $5,000. The rest of the purchase price was covered by notes given to the Garland Steamship Company, which was a respondent in the case.

Replies to Miss Hay.

Miss Alice Carpenter, Director of the Women's Committee of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, issued a statement yesterday in reply to one by Miss Mary Garret Hay protesting against the activities of the committee. "Since Miss Hay is not in sympathy with our movement," said Miss Carpenter, "I know she will be sorry to hear that we have not only what she calls 'society women,' for whom from her announced statement I should judge she has an antipathy, but women like Mrs. Alice Foote MacDougall, eminently successful in the business world; Mrs. Henry Clarke Coe of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Marcus M. Marks, prominent in the City Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Sally Neidlinger, head of the Police Reserves of Staten Island; Mrs. Ethel Watts Grant, prominent as a writer; Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske of the theatrical profession; Dr. Desire Dunn, one of our distinguished women physicians, and Mrs. Helen Hartley Jenkins, for years a member of the Board of Directors of the Women's City Club, of which Miss Hay is President, and whose high order of intelligence has never been questioned. Mrs. Edward McVickar, head of the Dugout, an organization devoted to the welfare of wounded soldiers, is a member of our committee, as is Mrs. Frederick Nathan, former head of the Consumers' League."

ARRESTED 19 TIMES ON DRY LAW CHARGES

Washington Saloonkeeper Is So Impoverished by Bail Costs He Can't Pay Fine.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—John Williams, proprietor of a near-beer saloon at 717 Fourth Street, N. W., who is declared to hold the record for local arrests for violating the national prohibition laws, having been taken into custody nineteen times, was committed to jail today for six months in default of a $500 fine on charges of manufacturing, selling and possessing liquor.

The last named charges are the seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth, respectively. On the other sixteen charges, which are still pending, Williams has put up a total of $60,000 bond which cost him $8,000 in premiums to professional bondsmen. These premiums, it is said, exhausted his bank account to the extent that when required to furnish an additional bond of $10,000 on the last three charges, he threw up his hands and went to jail to await trial.

Assistant District Attorney David A. Hart, who prosecuted Williams before a jury, stated that the defendant "held the championship" in the District of Columbia. At the trial Williams informed Judge Hardison that he could not even afford a lawyer. The Court assigned him one.

DRY AGENTS SEIZE YACHT.

Allege Craft Taken on Alexandria Bay Had 175 Cases of Whisky.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 4.—The United States revenue cutter [illegible] entered port here today with a yacht, formerly the Jewel III., in tow. It had been seized in Alexandria Bay early in the morning, and United States revenue officers and prohibition officers alleged they found a cargo of 175 cases of Scotch liquor aboard. The liquor is valued at $15,000.

Three men were aboard the yacht when it was captured, but two escaped by diving overboard. A third man, who said he was Jake Goldman of Syracuse, was taken into custody.

The seizure is the most important made in Northern New York since the Volstead act went into effect, prohibition officials said. The yacht, which is valued at $10,000, was recently sold by Jack Fitzgerald of Alexandria Bay, officials believe.

GERMAN TO STUDY DRY LAW.

Chairman of New Organization Will Visit the United States.

SOUTH MANCHESTER, Conn., Aug. 4.—Dr. Reinhard Strecker, President of the Prohibition National Committee of Germany, will visit this country in October to inquire into the prohibition question and its enforcement, according to word received by E. L. G. Hohenthal, State Committee Chairman of the Prohibition Party in Connecticut.

On his recent visit to Europe Mr. Hohenthal organized a prohibition movement in Germany and Dr. Strecker took the chairmanship. He was formerly Minister of Education in the Province of Hesse. Membership on the committee includes both men and women, without religious limitations, and there are on it members of the Prussian Landtag, clergymen, educators, physicians and men widely known in German political life.

Dr. Strecker's party will include Miss Gustel Bluecher of Dresden, President of the W. C. T. U. of Germany; Miss Wilhelmine Lohmann, national lecturer of the abstinence teachers' organization and head of the welfare department of Bielefeld, and Miss Maria Kuppersbusch of Cologne. The women are delegates to the world's W. C. T. U. convention in Philadelphia, Nov. 11 to 18.

Dr. Strecker sails on Oct. 5 and the women on Oct. 28.

The Prohibition Foundation, incorporated in 1916 and of which E. L. G. Hohenthal of this place is the International Secretary for Europe, has organized a prohibition campaign in Italy, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Germany, and is planning to extend the organization to Poland and the Baltic and Balkan States, Mr. Hohenthal stated today.

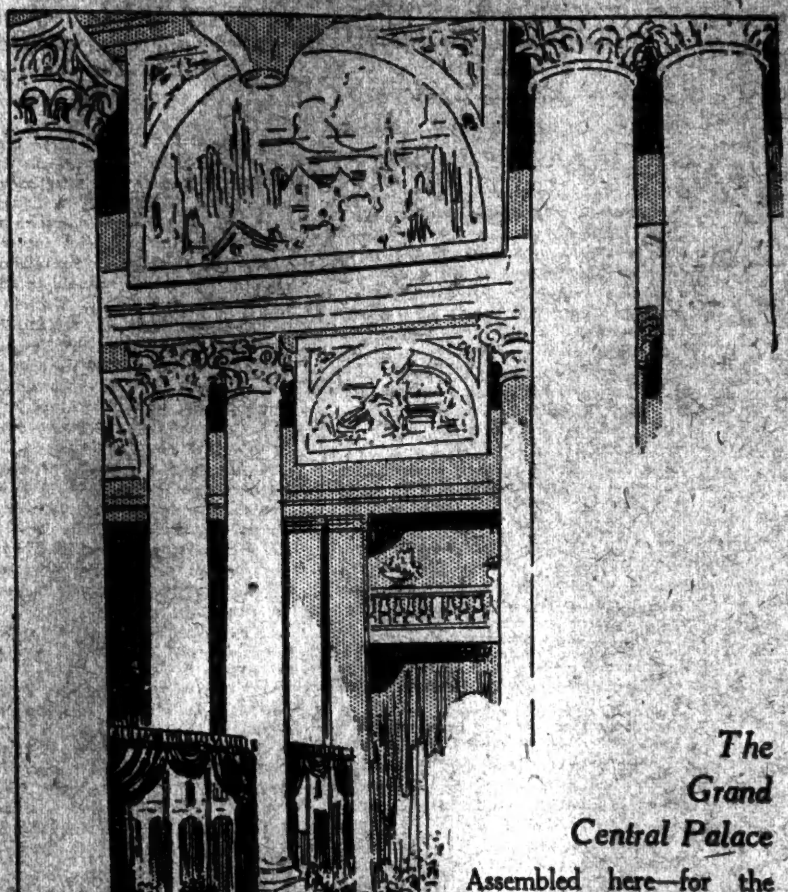
MONDAY, August 7th, is the opening day of the first National Merchandise Fair in America—a great step, indeed, in the progress of commerce in this country. In the Grand Central Palace and in the 71st Regiment Armory hundreds of manufacturers from many parts of the country have assembled vast assortments of products in almost endless variety—and here merchants and wholesale buyers from stores of every state in the Union are coming eagerly to see, to touch, to compare and to buy.

YET, sixty-four years ago, Macy's became an INTERNATIONAL Merchandise Fair open to the public the year 'round. Since that first cargo of merchandise was brought across the sea in Captain Macy's schooner, vessels have continued to bring the products of the world to this Store. With practically every country of the Universe contributing its handicrafts, its manufactures—Macy's is, indeed, a Great Merchandise Fair.



The Grand Central Palace

Assembled here—for the Fair which opens Monday—are hundreds of American manufactured products—gorgeous silks, woolen fabrics, cottons, lingerie, corsets, handkerchiefs and neckwear, jewelry, linens, toys, stationery and many other articles. With such a diversity of products displayed under one roof, the National Merchandise Fair is virtually a department store in the field of wholesale buying.

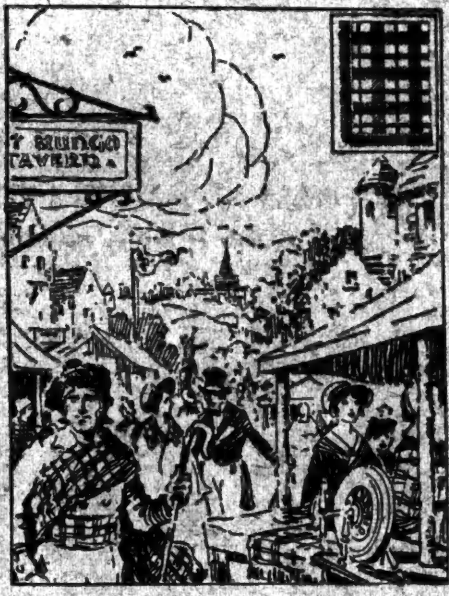
By Edward Hungerford

The 71st Regiment Armory

Across this stately stage, beginning Monday, will move the newest figures of the world of fashion—the gowns, the wraps, the furs and hats that, in this coming season, will find their places on the paths of social prominence that lead from Coast to Coast.

They will pass in review before the most critical audience to be found, the merchants and the buyers who are to select the new Fall fashions for American women.



Glasgow, Fair Place of Scotland,

At Birmingham, England,

the seat of Great Britain's steel industry—great hardware fairs are held each year. Beautiful andirons for the fireside and fine cutlery are prominent at this English Fair.

A Typical Day at Macy's

FROM Scotland we import linens of great variety—hemstitched table cloths, damasks, towels. From here, too, come woolen scarfs and sweaters, beautiful tweeds, golf hose and Angora gloves.

MANY of our every day necessaries are sent to us from England—laces, notions, hosiery, upholstery fabrics, china, cutlery. Men's and women's sport clothes come from England. Axminster rugs are a famous English product.

ONE of our representatives has visited the Fair at Leipzig almost every year since 1899, always searching for attractive novelties. Others go there yearly to buy dolls, leather goods, kitchen ware and many other products.

DURING the long, cold winter days in the isolated regions of Austria, peasant women embroider exquisite linens to send to us. Other products from this country are jewelry, tapestries, fine lingerie and beautiful velour hats.

RUSSIA has always been the land of flax. Great quantities of it have been shipped to the surrounding countries that are famous for their weaving, and eventually to us in the form of fine white linens.

WOMEN of today know the beauty of the Spanish scarf. From Spain, too, comes laces to trim fine linens. Among the most important products of this country are fancy groceries and Castile soap.

Through our own Foreign Offices in London, Paris, Belfast and Berlin and through our representatives in many other countries, we are continually receiving delightful foreign novelties and staple merchandise of countless varieties.

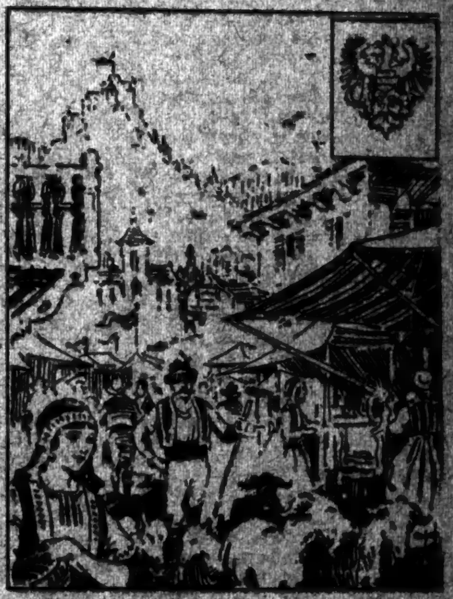
The Fairs of Leipzig, the greatest of all the foreign fairs, are held twice each year. Toys, dolls, porcelain and kitchen ware head the list of the eleven hundred branches of industry represented here.



Potteries at the Fairs of Vienna

The Famous Fairs of Russia

held at Nizhni Novgorod, exhibit beautiful furs brought from far Siberia and the coldest regions of the Baltic. The Caucasians, the Tartars and the people of those widely separated countries come to trade at the great Russian Fairs.

Barcelona, A Fair Of Many Nations

For years past this Spanish Fair was a great national event. Now, however, other countries are invited to bring their products and the Fair increases in importance every year.

REED 5,972 AHEAD, 58 PRECINCTS OUT

REPUBLICAN HELP CHARGED

Long Declares That Only Democrats Should Have Voted in the Party Primary.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—With only fifty-eight precincts to be heard from, United States Senator James A. Reed tonight had a lead over Breckenridge Long of 5,972 votes in the race for the Democratic senatorial nomination. The figures were: Reed, 192,566; Long, 186,594.

Political observers said that it was impossible to overcome this lead in the eighty-one outstanding precincts, which are chiefly in rural districts where the vote is light.

Long made a gain of 500 votes on the face of official returns from sixty of the seventy-six voting precincts in St. Louis County (exclusive of St. Louis), but political observers say it was doubtful if the returns from the outstanding precincts would be as favorable to the former Third Assistant Secretary of State as are those from this county.

Senator Reed tonight gave The Associated Press a statement expressing gratification at the outcome of the primary on the face of virtually complete returns. Stating that the contest had been "somewhat heated," the Senator emphasized that his position would be to close party wounds.

A factor that has come to the fore in the senatorial contest, owing to its closeness, is the size of the absentee vote. About 1,500 National Guardsmen, away from home on strike duty at railroad centres in the State, may play a prominent part in the absentee ballot. There is no way of ascertaining the exact number of absentee votes until the official count is made.

It appears likely that Mr. Long will receive a majority of the absentee militia men's votes, as many of them are from the rural districts where he showed his greatest strength.

"I expect the official count to add considerably to my vote," he said, "but I do not expect any assistance from the Republican or German element. Any additions which the official count may give me will be, I am sure, from the ballots of regular Democrats, who were the only ones who should have voted in a Democratic primary."

Mr. Long referred to charges that a number of Republicans voted for Senator Reed in Tuesday's primaries. Under the law, persons of opposite party affiliation may vote a different ticket in a primary provided they pledge to vote that ticket in the regular election. The law cannot be enforced, however, as prominent lawyers point out that all a person has to do is to "change his mind" between the primary and the regular election to avoid the penalties of the statute.

R. R. Brewster, the Republican nominee for Senator, polled a plurality of approximately 20,000 over his five opponents, William Sacks, light wine and beer advocate, three Progressives and one soldier candidate.

LABOR LEADERS URGE DEFEAT OF POMERENE

Rail Brotherhood Heads Also Oppose Dick for Senator in Ohio Primaries.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Labor leaders here received today form letters, signed by the Presidents of the five big railroad brotherhoods, urging that Senator Atlee Pomerene be defeated for renomination at the Ohio primary election next week, and advocating the nomination of former Representative John J. Lentz of Columbus, who is Pomerene's only opponent for the Democratic nomination.

The letters, dated at Cleveland Aug. 1, also urged union men to support former Senator Charles Dick of Akron for the Republican nomination for Senator, as against Representative Simeon D. Fess.

Past labor records of Dick and Lentz were characterized as "100 per cent."

"Senator Pomerene's record against organized labor is so bad," the letters assert, "that it is unnecessary to say anything further. Fess would be almost as bad a calamity as to have Pomerene, Democrat, nominated, there being little choice."

No mention is made of the other two Republican candidates for the Senatorial nomination.

MARYLAND CANDIDATES WET

"Drys" Threaten to Run a Man Against Both Parties.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 4—With John W. Garrett and Senator France, candidates for the Republican nomination for United States Senator from Maryland, out for modification of the prohibition laws, and with the majority of the aspirants for the Democratic nominations for Senator and Representatives also declared for wines and beer, the anti-Saloon League leaders threatened today to place an out-and-out dry man in the field.

Mr. Garrett made his declaration today. He is opposed to the return of the saloon, but wants the dry law changed not only to permit commercial wines and beer, but also to make homemade wine and cider legal.

"Mr. Garrett," said Superintendent Crabbe of the Anti-Saloon League, "has put himself in no uncertain terms in the midst of the liquor gang. Being a man of wealth nad position, he is opposed to the poor getting a drink in the open saloon, but he wants to be able to get beer and wine for himself and for others of his class."

In the camp of Senator France the announcement that the league is considering naming a third candidate was hailed with enthusiasm. Supporters of the Senator think such a move would clinch the nomination for their candidate.

Senator France came out for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and for modification of the Volstead law some time ago. His leaders see in the naming of a dry candidate the splitting of the dry vote, which they figure the Senator would lose anyway, with the result that he will be put far in the lead.

New Mexico Woman Out for Senate.

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Aug. 4.—Mrs. [illegible] C. Mandell, who has lived more than forty-five years in this vicinity and is the mother of six children, has announced her candidacy for the United States Senate. She is the first woman in this State to seek election to the Senate. Her platform includes prohibition, anti-gambling laws, a popular war vote and the revision of the educational system.

'DRYS' AND KU KLUX COMBINE IN TEXAS

Both Backing Mayfield Against Ferguson in Fight for Senatorial Nomination.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—One of the most peculiar affiliations in the history of American politics has come about in Texas, where the Anti-Saloon League has combined with the Ku Klux Klan to support Earle B. Mayfield, candidate against former Governor James E. Ferguson for the Democratic Senatorial nomination in the second primaries, Aug. 26.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league, said tonight that all dry voters in Texas would support Mayfield, and Senator Sheppard of Texas, author of the National Prohibition law, has sent a telegram home endorsing this candidate.

Mr. Mayfield has refused steadily to say whether or not he is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, but he has its support. This became known in the campaign before the first Texas primaries, when Mayfield and R. L. Henry, former member of the House of Representatives, both had klan backing.

Prohibition forces here say it is not their fault that the klan backs Mayfield, and that the Klan has nothing whatever to do with their advocacy of him. They say he is not only dry, but is a far better man than Ferguson, who was impeached, and who is an avowed wet. Therefore, the dry leaders claim, there is no alternative for them except to back Mayfield.

Senator Sheppard said today he had not come out voluntarily for Mayfield, but that when his opinion of the candidate was asked by The Houston Post, he telegraphed:

"I favor Mayfield because I believe his election would be in the best interests of prohibition enforcement, the Eighteenth Amendment and progressive Democratic legislation in general."

Mr. Wheeler said tonight that the league in Texas was out primarily to fight Ferguson.

"Mayfield is a high-grade man," Mr. Wheeler said. "Whether he belongs to the klan I do not know, but I believe practically all of our people will vote for him because he is for dry enforcement. Yes, it is peculiar that in this campaign we happen to be linked with the klan behind Mayfield, but this is a circumstance over which we have no control.

"There are only two men in the field, and one or the other has got to be voted for. I believe Mayfield will win easily. I heard today from Texas that all the decent forces in the State were lining up back of him."

Senator Sheppard remarked that, while the alignment of the league and the klan was an oddity, it came about merely because Mayfield was regarded as the best candidate. The Senator has expressed himself against the klan, which former Governor Ferguson is fighting in his campaign.

McKELLAR'S LEAD 42,000.

Peay Nominated for Tennessee Governorship by 10,000.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 4.—Belated and scattered unofficial returns from yesterday's State-wide primary received tonight by The Commercial Appeal serve to increase the overwhelming lead of Senator Kenneth D. McKellar for the Democratic renomination for the Senate and of Austin Peay for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination.

With almost complete unofficial returns from seventy-five out of ninety counties and scattering results from a dozen more, Senator McKellar had a lead over Captain Gus Fitzhugh of Memphis, his nearest opponent, of more than 42,000 votes. Noah W. Cooper, the third man in the race, trailed far behind the other two.

Returns received tonight indicate, according to The Commercial-Appeal's compilation, that Peay has received the Democratic nomination for Governor by almost 10,000 votes, with Benton McMillin, former Governor, running second.

Many counties in the State failed to hold Republican primaries, but returns already received indicate the victory of Newel Sanders of Chattanooga over Harry B. Anderson of Memphis for the Republican Senatorial nomination.

Gordon B. Browning has a safe lead for the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Eighth District and Finis J. Garrett is returned winner in the Ninth District. In the Republican primaries in East Tennessee, J. Will Taylor and Carroll Reece have been renominated for Congress on the face of almost complete unofficial returns.

The majority received by Lemuel P. Padgett, Congressman, who died in Washington the day preceding the primaries, will exceed 600, it is believed. A special election will probably be called by the State Democratic Committee to determine the nominee for Congress in his district, the seventh.

LA FOLLETTE LAUDS REED.

He Declares Missourian's Renomination Is a People's Victory.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 4.—The renomination of Senator James A. Reed in Missouri "is another significant victory for the people," said Robert M. La Follette, senior Senator from Wisconsin, in a statement today. "It reflects the resentment of the voters against party bosses and party domination," he added.

"Senator Reed's conspicuous position against the League of Nations was an issue of the campaign, and his successful fight indicates the approval of the voters of Missouri of his stand upon this question," Senator La Follette's statement said.

"During the debate upon the 1921 Revenue bill in the Senate Reed was one of the prominent leaders of the Democratic opposition to the bill reported by the Republican Finance Committee. He made a splendid fight to continue the excess profits tax upon the great corporations for the purpose of paying the soldiers' bonus. It is estimated that the excess profits tax of corporations last year amounted to nearly $500,000,000, and Reed's struggle in the Senate to continue this tax upon these corporations led them to make every effort to defeat him in Missouri.

"One of the important issues in the Reed campaign was his stand for the repeal of the radical amendment of the Esch-Cummins law. His renomination is another indication of the hostility of the people toward this special class legislation for the benefit of the railroad corporations.

"The four-power pact was bitterly opposed by Senator Reed and his stand upon this treaty was used by his opponents as an issue against him. It is only fair to say that his victory is a registration of the people's adherence to the traditional policy of Washington against entering into entangling alliances with foreign countries."

WRITERS ENTER POLITICS.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 4.—Two New Hampshire writers, George E. Fairbanks of Cornish and George J. Foster of Dover, apparently following in the footsteps of the group of New York men who recently announced that they would attempt to put a non-political business man in the Governor's chair, have filed papers as candidates for State Senatorial nominations in the Eighth and Twenty-first District Republican primaries.

NO RIGHT TO RUN BUSES

Public Service Board Upsets Up-State City's Plans—Schwab Asks Mayor's Advice.

Mayor Hylan, who on Thursday telegraphed congratulations to Mayor Schwab of Buffalo for inaugurating a municipal bus and jitney service, wired his condolences to the up-State Executive yesterday. Mayor Hylan sent the second message when he learned that the Public Service Commission had held that Buffalo had no right, either under charter or special or general law, to operate buses and jitneys.

In his first message Mayor Hylan described how his Administration had assembled 2,000 buses ready for "immediate and instant use" in Brooklyn in 1919.

Mayor Schwab acknowledged both messages, and said that he would appreciate it if Mayor Hylan would tell him how to get a bus line started.

"City of New York,

"Hon. Frank X. Schwab, Mayor,
"Buffalo, N. Y.

"In this morning's newspapers I notice that the up-State Public Service Commission has come to the relief of the traction corporations in your city by denying your application as Mayor to operate buses or to permit individuals to do so. We have met such denials by the State Transit Commission here, but in spite of this fact, in spite of obstructive and adverse tactics of the traction corporations and their allies, and in spite of court decisions, we are able to operate some bus lines in this city. We had forty-six lines in operation before the courts, corporations and traction sympathizers got busy. These buses carried 75,000,000 passengers.

"Only a few days ago one of our Supreme Court judges enjoined the city from permitting bus operation in a section of Brooklyn where such transportation is sadly needed. We, of course, obeyed the injunction but have appealed to the higher court. Keep up your efforts to establish a universal bus system because as sure as night follows day motor buses must supplant surface trolley cars in all large cities. It is absolutely necessary that the Mayors of cities in this State get together to effect legislation enabling the cities to purchase buses and establish their own bus lines.

"JOHN F. HYLAN, Mayor."

Here is Mayor Schwab's reply: "Thank you for two telegrams received today. Appreciate your interest. Am making every effort to continue buses and will certainly appreciate any further suggestions or information from you on this matter. With kindest personal regards."

JITNEY MUST HAVE PERMIT.

Connecticut Court Holds It Can't Run Without Commission's Consent.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 4.—Jitneys cannot operate anywhere in the State without a permit from the Public Utilities Commission, according to a decision handed down by the Supreme Court here today.

The court, in an opinion written by Justice Howard J. Curtis, found no error in a former decision given by Judge John R. Booth, in the Court of Common Pleas in this county, in which he imposed a fine upon Louis Darazzo, the defendant in an action brought by the State.

The decision is taken to mean that the Supreme Court holds that the jitney laws are constitutional and that the Public Utilities Commission is vested with full power for their enforcement.

Darazzo fought the case single-handed, other jitney men having dropped the fight after a decision was rendered against them in the lower courts.

CANDIDATES COME BACK.

Democrats—First District, E. B. Howard, defeated for re-election in 1920; Second District, W. W. Hastings, defeated for re-election in 1920; Third District, Charles D. Carter, incumbent; Fourth District, Tom McKeown, defeated for re-election in 1920; Fifth District, F. B. Swank, incumbent; Sixth District, Elmer Thomas, defeated for election in 1920; Seventh District, J. V. McClintick, incumbent; Eighth District, Zack Harris, defeated for election in 1920.

Republicans—First District, T. A. Chandler, incumbent; Second District, Miss Alice Robertson, incumbent; Third District, Philas Jones, candidate for the first time; Fourth District, J. G. Pringe, incumbent; Fifth District, James Twyford, candidate for the first time; Sixth District, L. M. Gensman, incumbent, unopposed; Seventh District, R. N. Linville, candidate for the first time; Eighth District, M. G. Garber, candidate for the first time, nominated over Manuel Herrick, incumbent.

Returns today piled up a larger lead for Mayor J. C. Walton of Oklahoma City, Democratic nominee for Governor. With but 407 precincts missing out of a total of 2,837 in the State Walton, the candidate of the Farmer-Labor and Anti-Ku Klux Klan forces, has a plurality of 30,011. John Fields of Oklahoma City, editor of a farm paper, the Republican Gubernatorial nominee, still maintained a lead of 12 to 1.

FARMERS FOR LABOR COURT

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The Republican Gubernatorial race today apparently was decided in favor of W. Y. Morgan, Hutchinson newspaper man, and interest turned to the outcome of the contest for the Republican nomination for Supreme Court Justice, Division No. 1, in which Attorney General Richard J. Hopkins had a lead of slightly more than 2,000 over Justice Silas Porter, who has been on the Supreme Court bench fifteen years. Hopkins's support came largely from the farming communities. His actions as Attorney General in regard to the Industrial Court, and his strict enforcement of that law, are believed to have caused the labor element in the industrial centres to vote against him.

Morgan was leading his closest opponent, ex-Governor W. R. Stubbs, by about 10,500 votes, according to latest available returns. He supported the Industrial Court in his campaign. Stubbs believed that the Industrial Court should be made a part of the State Supreme Court. The figures indicate that supporters of the Industrial Court were favored more in agricultural than in industrial communities.

Glynn Says Calder Will Be Named.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 4.—George A. Glynn, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, today predicted that United States Senator William M. Calder would be renominated without opposition at the Albany State Convention. Senator Calder has been the target of the Anti-Saloon League for his advocacy of a light wine and beer modification of the Volstead amendment. Mr. Glynn said he regarded Senator Calder's renomination as assured.

GUARD JAILED NEGROES WHO ATTACKED WOMAN

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 4.—A. E. Ketchen of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Ketchen, who were on their way by automobile from Miami to New York, encamped last night on the road near Southern Pines. Their tent was invaded early today by three negroes who demanded money, according to Mr. Ketchen, and when he reached for his pistol, one of the intruders opened fire. Ketchen was wounded in the breast and was unable to assist his wife when she was pursued by the negroes as she ran from the tent.

After attacking the woman, the men returned to the tent and robbed Mr. Ketchen of all his valuables and took away his pistol. When help came Ketchen was taken to the Carthage Hospital, where it was said he had a good chance to recover.

The negroes were captured later in the day by Sheriff Blue and were brought here. It is stated that two of them confessed, while the third declared he was innocent.

Twenty minutes after Sheriff Blue arrived here with his prisoners seven dusty automobiles drove up to the gates of the State Penitentiary. They were filled with men who asked if the Sheriff had arrived, but made no attempt to interfere with the guards when answered in the affirmative.

During the afternoon other automobiles, apparently from the district where the outrage occurred, continued to arrive in the capital, and the authorities decided that it would be best to have the State troops on hand to supplement the prison force during the night.

"We do not contemplate any trouble, but the circumstances justify every precaution," Warden Busbee said.

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 4.—The Durham Machine Gun Company left tonight for Raleigh, under orders from the State Adjutant General. Officers of the company were informed that they were wanted to guard the State Penitentiary, reported as being stormed by a mob intent upon lynching three negroes held on a charge of assault.

HUSBAND A CHARMER, DECLARES SUING WIFE

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The attraction that Benjamin C. Jones, Grand Rapids manufacturer, has for women, according to the petition for divorce, filed in the Superior Court today by Mrs. Emily Stewart Jones, 312 Washington Boulevard, Oak Park, "out-Sheiks the Sheik."

Women flock about him eagerly, listening to every intonation of his voice whenever he mingles in society, she says. They sent him love notes, flowers, candy and begged to hold his hand, the wife's bill charges. He is not annoyed by these attention, his wife avers, but enjoys the flattery and boasts about his conquests.

He has told her, she relates, of many instances when women he had never seen before stopped their automobiles when they saw him pass in the street, or ordered their chauffeurs to follow him and asked him to ride with them.

Mrs. Jones tells of her husband receiving letters from a woman in Minnesota, addressed to "Sweet Daddy" and signed "Belle."

Mrs. Jones charged her husband with cruelty and excessive drunkenness. He declared that after winning money in poker and crap games he fell a victim to the lure of "shadow skirts" and disappeared for days at a time with his winnings.

DAVIS ACTS ON LAKE STRIKE

To Confer With Union Leaders in Effort to Avert Crisis.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Secretary of Labor Davis will make an attempt next week to avert the threatened strike of union vesselmen on the Great Lakes, officials of the unions which recently conducted a strike vote having agreed to come to Washington for a conference with Mr. Davis. Labor Department officials, in announcing the conference, said it would be held Tuesday at the department.

The seamen's and firemen's unions on the Great Lakes recently voted to strike, but the District Executive Committee of the International Seamen's Union, meeting yesterday in Detroit, voted to withhold the strike order until the Department of Labor could make an effort to adjust wage differences, which are the basis of the controversy between the workers and the lake carriers' association. The request for delay was made by Oscar F. Nelson, a conciliator of the Department of Labor.

The Government is known to look upon a lake strike as a serious matter at the present time, when every effort is being made to move coal to the Northwest through lake ports.

AUSTRIAN EXCHANGE DROPS

Crown Is Now 52,000 to the Dollar—Business Is Hit Severely.

VIENNA, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The exchange continues to fall and the crown tonight was quoted at 52,000 to the dollar, or 1,000 more than yesterday's quotation. Business is being severely hit; many shops have closed, some are open only part time, and others are withdrawing valuable stocks because of their reluctance to accept the crown at its present value.

A demonstration of unemployed at midday today caused a flurry of excitement, but there was no disorder.

In Bratz there was a demonstration by workers against the high cost of living. The public generally, however, is taking the crisis quietly, seemingly accepting the explanation that Austria's plight is a corollary of the German situation.

Die Boerse, discussing the possibility of a crash in an article dealing with Czechoslovakia's attitude in such an event, says:

"There are no illusions in Czechoslovakia as to what the partition of Austria would mean. It would mean war, a Czech politician has said, and war would mean the end of us all. Yet there is nothing so certain, as neither Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Hungary nor Rumania will disarm as long as that Austrian question is unsolved."

WANT HAYWARD IN SENATE.

Foes of Calder Turn to Federal Attorney.

A report that opponents of United States Senator William M. Calder might "draft" United States Attorney William Hayward, who commanded New York's colored troops during the World War, as a contestant for the nomination for Senator was current in Republican circles yesterday.

While many Republicans of prominence would like to see Senator Calder's seat occupied by some one else, it is pretty thoroughly understood by now that Senator Calder will be renominated. With the exception of some slight defection in his home county of Kings, due to the opposition of ex-Controller Eugene M. Travis, who holds Calder responsible for having brought about his indictment, since dismissed, it is expected that practically every delegate from this city to the Republican State Convention will support Mr. Calder.

"It's a midsummer night's dream," said Colonel Hayward, when asked to comment on published reports.

SUBWAY CROWDS SCARED BY BLAZE

FIRE IS PUT OUT QUICKLY

Fire Chief Martin Has Power Shut Off and Tracks Are Blocked 25 Minutes.

Quick action by the motorman of a southbound local subway train on the west side tracks of the Interborough at Pennsylvania Station yesterday morning prevented a panic when passengers on the train became alarmed at a blaze that filled the tube with smoke. The fire, caused by a short circuit in the motor of the first car, lasted but a few moments.

The train was pulling into the station at 7:40 when a burst of flame followed by a thick smoke wreath enveloped the train, terrifying the passengers, whose nerves were the more shaky because of the recent fire on the Lexington Avenue branch of the subway on July 6. The motorman, however, brought his train to a quick stop, leaped from his cab and shut the power off the southbound local track. He then knocked off the shoe connecting the motor with the third rail.

Guards in the meantime had opened the doors and the passengers swarmed out of the station exits, none the worse for their scare. Some one, seeing the smoke already had turned in an alarm and fire apparatus began to arrive on the scene. By order of Chief ("Smoky Joe") Martin power was cut off from the other three tracks, stopping all traffic in the subways. As a result, according to officials, the passengers on a northbound express which was stalled just outside the smoke filled station became alarmed and were quieted with difficulty by the guards. Traffic was interrupted in the tunnel for about twenty-five minutes.

Commissioner Harkness said James S. Doyle, assistant to the President of the Interborough had assured the commission that accidents due to short circuits were on the wane. The company, so Mr. Doyle said, was putting in the best of materials in construction of cars and motors, declaring automobile steel was being used.

Chief Martin said last night he would be glad to take the matter up with rapid transit companies or the Transit Commission. As to cutting off the power, the Chief said he could not endanger the lives of either firemen or passengers by leaving the third rails alive. Brass nozzles on hoses that were brought in and steel and brass on the other equipment would have imperilled every one, he said.

The question of how well city firemen are trained to fight fires of electrical origin probably will be discussed soon by traction and Fire Department officials.

BIG STORM IN CONNECTICUT.

Man Is Killed by Lightning and Much Damage Is Done to Crops.

FARMINGTON, Conn., Aug. 4.—Adair McMahon was instantly killed by lightning at Unionville tonight, during what is said to be one of the most severe storms in this section in many years. McMahon was at work in his garage, which was only slightly damaged. He was a former manager of the Unionville Battery Company.

The lightning also struck several houses here, among them the building occupied by J. Broadbent & Son, Inc., which was severely damaged. Considerable damage was also done by water, which flooded cellars and destroyed crops.

BRISTOL, Conn., Aug. 4.—One of the worst thunderstorms in the recollection of the oldest residents visited this city tonight, causing several thousand dollars damage. Mud and cobblestones were washed down a grade, stalling trolley cars until residents and workmen cleared the roadway with shovels.

The electric lighting equipment was out of commission for about thirty minutes.

Lightning struck in four places, one of which took fire, causing about $700 damage. During a part of the storm, hailstones, said to be as large as walnuts, fell, damaging tobacco crops. Many of the cellars were flooded and Main Street for a time was impassable.

of water through the chinks between the tiles lining the walls above the platforms. Little chunks of mortar were pushed out and the water came trickling after them, to flow down the walls, over the platform and down to the tracks where the main flood was pouring through a big hole.

The stopping of the first train stalled five or six expresses behind it, and the hurried shutting off of the power left them stranded for twenty minutes. At the end of that time, when the nature and extent of the difficulty had been determined, the stalled trains were packed beyond the Nevins Street station, shifted to the Lexington Avenue tracks and run into the Atlantic Avenue station.

There their passengers, as well as those who had been taken off the train, halted when the flood suddenly splashed in front of it, were put on shuttle trains on the third track, reached from the island platform. An attempt was made to run these trains through, but it was found that the water was too high, and all service between Atlantic Avenue and Flatbush and East New York was discontinued until 12:16 this morning, when it was restored in both directions.

TUBE TRAIN KILLS MAN; FORTY-MINUTE TIE-UP

Foreigner Walks Off Platform and Motorman Is Unable to Stop in Time.

Traffic both ways in the Hudson tubes was tied up for forty minutes last night as a result of the death of a man under the wheels of a Manhattan-bound train. Shortly before 10 o'clock Benjamin Bigiomo entered the Christopher Street Station and spoke to Miss Lillie Reese, the ticket seller, in a foreign tongue. She did not understand what he said, and a bystander assumed the rôle of interpreter, explaining that the man wanted to go to Hoboken.

"There's your train coming now," she told him, pointing to the platform.

The man walked off the platform and started toward the tunnel under the river directly in the path of the incoming train. Motorman William Steinmots tried to bring his train to a stop, but not before the wheels of the front car had passed over the man's head and legs. The victim was five feet tall and about 50 years old. Patrolman James Skelly of the Charles Street station, who had had two previous ambulance calls in fifteen minutes, took charge of the body. A passport dated San Francisco, permitting him to sail for Italy today on the steamship Providence of the Fabre Line, was found in the dead man's pocket.

THREATENS POLICE CHIEF.

Jersey City Policeman Suspended and Arrested After Outburst.

Chief of Police Richard Battersby of Jersey City sat in his office at headquarters at noon yesterday with two inspectors and seven precinct captains when Patrolman Edward Burke rushed in and, swinging his club, cried, "You insulted my wife. I'll knock your head off. I'll kill you."

Captain Edwin O'Connor and Acting-Captain William Hogue fought Burke, got possession of his club and a loaded revolver in a holster and took him to the First Precinct Station, where he was suspended and arrested on a charge of threatening to kill.

Chief of Police Battersby said he was sure the threats grew out of a case he had recently in connection with Burke's family affairs. Chief Battersby said he had received a complaint a few days ago from John Moran, 81, one of Burke's relatives, who lives at the patrolman's home, at 298 Bartholdi Avenue, concerning the investment of $1,600. Yesterday morning Mrs. Burke and two relatives interviewed the chief in regard to the case.

MERGING TEXTILE WORKERS

Continuing their formation of the Federated Textile Unions of America, delegates from nine major textile unions at the Hotel St. Andrew, Broadway and Seventy-second Street, appointed committees on resolutions and on constitution in their session yesterday. The chairman of the former committee is T. A. Lawlor of Freehold, N. J., and of the latter Russell Palmer of New York City.

The use of the words "one big union" in yesterday's TIMES, in describing the new organization, was objected to by its officials. The radical connotation of the term was held to describe incorrectly the body's character, and it was explained that the several unions are to be federated, not combined into a single all-inclusive union. The separate unions, it was stated, will retain their autonomy, and each will select its own delegates and Executive Committee members.

MAX OSER ABSENT AS FIANCEE ARRIVES

SHE APPEALS FOR PRIVACY

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 4.—The arrival in France of Miss Mathilde McCormick, supposedly to marry Max Oser, the Swiss riding master, was conspicuous by the absence of her fiancé. Contrary to all Oser's declarations that he would be on a tug to greet the 16-year-old American girl when she returned to marry him, he was present neither at Cherbourg nor at the Gare St. Lazare in Paris, where the boat train discharged the Majestic's passengers. Despite this she wore the ring with the Oser crest which her fiancé gave her before her departure for America last year.

Miss McCormick refused absolutely to speak with newspaper men. When approached by one she would turn her back.

"I have nothing to say," he declared. "This is a personal affair, and not to be discussed. I won't answer any questions. I wouldn't even express myself on the weather."

Her uncle, Cyrus H. McCormick, who accompanied her on her trip as far as Cherbourg, was equally uncommunicative.

Before newspaper men even presented themselves to Miss Mathilde her uncle went to the purser and complained of their presence on the ship. The young woman during the voyage kept mostly to herself and bade no good-byes except to her uncle when leaving the ship. She was then dressed in a tailored suit with a small turban and her face wore a harassed frown.

She was placed in the care of E. W. Stotesbury on the train trip to Paris and spent most of her time with a person said to be Dr. A. Codd of California, the man her father really wants her to marry.

At the Gare St. Lazare she was met by her father, who was alone. There was an affectionate scene and the father greeted her youthful companion warmly.

When Mr. McCormick was asked to tell the time and place of the marriage he replied: "Sorry, I can't discuss it at all."

When asked about reports of his coming marriage to Ganna Walska, whose divorce from A. S. Cochran has just been made final, he made the same pleasant response.

He and his daughter went to the hotel where he has been staying since his arrival in Paris.

It was reported here tonight, however, that Miss McCormick will wed Oser about September 1.

"Mathilde McCormick wants the whole world to forget her and her affairs. America must quit bothering about me. I wish to live like other people. Others have a right to do what they please and why should I not have the same right?"

PARIS, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Miss Mathilde McCormick alighted from the train here smiling and shaking her head at a group of newspaper correspondents who had gathered to meet her.

Mr. McCormick, smiling more broadly, took her by the arms and pushed her through the crowd, saying to the correspondents:

"You see, my daughter is acting like a good sport. I have taught her, as a matter of fact, to be jovial with newspaper men. We understand it is their business to ask questions, but we are not answering any."

"Where's Mr. Oser?" he was asked.

"I won't tell you," he laughed.

When Miss Mathilde was asked the same question she said laughingly:

"That's my secret. Besides, my father has not introduced you."

ZURICH, Switzerland, Aug. 5.—Max Oser is still in Switzerland, it was learned today. His closest friends said that he was expecting Miss McCormick to reach Switzerland with a woman companion within a few days. It was understood that Lucerne was the place selected for their meeting.

HUNGARY ACTS ON PRICES.

Cabinet Considers Measures to Combat Steady Rise.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 4.—The Cabinet discussed tonight measures to combat the rapidly rising prices of food and other commodities. Trading in foreign currencies is still prohibited, and the members of the American Legation, the American colony and the visiting Y. M. C. A. party are in an embarrassing position, because the banks refuse to buy dollars in fear of heavy penalties. It is understood that a central exchange bureau will begin operating Monday with the exclusive right to deal in foreign moneys.

It was stated tonight that the Cabinet is also considering measures to prohibit the exportation of food and the importation of articles of luxury.

WALES AIDS BLIND VETERAN.

Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Prince of Wales has ordered 5,000 monogrammed gold cigarettes from a Cirencester tobacconist, blinded in the war.

During a polo tournament the Prince espied the sightless man, asked about his condition and when told his occupation and how he was blinded, he decided to replenish his cigarette stock from him.

Unable to obtain the special brand of finest Turkish tobacco which the Prince uses, the tobacconist had to contract for an order through a Piccadilly concern.

GLIDERS ARRIVING FOR WORLD TRIALS

"Flappers" and "Stiffs" Among the Novel Types at Clermont Ferrand Field.

AMERICAN MACHINE MISSING

CLERMONT FERRAND, France, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Fifteen of the motorless airplanes which are entered in the first international experimental congress of "gliders," have arrived at Camp Mouillard, near Clermont Ferrand, for the contests which will begin next Sunday and continue until Aug. 20.

Altogether fifty airplanes were entered for the tests, but ten of them have been scratched. The French Aerial Federation, under whose auspices the meeting is to be held, expects most of the planes to be here by Sunday, with the others straggling in before the competition closes.

Some of the machines which have arrived have made successful unofficial flights. An American monoplane, entered by the Aeronautical Engineering Society, is being held up in some railroad yard between Clermont Ferrand and Havre, from which latter port it was shipped eight days ago. Edmund Allen, who will pilot the American plane, is trying to find the glider and have it rushed to the flying camp.

"Flappers" and "Stiffs" There.

The gliders already at Camp Mouillard include machines with the flapping wings of the bat and types resembling the flying fish, which are propelled by human muscular motive power, and wind-propelled sailing planes with canvas wings, mobile or stationary. These machines are of the monoplane, biplane and triplane types. Those with stationary wings are called "stiffs," and those with mobile wings "flappers."

A Swiss-designed stationary, thick-winged monoplane, manufactured by Francis Chardon and piloted by M. Guendet, remained in the air four minutes this morning, covering about a mile and three-quarters in a half-circle, with a loss in altitude of about 800 feet.

A "flapper" parasol machine, built, piloted and propelled by Daniel Montague of France, covered about 200 yards at an altitude averaging between six and ten feet. It landed because the human motor gave out. The wings of this machine are worked by a contrivance somewhat similar to that used on the chainless bicycle. Montague was purple of face and breathing heavily when he landed. His ankle was sprained and the machine was badly damaged. It will require several days to make repairs.

The organization holding the contests is more greatly concerned over achieving results in aviation than in establishing sporting records. Most of the pilots and builders on the ground, however, express the determination to break the record for duration in motorless flight, held by Harth of Germany. This record is twenty-one minutes.

100,000 Francs Offered in Prizes.

One hundred thousand francs will be distributed among the winners in the events for distance flown, duration of a single flight, total time in air during the meet and smallest average loss in altitude. A purse will also be given for a height record.

Camp Mouillard was named after France's pioneer motorless flier. It resembles a huge circus, with three big canvas tents in which the gliders will be stored, and forty-two smaller tents which will be the homes of officials, builders, pilots and correspondents during the meet. There are also thirteen canvas tops of various sizes, which have been converted into blacksmith and carpenter shops, restaurants, a conference hall, a moving picture show and dance hall. The camp is said to be one of the most complete canvas cities ever erected.

The name of the organization which is holding the meet is the First International Experimental Congress of Motorless Airplanes.

The scene of the meet is near the top of Mount Combegrasse, thirteen miles from Clermont Ferrand. The camp overlooks the Royat Valley, with a dominating radius of from five to six miles from a height of from 700 to 900 feet. The average velocity of the wind at the camp since Aug. 1 between the hours of 4 o'clock and 7 o'clock in the evening has been between twenty-seven and twenty-eight miles an hour.

FRANCE GETS GIANT PLANE.

Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

PARIS, Aug. 4.—A new type of giant airplane weighing almost six long tons, including three tons of bombs and other cargo, was delivered to the French Army today by the Farman Company and passed trials successfully. It is the biggest airplane ever built in France.

The plane is driven by four motors, each of 400 horsepower, and can remain aloft seven hours. It is equipped with a powerful wireless appartus, many machine guns and two small cannon.

The Farman Brothers are of French nationality, which they took when making airplanes for the army during the war, but their father is still English.

TAILOR HELD FOR MURDER.

Police Capture Man Ten Months After the Tragedy.

Detectives under Sergeant Fiaschetti last night surrounded a tailoring establishment at 6,710 New Utrecht Avenue, Brooklyn, and arrested Calogero Cinquemani of 151 Cherry Street, Manhattan, wanted by the police since last October, in connection with murder of Salvatore Daniano of 93 Market Street, New York. Cinquemani, who is a tailor, was taken to Police Headquarters for questioning.

According to Fiaschetti, Cinquemani has led the police an elusive chase. Time and time again the authorities have traced him only to find him gone when the time came to make a capture. The death of Daniano in front of 161 Cherry Street on October 10 was the outgrowth of a quarrel in which, it was said, Cinquemani was a participant. He is charged with having shot Daniano from a window.

CITY SUES GOVERNMENT.

Suit was instituted in the Federal Court, Brooklyn, yesterday by the City of New York, through Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien, against the United States Government for $2,220,475 with interest at the rate of 6 per cent from April 6, 1918, for property taken over by the Government during the war for an army base at Bay Ridge. The property is between First Avenue and the pierhead, Bay Ridge, and runs from Fifty-ninth to Sixty-first Street, with a frontage of 325 feet.

An appraisal was made on Feb. 5, 1919, and the city received an award of $603,121.80. This was declined by the city and the present suit started.

GENEVA, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The story of a wedding tragedy at Bregenz, Austria, was told by the Geneva newspapers today.

A wealthy widower named Krauss was about to give his 20-year-old daughter in marriage to a former Austrian officer. Krauss had made elaborate preparations for the ceremony, which was to take place at noon, and had given his daughter a large dowry.

When he first saw the girl's beautiful wedding dress, however, he declared that it was too decollete, and told her he would not allow her to enter the church "half naked." He locked her up in her bedroom, and only relented to her pleading so far as to say that she might go to the church in another gown. The daughter refused. The hour for the ceremony arrived and passed.

Later the father heard a revolver shot, entered the room, and found his daughter's body lying across the bed, still clad in her bridal dress.

SHOT AS HE DEFENDS WIFE.

Negroes Attack Miami Auto Tourists Encamped in North Carolina.

CARTHAGE, N. C., Aug. 4.—A. E. Ketchen of Miami, Fla., was shot and perhaps fatally wounded early this morning while defending his wife from an attack by three negroes near Southern Pines.

Two of the negroes, who attacked the Ketchens' automobile, have confessed, according to Sheriff Blue, and all three have been placed in the State penitentiary for safekeeping.

Sheriff Blue said Mr. and Mrs. Ketchen and their child were camping along the road on their way to New York when three negroes entered their tent and demanded money. When Ketchen tried to reach for his pistol one of the negroes opened fire, a bullet striking Ketchen in the breast and going through his body.

Mrs. Ketchen seized the child and ran out of the tent, but was overtaken by two of the negroes, who attacked her. The negroes then returned to the tent and robbed Ketchen of all valuables, including money, a pistol and jewelry.

A watch belonging to Mrs. Ketchen was found on one of the negroes under arrest and money and other things in possession of another. All three were identified, according to Sheriff Blue, by the Ketchens. Two of the negroes, the Sheriff said, made a complete confession, but the other prisoner declared he was innocent. The Ketchens are in a hospital at Southern Pines.

MOVE TO OPEN UP SIBERIA.

Japan Will Suggest a Method in Conference at Harbin.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Advices from Tokio today indicated that the Japanese Government, in connection with the negotiations to be resumed with the Chita Government of Siberia, would try to persuade the Russian Soviet Government to open Siberia on an equal footing to all persons, leaving the administration of the country to Russia. It is understood the Soviet emissary already has departed from Moscow to attend the conference, which probably will be held at Harbin.

The dispatches from the Japanese capital said Japan's decision to withdraw her troops from Siberia had no bearing on the forthcoming conference.

HINDERED BY CLOUDBANKS

But Entire Distance Is Covered in Five Hours and Fifteen Minutes Actual Flying Time.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. — The first cross-country night flight ever made in an airplane from Washington to New York City was accomplished last night in five hours and fifteen minutes actual flying time by First Lieutenant Clayton Bissell of the army air service, one of the few "aces" now on the active list of the regular army. The trip was made in a standard DH4-B airplane, leaving Washington at 9:30 o'clock last evening and returning to Bolling Field at 4:25 o'clock this morning. One stop only was made, at Mitchell Field, L. I., in the middle of the night with the aid of colored rockets and landing lights. The plane crossed Manhattan in the vicinity of Times Square.

Taking off from Bolling Field, Lieutenant Bissell's course was via Baltimore and Aberdeen, Md.; Wilmington, Del.; Philadelphia, Trenton, Jersey City, New York City, Brooklyn, Jamaica and Mitchell Field. The flight from Washington to Baltimore was made without incident and on the entire stretch of this part of the trip the lights of both Washington and Baltimore could be seen.

From Baltimore the railroad was followed to the head of the Chesapeake Bay, which took Lieutenant Bissell over the Aberdeen Proving Grounds. He then cut across to the Delaware River to the vicinity of Wilmington, and proceeded along the river to Philadelphia and Camden. The lights of Independence Hall in Philadelphia could be picked up from a very great distance and constituted an excellent landmark.

About fifteen miles north of Philadelphia along the Delaware River, the sky became overcast and indicated the approach of a storm. Lightning flashed intermittently, but as the storm seemed to be moving to the southeast there appeared to be no reason for changing the course. The clouds, however, soon obscured the ground, and it was necessary to drop from an altitude of 4,000 feet to about 600 feet to pick up landmarks and not be forced to depend entirely on the compass. But the cloud bank descended lower and lower until the plane was down to 400 feet. It was then necessary to fly south for a short distance in order to get above the clouds.

After having flown about ninety miles by dead reckoning, the plane ascended to a height of between 10,000 and 12,000 feet, from which altitude the lights of Trenton could be seen.

On arrival over Trenton ideal weather conditions prevailed, but the moon was not seen again until the plane was over lower New York Bay, Staten Island, Elizabeth, Jersey City, New York, Brooklyn and the various beach resorts presented a jumble of lights which made it difficult to pick out landmarks.

The plane flew along the eastern shore of Staten Island, over upper New York Bay, along the eastern part of Jersey City and across Manhattan in the vicinity of Forty-second Street, then directly over Brooklyn and Jamaica, and finally to Mitchel Field, where a good landing was effected. Landing lights had been installed on the airdrome at Mitchel Field, and the personnel at Mitchel Field fired colored rockets, which proved of great aid to Lieutenant Bissell in picking out the field.

The flight from Washington to New York by this slightly round-about course, including the time lost in the vicinity of Trenton, consumed three hours and five minutes.

After carefully going over the plane in preparation for the return flight, Lieutenant Bissell left Mitchel Field at 2:15 A. M., Washington time, flew a straight compass course, and landed at Bolling Field at 4:25 A. M., the distance of 225 miles being covered in two hours and ten minutes.

On the return journey the same cloudbank was encountered in the vicinity of Trenton and obscured the city. Ten miles south of Trenton the sky cleared and the trip from Philadelphia to Washington was made under perfect weather conditions.

CONFESSES KIDNAPPING BOY

Mother Who Disappeared With $50,000 Said to Be Forcibly Detained.

With the arrest yesterday of Vincenzo Damiani, 28 years old, a longshoreman, living at 148 Tenth Avenue, the troubles of Salvatore Iavarone, a wealthy provision merchant, living at 84 Oak Street, are partly over. Damiani admitted to Detective Michael Fiaschetti of the Italian division that he had kidnapped Iavarone's two-year-old boy Tony and extorted $200 from the merchant. Damiani also confessed knowledge, according to Detective Fiaschetti, of the whereabouts of Iavarone's wife Marie, who disappeared on June 28 with $40,000 in cash and $10,000 worth of jewelry which she took from their joint safe-deposit box in a Bowery bank. Three others are implicated in the affair, and the police expect to apprehend them within the next few days.

When Iavarone's wife, who is 30 years old, disappeared she took along their young son, and on July 2, according to the merchant, he received an anonymous letter demanding $400 for the return of the boy. He says he paid Damiani $200 and the child was restored.

According to Fiaschetti, a letter written by Iavarone's wife postmarked Madison, Ill., was received by the merchant. The detectives said they believed the woman was being forcibly detained in this city and that the letter had been sent to Madison to be mailed there.

MAY SHOW KITCHENER FILM.

Treasury Has Authorized Release "Under Bond," Says Importer.

The motion picture film, "How Kitchener Was Betrayed," which is being held up by the United States Customs on the protest of the British Government, may be soon displayed in this country, it was learned yesterday. J. Parker Read Jr., head of the J. Parker Read Productions, who imported the film, said yesterday he had received a telegram from the Treasury Department in Washington that notice had been sent Acting Collector of the Port Stewart here authorizing release of the film "under bond."

At the Custom House it was said that no communication had yet been received from Washington. The picture is still in the Appraiser's Stores.

Officials were mystified by the expression "released under bond." It was said that importations which were not intended to remain in this country were placed under bond in lieu of paying duty. How this could apply to a film brought here to be exhibited could not be ascertained.

It was learned yesterday that the British authorities were making strenuous efforts to prevent exhibition of the picture, but it was considered unlikely they would succeed. The law is said to bar only immoral films and those portraying prize fights.

WOMEN FIGHT DISLOYALTY.

American Writers' League Starts Nation-Wide Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The League of American Pen Women, composed of professional women writers throughout the country, has called upon its members to enlist in a nation-wide campaign against disloyalty to the United States "of whatever nature in the spoken or printed word."

"Information has been received from the Government," according to a statement issued from the headquarters of the league here, "that those who attempt to destroy the American institutions and principles direct their efforts primarily to the women of the country and the students in our colleges. This feature is being given particular attention by the special committee appointed by the National President, Mrs. Louis N. Geldert, and the National Executive Board, which is taking under close scrutiny also the textbooks in the schools and colleges, many of which, it is stated, through deletions, fail to instruct properly in American history, American traditions and ideals."

The lightning struck Mrs. Berkey in the head and ripped a shoe and a stocking from the other woman, stunning her. She was treated for a burn on the heel.

Mrs. Berkey lived at 1,319 Butler Street, Easton, Pa. Her family had occupied the cottage since the beginning of the Summer. Fire following lightning also destroyed a large barn on the farm of Robert Rush at Bridgeville.

ACCUSES BROTHER'S SLAYER OF MURDER

FAILS TO OBTAIN WRIT

Developments yesterday in the fatal shooting of William Ryan, a stationary engineer of 1,072 Rogers Avenue, Brooklyn, at Court and State Streets, Thursday night, indicated that the killing was not accidental but deliberate murder, according to the story told the detectives of the Butler Street Station by John Ryan of 24 Strong Place, a brother of the victim. John DeMateo, a grocer of 845 Atlantic Avenue, is charged with the crime. He was arraigned before Magistrate Dodd, in the Adams Street Court yesterday, and was held without bail on a charge of murder, pending further investigation by the police and Assistant District Attorney Reuben H. Wilson.

John Ryan said that he and his brother were crossing Livingston Street at Court Street, when DeMateo drove by in his car and almost knocked them down. William Ryan cautioned DeMateo to be more careful. Later, Ryan said, they saw DeMateo's car on the opposite side of the street and DeMateo quarreling with his wife. DeMateo, John Ryan declared, drove his car over to the other side of the street near where the Ryans were standing, pointed a revolver in their direction and shot his brother in the heart.

Another angle to the shooting developed late yesterday when Assistant District Attorney Wilson appeared before Justice Faber in the Supreme Court and opposed the writ of habeas corpus obtained in behalf of DeMateo so that he could be released on bail. Mr. Wilson said that Mrs. Philomena DeMateo, wife of the defendant, informed him that she had suspected her husband of paying attentions to another woman, that she had followed him from their home in Atlantic Avenue and saw his car at Court Street, that she waited in the car for her husband, and when he appeared he started a quarrel with her. Mrs. DeMateo, according to Mr. Wilson, said her husband aimed his revolver at her but that she struck his arm to save herself and that the bullet struck William Ryan.

Justice Faber dismissed the writ and DeMateo was taken back to the Raymond Street Jail. DeMateo insisted that the shooting was accidental. He said he was taking a bottle of wine to a sick friend and that when he returned to his car he found his wife there. He has a permit to carry a revolver and had it in a holster. He said that when his wife saw it she took it out of the holster and he struggled with her to get it back. In the struggle the gun was discharged, he said.

ROB HOME NEAR HYLAN'S.

Burglars, operating within a block of the home of Mayor Hylan, sometime between noon and four o'clock yesterday, forced entrance into the apartment of Michael Schookoff at 890 Bushwick Avenue, Brooklyn, and carried away valuables estimated worth $3,500. The thieves overlooked laces valued at $12,000.

Schookoff left his home at noon to go to the Sample Clothing Company on Broadway, Brooklyn, of which he is an owner. It is believed that the robbers gained entrance to the apartment house by ringing the bell of another tenant. They forced their way into the Schookoff home with a jimmy.

Shookoff accused the police of laxity, saying that a patrolman and a detective were stationed at all times of the day and night in front of the Mayor's home.

ROBBED OF $4,000 IN JEWELS

Held up almost at her doorway early last Tuesday morning, Mrs. Helen P. Thompson of 227 West Fifty-first Street, the wife of G. C. Thompson, was robbed of jewelry worth nearly $4,000 and about $65 in cash, according to a story that she told detectives, and that became known yesterday. The highwayman, whom she described as tall and dark-haired, made off in an automobile, she said. No arrests had been made up to last night.

The Thompsons had been on an automobile ride, and returned at 1 A. M. Her husband let Mrs. Thompson out at Eighth Avenue and Fifty-first Street and drove on to a nearby garage. The robbery occurred during his absence.

LAWYER IN PRISONERS' PEN.

Kept There for Three Hours for Disobeying Magistrate Sweetser.

Three hours' detention in the prisoners' pen at Essex Market Court was imposed yesterday on Nathan Lichtenblau, 28 years old, a lawyer of 84 St. Mark's Place, by Magistrate William A. Sweetser.

Lichtenblau, appearing as counsel in a hearing, refused to leave the enclosure in front of the Magistrate's bench when ordered to do so and demanded in a loud voice his rights as attorney.

Magistrate Sweetser had a complaint drawn up against Lichtenblau, charging disorderly conduct. At the end of three hours he apologized to Magistrate Sweetser and was allowed to go free.

"Some of you lawyers have no respect for a police court," declared Magistrate Sweetser. "These courts are entitled to as much respect as the Supreme Courts, and it is about time you learned that fact."

TWO-TON PRESS BED FALLS FOUR FLOORS

Crashes Into Cellar, Tearing Water Pipes and Causing Small Flood.

With a sudden snapping of the hemp cable, a two-ton press bed, being raised by a motor windlass to the fourth-story window of the Columbia Lithograph Company at 403 Broome Street, crashed through the iron grating at the sidewalk level at noon yesterday and collapsed in the cellar, fifteen feet below, tearing the waterpipes and causing a small flood. The boom of the fall interrupted the speech of Police Commissioner Enright, who, half a block away, was pinning badges on six newly appointed lieutenants. With a leap the Commissioner was out of the office and down the stairs on his way to the scene of the accident. Finding no one had been injured, the Commissioner returned to his office.

Richard Evans, 28 years old, employed by the Max Rubin Trucking Company of 21 Cleveland Place, who was acting as rigger at the moment of the accident, barely escaped with his life. He had ridden the preceding four pieces, he said, in order to keep them steady, but, he added, "something told me not to climb on that last one."

The cable which broke was new, according to Evans, and he could not explain why it parted. The press bed was worth $5,000.

JOHNSTON SWEEPS OVER WILLIAMS

SCORES ARE 6-0, 6-2, 6-3

TODAY'S FEATURE MATCHES IN SEABRIGHT TENNIS TOURNEY

3:00 P. M.—Final round women's invitation singles—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory vs. Miss Leslie Bancroft.

4:00 P. M.—Final round men's invitation doubles — Richard Norris Williams 2d and Watson M. Washburn vs. William M. Johnston and James O. Anderson.

5:00 P. M.—Final round mixed doubles.

Special to The New York Times.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 4.—If doubts have existed as to the tennis form of William M. Johnston of San Francisco they were summarily removed this afternoon, when, for the second year in succession, he defeated Richard Norris Williams 2d of Longwood for the Seabright Bowl in the final round of the invitation tournament at the Seabright Tennis and Cricket Club. Last year Johnston beat Williams in three straight sets and this year he repeated the performance. The scores were 6—0, 6—2, 6—3.

The Californian's game was going as strongly as ever it was when he was winning national championships, and the Davis Cup looks as safe for 1922 as though the name of the United States were already engraved on it. Only Tilden in all the world could have beaten Johnston today, and Tilden would have had to do some lively stepping.

Johnston was a victor in the doubles, too. He and James O. Anderson of Australia defeated Robert and Howard Kinsey, Pacific Coast champions, in the semi-final round, in two straight sets, 6—3, 7—5. Johnston stood head and shoulders above his three associates in this match. All he asked of his partner was a reasonable amount of steady hitting. Anderson made a good foil for the star and the Kinseys were excellent feeders. The real work was done by Johnston.

Women's Finals Today.

In the women's end of the tournament the doubles final was played, with the singles final between Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory and Miss Leslie Bancroft reserved for tomorrow afternoon. In the doubles, Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup and Miss Helen Wills won from Mrs. Mallory and Miss Phyllis Walsh by 11—9, 6—2. Besides the women's singles final, tomorrow afternoon's closing program includes the final in the men's doubles between Anderson and Johnston and Williams and Washburn and the final of the mixed doubles.

Today's program was embellished by a match in which a new doubles combination was tried out for the French Davis Cup team. Usually Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra have played together, but it was decided to see how the partnership of Cochet and Andre Gobert would work out. They will have to play steadier tennis than they did this afternoon against Samuel Hardy and Karl H. Behr of the West Side Tennis Club if they hope to win over Australia next week at Boston. Hardy and Behr, playing together for the first time, beat the Frenchmen, 6—4, 6—4.

Johnston's defeat of Williams was far more emphatic than was expected, in view of the showing of the two men in the matches that preceded the final. This was Johnston's first grass court tournament of the season, and he has been whipping his strokes into shape very gradually. He played only just well enough to win over Stanley Pearson, Hugh Kelleher (to whom he dropped a set), J. O. Anderson and Robert Kinsey, and it was hard to judge by these matches whether he was in championship form or not. Williams, on the other hand, has played a whirlwind game all week, obtaining brilliant victories over Andre Gobert and Francis T. Hunter, conqueror of Gerald Patterson. Under the circumstances, it looked like a close battle between the old rivals. But it never for a moment contained even a suggestion of closeness.

Johnston was master from the moment he sent over the net cord placement which opened the match to the out by Williams of a forcing shot which closed it 45 minutes later. Johnston's hard, steady stroking off the ground never gave Williams a chance to set himself for the fancy shots which so dazzled the galleries in his earlier matches.

The Californian's singing forehand drives sought the side lines and the corners at such speed that Williams never had time to control his returns. All he could do was try to get the ball back somehow or other, with the probability that it would go wide of the mark or offer Johnston a chance to come in and smother it.

The Californian was deadly on anything like a set-up, and his volleying was unsurpassable. There was nothing showy in his work; there never is. But his unrelenting hammering accomplished his purposes with all possible efficiency.

There was nothing wrong with Williams's game excepting the fact that Johnston would never allow him to play it. That may sound like a Hibernianism, but it states the case accurately. Williams knows how to deal with the speed alone. He proved that strikingly enough against Hunter. But when burning speed is united with such superb control as Johnston disclosed and is backed by unfaltering steadiness in covering court as well as by an intuitive knowledge of how to profit by every sign of weakness on the other side of the net, Williams is up against it. Anybody else in the world would be, too, excepting Tilden, and Tilden would have his troubles.

Johnston Plays Rival's Backhand.

Williams's backhand was Johnston's favorite target, and most of the Longwood star's errors were forced off his left side. Johnston's own backhand was more dependable, though he also erred most frequently on shots to his left. But he had it under good control most of the time and his forehand did the rest. He seldom advanced to the net until he had built himself a wide opening, while Williams strove desperately to break the barrier all the time. When Johnston went up, he was in position to end the points quickly. When Williams went up, he was usually passed or given the ball in such positions that his favorite circus shots were impossible.

Johnston won the first set in just ten minutes. Williams made only six points in it, three of them earned. Johnston scored only five placements, but made but three errors, all nets, while Williams had sixteen nets and outs wished upon him and committed three double faults. Johnston supplied the unplayable speed and Williams furnished the errors that were its inevitable complement. That was the story of the first set.

Williams has had love sets counted against him before, but seldom indeed has he faced such a crushing demonstration of superiority as he did today in that first session. He did better in the second set. Johnston was apparently testing himself in the opener. He wanted to see what he could do when he really threw the speed clutch into high. Once he had proved it to his own satisfaction he was content to relax a bit and give the other fellow something like the ghost of a chance.

Williams took advantage of this generosity to get as many as two games in the set, scoring 23 points to 34. Johnston made 7 earned points to 4 and 18 errors to 27. Williams had better luck at the net in this session, and his volleying might have won out against anybody else except the indomitable Californian, who persisted in digging up even the best placed volleys and keeping the ball in play until he had an opening himself. In the seventh game of this session Johnston made two placements and two service aces and Williams made three placements. Two errors by Williams decided it. Johnston was having little more difficulty in winning Williams's service than in taking his own.

The third set was the closest. Williams won one more game than in the second and scored only three fewer points. He led for the only time in the match after the third game, taking the second and third with Johnston at love. Johnston then forged into a lead of 3—2 and forced the points five times to deuce before he yielded the sixth on Williams's service. The Californian then won three games in a row for the match. He finished the eighth game by passing Williams on a drive which the latter thought was going out of court. Every point in the ninth and last game was decided on an error off a forcing shot. In the last rally of a deuce game, Johnston drove the ball to the extreme right corner of Williams baseline. The best Williams could do was to try a safety lob, but he landed the ball a yard beyond Johnston's baseline and the match was over.

Johnston Has 20 Earned Points.

Johnston's earned points in the three sets were 20 to 18 and his errors 41 to 71. There is the story of the match in a nutshell.

In the final of the women's doubles, Mrs. Mallory and Miss Walsh gave the winners a terrific tussle in the first set. Miss Bancroft and Miss Wills had a lead of 5 to 1, but then lost a good part of the accuracy and speed which had characterized their playing the early stages and their opponents deuced the set. Miss Bancroft and Miss Wills directed most of their shots at Miss Walsh and the latter sustained the attack well, her block volleys being frequently useful. All four players dropped their service at one time or another after the games had been deuced, but the final break was through Miss Walsh in the nineteenth. The winners shared the honors equally, both showing good pace and control whether in back court or at the net. After they had won the opener, they ran through the second set in a hurry.

In the men's doubles semi-final, Anderson played unevenly, while Johnston was a bulwark on defense and irresistible in his attack. Johnston needed but ordinary co-operation, in fact, to defeat one of the wisest doubles combinations in all tennis. The Kinseys played their game, but could not stand the constant shocks that Johnston subjected them to.

In the mixed doubles, the team of Mrs. Jay Sutton Bundy of California and Jean Borotra of France reached the final.

Patterson Not to Challenge Tilden for World's Title

Special to The New York Times.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 4.—Gerald L. Patterson of the Australian Davis Cup team stated today that he had decided to withdraw his suggestion of a challenge match with William T. Tilden 2d for the world's tennis title. Patterson won the title which the International Tennis Federation confers upon the Wimbledon tournament, and it was his idea originally not to claim the honor unless he could defeat America's foremost player. The United States does not officially recognize the Wimbledon tourney as constituting a world championship. Patterson has now decided, however, that inasmuch as he intends to play for the American championship, the winner of that tournament can rightly claim to be the world's champion, and a special challenge match would be superfluous. Patterson agrees with American opinion that a world's title bestowed without the competition of America's leading players is no title at all.

HISERT CARRIES OFF WESTERN JUNIOR TITLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Kenneth Hisert of the Olympia Fields Club, formerly district city caddy champion, today became Western junior golf champion by defeating the title-holder, Burton Mudge, of Exmoor Club, 4 and 2, in the eighteen-hole finals at Olympia Fields.

Hisert played steady golf in the championship, qualifying with 80 on the 6,454-yard course, whose par is 37, 37—74. In the first round he defeated Emerson Carey of Hutchinson, Kan., 4 and 2, shooting approximately 80 again. He had to do better in the second round and recorded a fine 76 to down J. E. Bixler of Lafayette, Ind., 2 up. He ran into stronger opposition in the semi-finals and was forced to shoot a par 37, 37—74 to overcome George Hackl, 3 and 2.

In the final Hisert was not so good, but Mudge, who had not scored better than 80 during the meet until he approximated a 74 this morning in winning the semi-final round from Ira Couch, 3 and 2, offered no serious obstacle except for a row of three 3s on the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth, cutting ahead of a lead of 5 up to 2, only to drop the next two and the match.

TEAM SAILS TODAY.

Spanish Davis Cup Players to Leave Cherbourg for America.

The Spanish Davis Cup team will sail on the Mauretania from Cherbourg today, according to a cablegram from José Mesalles of Barcelona, Secretary of the Spanish Lawn Tennis Association, to the United States Lawn Tennis Association. The team will include Manual and José Alonso and Count de Gomar.

The Spanish association has decided to follow the policy of the Australian and French associations in sending three-men teams and Edgardo Flaquer, who was named for the matches in Europe, will not make the trip to the United States.

CYCLOPS CAPTURES THE SALES STAKE

FIVE FIRST CHOICES WIN

Fair Phantom and Georgie Take Broadway and Mechanicville Handicaps Respectively.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Favorites compensated today for their bad showing on Wednesday, five first choices coming home in front. Players were happy and ranked the day as a bright one despite the black clouds and the showers which fell at intervals. The rain began before the first race and the track was muddy throughout the day's sport. Something of a novelty is promised for next Monday, it having been decided to run seven races on that day instead of the usual six.

R. L. Gerry's splendid colt, Cyclops, took the chief event of today's card and made his score four victories in a row. The triumph of Cyclops marks the first running of a new stake feature, the Saratoga Sales Stake for two-year-olds which were sold at public auction at Saratoga Springs during August, 1921. Each year the stake will be for youngsters auctioned here the preceding Summer. The black colt's success added $3,175 to Mr. Gerry's bank account and also brought him a $500 cup donated by the Fasig-Tipton Company, which conducted the sale at which the winner was bought.

Cyclops Well Supported.

Only three racers carried silks in the Sales Stake, Dustabout, from the Greentree Stable, and Dream Star, an added starter from Bud Fisher's string, measuring strides with Cyclops. The Gerry entrant was held at 1 to 2 in the betting and well supported.

The trio got off on their five and a half furlong dash after one minute at the post. Dream Star went out like a flash and opened a lead of four lengths. Cyclops, however, soon got into his stride and began coming up on the leader. On the turn the Gerry colt caught Dream Star and turned into the stretch half a length to the good and running strongly. Cyclops continued to increase the gap and at the wire he had three lengths advantage, winning with ease. Dustabout made a splendid stretch run, went by Dream Star and took place money by a length.

Kentucky scored in the final of the afternoon when Montfort Jones's silks were carried first to the wire by the good filly Fair Phantom, another odds-on favorite and held at 3 to 5. The event was the Broadway Handicap for three-year-old fillies at six furlongs.

Four went to the post, Fair Phantom being top weight with 117 pounds. There was nothing much to the race except Fair Phantom, which ran as if she outclassed her company. Scoble took her out into a lead of four lengths in the first quarter. Bee's Wax ran second throughout, while Roulette was third throughout, Prelude acting as rear guard for the entire race. Fair Phantom won galloping by three lengths, Bee's Wax having six lengths to the good over Roulette.

Georgie Comes to Life.

Georgie, owned by Mrs. Louise Viau, came to life with a bang in going to his liking and took the Mechanicville Handicap, the third race on the program. The distance was one mile. Although Georgie was the favorite, the good price of 7 to 2 was obtainable at post time.

Georgie and Blazes went out as pacemakers when the barrier rose and had a ding-dong battle of it for a quarter of a mile, after which Georgie opened a lead of two lengths. Blazes was running strongly, with a two-length advantage over the lightly-weighted Thimble, in at 100 pounds. The leaders held the same positions around the turn and into the stretch, although Thimble began to move up a bit on Blazes at the turn.

Straightened for home, Thomas put up a fine finish on Thimble and the filly came with a rush. McAtee on Georgie saw the danger and went hard at work. He kept the Viau racer going to win by half a length in a drive, Thimble outgamed Blazes for the place. The rest of the field was beaten off.

J. S. Cosden scored the first double of the meeting when Hallavill accounted for the steeplechase and Henna captured the fifth race, an event at five furlongs for maiden two-year-olds. Sea Scot, making the pace in the steeplechase, lost his rider at the fifteenth jump, while Tell Me fell at the ninth obstacle. Hallavill won off by himself, having thirty lengths lead over Mohican. Bryan O'Lynn was third, ten more lengths back. Henna took her event easily by two lengths, with J. E. Madden's Ethnea second and Major Belmont's Felside third.

Eighteen Maidens Face Barrier.

It looked as if a troop of cavalry was going to the post in the first race, eighteen facing the barrier. This five-furlong scamper for maiden two-year-old fillies was taken by A. J. Davis's Sequel, held at 15 to 1. Tassel was second and Sun Doll third.

Huge Offer for Whiskaway; Whitney Undecided on Sale

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Harry Payne Whitney has received a huge offer for Whiskaway, twice conqueror of Morvich and winner of the Kentucky Special for three-year-olds, from Charles W. Clark, son of former Senator W. A. Clark of Montana. Mr. Whitney would not state the amount of the offer, but it is understood to be $125,000.

"Mr. Clark made me the offer before he sailed for Europe a few days ago," said Mr. Whitney today. "He said that if I decided to accept I could wireless him at sea or cable him later and he would immediately forward a check. I have the offer under consideration and expect to decide in a day or two."

SARATOGA YEARLING SALE PROVES MAGNET

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 4.—The first of the year's local yearling sales were held tonight. They drew a remarkably large crowd and excellent prices were obtained.

The most important section of the sale was the offering of the first of the get of the great Omar Khayyam. Fifteen colts and fillies by this sire went under the hammer, the bidding for them being most spirited. The fifteen realized a total of $72,200, an average per head of $4,813, an excellent figure.

The highest price for an Omar Khayyam was paid by the Greentree Stable, which bought a brown colt out of Mary Maud for $9,500. The second highest price brought by one of the get of this stallion was $9,000, paid by the Oakridge Stable for a chestnut colt out of Bonnie Tess. The Quincy Stable bought a chestnut colt out of Prude for $8,500. Other buyers of Omar Khayyams were J. G. Milam, Mrs. S. D. Biddle, Walter J. Salmon and Bud Fisher.

The Omar Khayyams were sent to the block by A. B. Hancock. Twenty-five other colts and fillies were also sold during the evening. These were offerings from the Bosque Bonita stud, Keene and Black, Keene and Cleveland, and Charles Nuckols. The twenty-five added a total of $35,550 to the evening's sales, making a grand total for the first auction of $107,750, or an average for the entire forty yearlings sold of $2,694 a head.

Outside the get of Omar Khayyam, the highest price was brought for a chestnut colt by Escoba, Handsearra, offered by the Bosque Bonita stud. J. G. Milam paid $7,500 for this colt. Montford Jones paid $4,600 for a brown filly by the Finn-Shadfly, the sellers being Keene and Black.

FLAMINGOES LOSE IN CLOSE POLO MATCH

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 4.—In the third match for the Atlantic Cups, played this afternoon on the Point Judith polo field, the Flamingoes were beaten by the Meadow Brook Ramblers by a score of 10 to 9. These two teams are rated high in the handicap list, the Flamingoes at 17 and the Meadow Brook Ramblers at 16, the latter therefore being allowed one point under the handicap.

At the end of the third period the Flamingoes were in the lead, the score then being 6 to 4, but Meadow Brook, by playing excellent polo, scored six consecutive goals in the next three chukkers. The Flamingoes tried hard to overcome this lead, and, in fact, had a chance in the eighth period to even the score, but missed what looked like an easy shot for the goal.

FORT MIAMI PARK, Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Nedda, the handsome daughter of Atlantic Express and Pleasant Thought, made Grand Circuit harness horse history here this afternoon by trotting a faultless mile in 1:59¼ without pacemakers.

Over what Grand Circuit drivers said was the fastest track yet seen here, the little daughter of Atlantic Express finished under the whip by quarters: 0:29½, 0:59¼, 1:29½ and 1:59¼.

Harry Fleming, who rose from a sick bed to drive the exhibition mile, decided to discard the running mate because of Nedda's extreme nervousness, and for the same reason the mare will be utilized for exhibition purposes only, Fleming said.

The world's trotting record for mares is 1:58½, made by Lou Dillon, accompanied by two running mates, and the record established by Nedda without pacemakers is considered by harness horsemen a finer performance for this reason.

HORSES ARE MAGNET AT STAMFORD SHOW

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., Aug. 4.—Society turned out well this afternoon for the first day of the annual Stamford Horse Show on Sunaim Farm. The ground was soggy and a shower came up during the showing of the heavyweight polo class, but these drawbacks did not keep the attendance down or deaden the competition.

The saddle horses were so evenly matched as to be difficult to judge, the judges having to divide the classes in some cases. The keenest competition was in park type saddle horses class. The winner in the lightweight division of this class was Miss Janet Mackay's Cherokee Princess. J. A. P. Ramsdell of Newburg for the third time in succession won the blue in the novice saddle class, with an unnamed entry.

Miss Marie Leary of Greenwich was prominent in four classes with her piebald pony Screamer, which won the blue in the class for branded hacks or polo mounts to be shown under saddle.

An interesting feature of the jumps was the riding of Betty Berry, a 12-year-old Greenwich girl, who won with Fear Not in the class for jumpers not over fifteen hands and ridden by girls not over fourteen years.

Sally Lanier, aged 11, sister of the more famous Becky Lanier, was also prominent in the saddle today. Becky did not ride. Sally won with Fairfield in the class suitable to become hunters.

BIKE RACES TONIGHT.

Contests Scheduled for Last Night Will Be on Velodrome Card.

The card of bicycle races scheduled for last night at the New York Velodrome was postponed because of the rainstorm until tonight. Manager Johnny Chapman announced that the original program will be conducted without change. Two motor-paced races and as many match races between top-notch riders, are the chief attractions on the program. George Chapman, Charles Verkyn, Percy Lawrence, Clarence Carman and Branak Anderson will be rivals in a 25-mile motor-paced event which tops the program. The other test behind the motors is a 5-mile race for amateurs, in which the prospective starters are William Marino, Brooklyn cyclist, and John Patrick and Felix Patti, both of Newark.

STARS WILL SWIM TODAY.

Miss Ederle and Miss James to Meet in Brighton Pool.

Miss Gertrude Ederle, fifteen-year-old women's long-distance swimming star, will oppose Miss Hilda James of the Garston Swimming Club, Liverpool, England, in an invitation 300-meter swim in the Brighton Beach open-air pool. The race has been arranged as a return test between victor and vanquished in the recent Day Cup international distance race. In this event Miss Ederle gained prominence through an unexpected victory. Miss James, one of the favorites for the triumph, finished third.

BELYEA IS WINNER IN SENIOR SINGLES

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—Second day honors and thrills in the golden jubilee regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen went to a 45-year-old rowing veteran, Hilton A. Belyea, of the St. John (N. B.) Amateur Rowing Club, and to the blue-clad oarsmen of the Duluth Boat Club, Duluth, Minn., coached by Jim Ten Eyck, who also guides Syracuse University's rowing destinies.

Belyea emerged victorious in the association senior singles, which was the day's feature event, and the men from the West won two of the intermediate events and came within a few feet of capturing a third. Ten Eyck's intermediate four, after winning its event, came back in the senior international an hour later and gave one of the best exhibitions of the day, flashing across the finish line only five feet behind the Vesper four of Philadelphia after being more than a length behind at the half-way point.

So far as the distribution of honors went, the Quaker City oarsmen led with three victories to their credit in the eight events on the program. Duluth and New York had two each and Belyea accounted for Canada's sole share. The Philadelphians won the senior 150-pound doubles, the senior international four and the intermediate singles. Duluth's victories were gained in the intermediate four and eight-oared events, while New York took the senior single quarter-mile dash and the intermediate quadruple shells.

The meeting will close tomorrow with the senior doubles, four, quadruple and eight oared events, the intermediate doubles, the championship singles and two exhibitions, one a race between Fred Plaisted and James H. Reilly, and the other an appearance by Walter Hoover, Diamond Sculls winner, as outstanding features.

Belyea to Meet Zoha.

By winning the association singles today Belyea earned the right to meet Louis Zoha of the First Bohemian Boat Club, New York, and Paul V. Costello of the Vesper Boat Club, Philadelphia, in the championship singles for the Philadelphia Gold Challenge Cup, now held by Hoover. The Duluth star was expected to defend the laurels which he won last year, but canceled his entry for want of sufficient time to train for the event.

After his showing in the association event, which he won with ease from Edward McGuire of the Mutual Rowing Club, Buffalo, W. E. Garret Gilmore of the Bachelors' Barge Club, Philadelphia, and Russel Codman Jr. of the Union Boat Club, Boston, Belyea is now regarded as a possible winner.

Belyea not only won his heat handily, but in the final, after purposely holding back for a considerable part of the mile and a quarter journey, came with a smashing pace at the finish and had three lengths on McGuire, his nearest opponent.

In the intermediate four-oared event Ten Eyck's Duluth four gained a signal victory over the Vespers. At the start of the race the three inside crews, Duluth, the Nonparells of New York and the West Philadelphians, got into a jam that for a time threatened to result in a collision. In the mix-up the Vespers glided away to a lead of almost a boat length. When the Minnesota men got untangled from the others, however, they set sail and were only half a length back of the Vespers at the quarter-mile mark.

Duluth Four Starts Sprint.

Stroke Letourneau of the Western four then started a sprint and succeeded in partially closing up the gap, but the Vespers, ably stroked by Beckhard, answered the challenge. Four hundred yards from the finish the superior power of the Duluth quartet began to tell and the Blue forged steadily ahead. The Westerners proceeded to leave the Vespers, handicapped somewhat by erratic steering on the part of the bowman, Meddes, and when the shells passed the line Duluth was one length and a half ahead of the Red and Blue, with the Nonparells of New York several lengths in the wake of the Philadelphians.

FLYING CLOUD AND ISTALENA VICTORS

Special to The New York Times.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Aug. 4.—The steam and power vessels of the New York Yacht Club, on their way to the eastward on the club's annual cruise, reached here early today on the squadron run from Mattapoisett, where the fleet anchored last night. The racing sloops and schooners did not get in until evening, having been held at the mainland port by lack of wind.

The racing yachts, which were sailing for the Rear Commodore's Cups, and also for class prizes, did not cross the starting line, off Nye Ledge, until 1:25 P. M., although the first start was scheduled for 10:10 A. M.

In consequence of the delay, the Regatta Committee, on board Rear Commodore Vincent Astor's power yacht Nourmahal, signaled the short course, which took the yachts through Quicks Hole instead of around Hen and Chickens light vessel. The change cut the distance to be sailed from 39½ nautical miles to 24 miles.

Carroll B. Alker captured his second port-to-port trophy today when he won the Rear Commodore's Cup for sloops with his fifty-footer Istalena, defeating Vice Commodore George Nichols's Carolina by the narrow margin of eleven seconds. Nichols acquired a slight lead over Alker on the windward leg of the race from Mattapoisett to Quick's Hole, Carolina passing through the narrow strait with Istalena hanging on her quarter.

Cross Tide Plays Part.

After rounding Pasque Island it was a broad reach to the home mark, and there seemed no chance of Istalena overcoming the lead of the Nichols sloop. Just as the two yachts neared the line, however, they got into a nasty cross tide which caught Carolina aback.

Istalena was more on the outside of the Slue, and, escaping the full force of the water, nosed past Carolina right at the line.

The Rear Commodore's Cup for schooners was won by Winthrop Aldrich's 55-footer Flying Cloud, making a second cup also for Aldrich. Flying Cloud defeated both of the schooners which exceeded her in range, Commodore Vanderbilt's Vagrant and Carl Tucker's Ohonkara. She defeated Irolita, of her own rating, by sixteen minutes.

Flying Cloud likewise won the special cup for schooner classes D and E, defeating H. G. S. Noble's Class D 65-foot two-master Virginia by six minutes. Ohonkara, which rates 76 feet, won from Vagrant in the C and D special competition by twenty-seven seconds of corrected time.

The winner of the class prize for forty-foot sloops was again Squaw, property of John S. Lawrence of Marblehead. Holland Duell's Rowdy came in less than a minute and a half astern of Squaw.

Two of the Larchmont 38-footers are on the cruise, H. M. Cowperthwaite's Georgia and L. V. Lockwood's Maisie. Georgia secured a long lead over Maisie on the windward leg and kept the lead to the end.

Gheradi Davis's 30-foot sloop Alice, which is being sailed by Sherman Hoyt while Captain Davis puts in his time on the Regatta Committee, won the class prize for her group, with S. C. Pirie's Oriole second.

C. B. Keeler's Class N sloop Alice lost to Charles Smither's Zada in that class and Zada was in turn defeated by twelve seconds on corrected time by Stuyvesant Wainwright's Class P sloop Butterfly in an N and P special class race.

Queen Mab Fouled by Ohonkara.

A foul at the start of the schooners' race eliminated Nathaniel F. Ayres's Queen Mab, sailed by Robert Emmons 2d. Queen Mab, on the starboard tack, was raked aft by the bowsprit of the Tucker schooner, Ohonkara, on the port tack. Queen Mab is Marconi rigged on the after mast, and when the bowsprit of the Ohonkara raked the smaller schooner, Queen Mab's main boom was sprung and the huge sail brought down on the deck in a heap. Captain Emmons went back in a launch to Mattapoisett to order a new boom from Herreshoff, to be rushed here, so that Queen Mab may start in tomorrow's run to Provincetown. Queen Mab was brought into Vineyard Haven in tow of the club's chartered tug, Elmer A. Keeler, in command of Captain Bliss.

With the exception of Queen Mab, all of the schooners made a good start. The four fifty-foot sloops were sent away five minutes after the two-masters, and these were followed by the forty-footers, the Larchmont thirty-eight-footers and the New York Yacht Club "thirties."

The New York yachtsmen will make a harbor start here at 5 A. M. tomorrow on the longest squadron run of the entire cruise—seventy miles to Provincetown. It is probable that the smaller racing yachts will tow through Cape Cod Canal and make a special race from the eastern end of the canal across Cape Cod Bay to Provincetown. The larger racing yachts will sail for the Commodore's cups over a course which will take them across the dangerous shoals of Nantucket Sound and around Cape Cod.

Pitches Nineteenth Straight Victory

GIANTS RELINQUISH LEAD TO CARDINALS

McQUILLAN MAKES DEBUT

John McGraw pitched his two Boston refugees against the Cubs yesterday, but the new arrivals couldn't keep the Giants from slipping into second place, two points behind the flying Cardinals. Big Jack Scott did his stint in noble fashion; lame arm and all, he blanked the Cubs for eight straight innings and won the second game by 2 to 1. But Hugh McQuillan, who recently escaped from Boston after McGraw had paid a ransom said to consist of six figures, wasn't quite equal to the emergency and lost the first game in the ninth, 3 to 2.

An even break isn't exactly a calamity, but yesterday it was not quite enough. The Cardinals lunched lightly again on the frail Phillies and barely moved into first place, the margin being the difference between .600 and .602.

However, there was no gloom at the Polo Grounds. Let the Cardinals have the front position for the present if they want it. If Scott twirls many more games like yesterday's and if McQuillan can avoid ninth-inning disasters after pitching shutout ball for eight frames, and if Nehf and Douglas and Ryan and Jess Barnes keep going in winning form—well, John Joseph McGraw will have a better pitching staff than he has had in many years.

It wasn't the highly-touted and expensive McQuillan who tickled the crowd of 20,000 yesterday. It was Scott, making his big comeback, his big attempt to win his way back into fast company. Pat Moran will be tickled silly when he hears the news. Pat got Scott last Winter for Larry Kopf and Richard de Marquis de Marquard. Then the new pitcher developed a bad arm and finally was released. He found haven in New York, where all ball players ultimately come, worked his arm and took treatment for it and pitched a couple of good innings last Tuesday against the Pirates. Yesterday morning McGraw signed him to a contract, and yesterday afternoon Scott beat Grover Cleveland Alexander in a pitching battle, holding the Cubs to four hits and no runs in eight innings and fanning five of them.

Scott's Pitching Pleases.

The situation wasn't lost on the fans, and they gave Scott a rousing hand in every inning. Jack was in deadly earnest. He stormed at the umpires a bit more than usual because each pitch meant more to him than to most pitchers. He laid the ball over with plenty of steam and had a sharp break on his curves. His arm looked supple and easy, the more so as the game got older.

However, Scotty worked not a whit harder than McQuillan, who was getting his first chance as a Giant before a big crowd. Mac pitched so hard that he was tired and stale by the time the ninth inning rolled around. With the Giants ahead, 2 to 0, Hack Miller opened the frame with a single. Three walks followed, forcing over one run. McQuillan was yanked and Claude Jonnard came on to salvage something. A long fly scored the tying run and a wild pitch the winning tally.

McQuillan was hit hard, for all of his row of ciphers on the scoreboard. In each of the first six innings the first Chicago batter hit safely. One was a triple, and still the Cubs didn't score, partly because McQuillan was cool and earnest, partly because the Giants flashed some championship fielding behind their new colleague.

Frankie Frisch stopped one hefty rally with as good a catch as this flashy player has ever made. Krug lined a wicked, low smash near second base and Frank got it by diving forward, clutching the ball at his ankles and then falling flat on his nose. It was child's play to double a runner off second base, retiring the side.

Double plays, fast stops and throws, great catches—all these kept McQuillan's slate clean for eight innings. The Giants had only two runs against Tony Kaufmann. Young singled to right in the second and George Kelly stabbed a high fly into the left field bleachers. This pair of runs looked big, very big, until the ninth. Then Miller singled and Krug filed out. McQuillan walked O'Farrell and bestowed the same largess on Callaghan, who batted for Kaufmann. Hugh's control was gone for the day. He passed Heathcote with the bases already full, and Miller was forced over the plate.

Jonnard Comes In.

There was still a dim hope that something might be saved, and Jonnard came in to see what could be done. The tying run was whisked over on Hollocher's fly to Stengel, Casey making a futile fling to the plate when he could have held Callaghan at second. With Terry up, Jonnard unleashed an untimely wild pitch, opening the gate to the winning run. Then Terry rolled out to Bancroft for the third out.

In the New York half, with Alex the Great pitching, Stengel was safe on Grimes's error, and Earl Smith, batting for Snyder, walked. Lee King, the latest Giant, ran for the Silent One. Cunningham, hitting for Jonnard, bunted and Grimes snapped the ball up and threw to third. Quigley, casting an astigmatic eye in that direction, said Stengel was out, and the Giants protested to the high heavens. Bancroft forced Cunningham and stole second, but Groh, instead of driving in the two runs with a single, forced Bancroft at third on a tap to Krug.

Alexander let the Giants have only six hits in the second tilt, but the champs were sparing and frugal in their use of the allotment. Groh singled with one out in the fourth and was forced by Frisch. Then Irish Meusel whaled a long triple to the left centre fence and Frank trotted home. The triple manufacturer was left stranded on third when Quigley called Young out on strikes.

In the next inning another modest assault yielded a second run, which was all Scott asked for the afternoon. Kelly shot a single to right and splashed home all the way from first when Silent Smith doubled against a board in the right field barrier. Friberg juggled the ball long enough for Kel to scamper in unscathed.

The Cubs woke up in the ninth and ruined Scott's shutout. Heathcote started ominously by singling against Kelly's glove. Hollocher bounded a hit over Frisch, sending the front man to third. He scored while Frisch, Bancroft and Kelly were operating a double play, and Slugger Grimes then singled.

But Scott bore down hard and stopped Friberg on a high pop to Smith.

There was much too much wrangling over the umpiring. Every few minutes Hughey Jennings was running out to remind Quigley that he was blind in one eye and had a cataract in the other. Scott kicked like two steers, and among the other players there was much shrugging, lifting of eyebrows, appeals to the sky above and impolite laughter. John McGraw is said to have castigated Quigley severely under the stand between games. All in all, it was no place for persons with defective vision.

'Curves and Bingles

McQuillan had the fans in a frenzy with his narrow escapes from tight situations. It almost seemed that Hugh was filling up the bases just to enjoy the fun of foiling the enemy.

Probably he figured that, having escaped from Boston, he could get out of any hole.

A shut-out would have been a nice sort of debut for Mac. He worked too hard for his own good.

Grimes tripled to open the sixth, and Friberg walked. Then big Miller hit to Frisch, who flung to Bancroft and forced Friberg. Grimes, seeing this, broke for the plate, but Banny crossed him, and threw to Snyder for a run-down between stations.

O'Farrell and Heathcote singled with one out in the third, but Hollocher rolled to Kelly and Stengel slipped in for Terry's brief fly. In the fifth the first two men hit safely, but Heathcote bunted at McQuillan, who nailed the head man at third base. Hollocher lined to Young. Terry popped up, and McQuillan was out of it.

Hollocher almost scored in the fourth inning of the later game. On a double steal Bancroft made a low return throw to the plate, but Smith blocked the runner away and plastered the ball on him.

In the same game Young made a sprinting catch of Krug's fly to short right and doubled Miller at first. Miller, by the way, has improved several hundred per cent. in his fielding. He plays ground balls adeptly.

SENATORS TRIUMPH AGAIN.

Defeat the White Sox for Third Consecutive Time by 3 to 2.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Washington defeated the White Sox for the third consecutive time here today, 3 to 2. Zachary held the White Sox to two hits in the first eight innings, during which time he did not permit a runner to reach second base. He was hit safely three times in the ninth for Chicago's only runs. Two of the Senators' runs were earned off Robertson and the third, scored in the ninth, was due to a wild throw to first by Mulligan.

RUTH'S HOME RUN WINS FOR YANKEES

MURRAY DRIVEN FROM BOX

Jones Relieves Youngster in Fifth Inning—Morton and Mails Also Chased to Cover.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 4.—The Yankees again triumphed over the Indians here this afternoon for the third time in as many games. The score was 7 to 5. Babe Ruth came through with another home run. In the seventh inning, with Joe Dugan on first base, Ruth drove the ball over the high right field screen. This wallop gave the Yankees two runs, which proved to be the winning margin. The drive was made off Duster Mails. It was the Babe's nineteenth homer of the season.

This game was a loosely played affair. The Yankees made four errors, and the Indians three. Two of the New York errors resulted in runs, while the misplays of the home team aided the Hugmen in their tours of the bases. Although the team made errors, they also hit. The Yankees made a dozen safe wallops and the Indians connected for thirteen. The Yankees used two pitchers and the Indians employed three.

The game opened with young George Murray and Guy Morton opposing each other. Both men lacked control and were constantly in trouble. Finally, in the third inning, Morton walked out of the game, to be joined by Murray in the middle of the fifth. Mails pitched for the Indians after Morton left and Duster in turn gave way to Uhle. Sam Jones finished for New York.

Ruth Stars in Field.

With all its hitting and fumbling, the game was not devoid of sensational spots. Ruth made two fine catches in the fifth inning and saved Murray from being scored upon. Babe also made a throw which held Sewell on second base when Larry Gardner walloped to right field. Gardner, incidentally, had quite a day with the bat, getting four drives.

The Yankees, by stupid base running, discounted a chance to score in the first inning. Witt walked but was nipped off first base. Dugan was then hit by a pitched ball, but tried to go to second on a short passed ball and was out. Ruth walked, and Pipp then ended the inning with a roller to Morton.

The scoring operations of the Yankees began in the second inning. Schang beat out a slow tap to Wambsganss, and Meusel hit a two-bagger to left, Schang taking third. Ward filed to Wood, Schang scoring after the catch. Meusel took third on the throw to the plate and, when Scott beat out a terrific grounder to Wambsganss, Meusel tallied.

Three runs fell to the Yankees in the third inning. Dugan opened up on Morton with a single to left. Ruth hit to McInnis, who threw to Sewell trying to force Dugan. Joe bumped Sewell as the latter caught the ball and when the pellet fell to earth both men were safe. Pipp singled, scoring Dugan, and after Morton pitched one ball to Schang, Mails entered the game. Schang raised a sacrifice fly to Speaker, scoring Ruth. Pipp took second on the throw and went to third when Mails cut loose with a wild pitch. Meusel walked and Ward rolled to Sewell, who fumbled, and all were safe, Pipp scoring.

Indians Start Early.

While all this was going on, however, the Indians were not idle. Sewell opened the second inning with a single to left, and Gardner hit to right, Ruth's great throw holding Sewell on second. McInnis hit into a double play, Murray to Scott to Pipp, Sewell taking third. When Ward fumbled Morton's grounder, Sewell scored.

In the fifth inning the Indians put Murray out of action and scored two runs. Wambsganss and Speaker drew passes. Ruth retired Wood and Sewell by fine leaping catches. Gardner then doubled, scoring Wambsganss and Speaker.

In the sixth a double by O'Neill, a sacrifice bunt by Mails and a muff of Meusel's throw on Jamieson's long fly gave the Indians a run. In the ninth McInnis's triple to centre, followed by Dugan's careless handling of Scott's throw, gave the Indians another run. In the seventh, as noted before, Ruth got his home run with Dugan on base.

BABE ADAMS BEATS BOSTON BRAVES, 3-0

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Old Man Babe Adams of the Pittsburgh Pirates shut out the Boston Braves, 3 to 0, here today, allowing but three hits in eight innings. A thunderstorm broke in the last of the ninth, after Powell had made a home run and Christenbury's single and Holke's double had put men on second and third with two out. After the customary wait Umpire McCormick decided the game could not be continued, making the official score 3 to 0, the game reverting to even innings, and Powell's home run being wiped off the records.

REDS ROB ROBINS IN NINTH INNING

A 6 to 5 ball game was stolen from the Robins at Ebbets Field yesterday, Fonseca, Pinelli and Caveney of the Cincinnati Reds being the guilty parties. Uncle Wilbert Robinson had the ball game closely guarded by the entire Brooklyn team when the theft occurred. This was in the ninth inning. The Robins were leading at the time, 5 to 4, due to a magnificent rally in the eighth.

When the Reds came into bat Fonseca, Pinelli and Caveney were seen to be plotting in the shadow of the visitors' bench. Their actions, however, must have escaped the notice of Dutch Ruether, who was doing the pitching for the Robins. At least the big left-hander gave no indication of knowing that disaster was stalking on his heels. Rube Bressler, batting in place of Harper, was retired on a long fly to Zach Wheat. Then Fonseca drove a sharp single to right field. Hargrave, who had no hand in the plot, forced Fonseca at second. Pinelli followed this out with a single to Olson in deep short and then up came Caveney, the major villain.

He slashed a double through Zach Wheat in left field, Neale, who ran for Hargrave, and Pinelli scoring the tying and winning runs and completing the daylight robbery.

It was a hard game for Brooklyn and the unfortunate Ruether to lose, although the Reds led during the greater part of the contest. The invaders established a margin in the fifth inning, due to home runs into the left field bleachers by Pat Duncan and Bubbles Hargrave. Duncan was the first man to face Ruether, and his terrific blow apparently took some of the confidence out of Dutch, for, after Harper had filed to Wheat, Fonseca singled and Hargrave smashed his circuit blow over the same route that Duncan's had taken.

Reds Jump Into Lead.

The Reds jumped off with a run in the first inning and would have had about four had it not been for stupid base running. George Burns popped out to Ray Schmandt, but old Jake Daubert was safe on Olson's fumble. Duncan sent Jake to third with a single to centre and Harper doubled to right, scoring Daubert. Fonseca was retired on a smash to third base, and Schmandt almost had Harper off second on a toss to Olson, but the Reds' right fielder scrambled back to the bag in safety. Duncan then started for home, but instead of going through with it turned and fled back to third when Olson shot the ball to DeBerry. Hank might have had Jake off third, but instead threw the ball against his ribs, and after all this rushing around all hands were safe and the situation was just where it had been when High threw out Fonseca. Then Ruether purposely passed Hargrave and proved the soundness of his judgment by forcing Pinelli to pop to Ivy Olson.

On two hits, two errors and a base on balls the Reds had scored one run. The Robins turned right around and scored two in their half of the inning on three hits, one error and a fielder's choice.

Olson led off with a fly to Never-Miss George Burns. Jimmy Johnston, however, singled to right. Tommy Griffith singled to centre and Johnston scooted around to third. Captain Zach Wheat pumped a single into centre field, scoring Johnston and sending Griffith to third. Myers hit in front of the plate and Couch tossed to Hargrave to head off Griffith, who was speeding to the pay-off station. Tommy would have been an easy out but Hargrave dropped the ball and the runner got back to third safely. This filled the bases for Schmandt, but the big first baseman's best was a sacrifice fly to Burns which scored Griffith. High also filed out to Burns, ending the inning.

The Robins couldn't score off Couch again until the eighth. In the meantime the Reds had gotten their three counters in the fifth and apparently established a winning margin.

Griffith's Homer Ties Score.

Ruether filed out to Caveney in the eighth and Olson filed to Burns. Things looked far from rosy for the Brooklyn cause, but Johnston singled and Tommy Griffith hit a homer over the right field wall, which tied the score. Moran derricked Couch and inserted Keck, but the Robins went on to take their short-lived lead on a double by Wheat and Hy Myers's triple.

Uncle Robbie executed a timid little dance of joy when this last run went over; little did he know that a few minutes later he was to be the victim of a dark but bloodless crime.

WAIVER ROUTE PROBABLE.

Johnson Favors This Way to Stop Late Sales of Players.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The waiver route will probably be made the only method by which interleague changes of players can be effected after the season is under way, according to B. B. Johnson, league President, when the American League officials meet next December. Johnson conferred with St. Louis American officials here yesterday. He declined to discuss the latest Boston-New York deal.

While the subject of the discussion here was not announced, it is known that Johnson discussed general matters in connection with arrangements for a world's series, such as increasing the seating capacity at Sportsman's Park. At present seats can be provided for 18,000, to which approximately 7,500 seats could be added by building extensions.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 4.—The recent appointment of Al Demaree as manager of the Portland Baseball Club of the Pacific Coast League is being investigated by Commissioner Landis, it became known here today.

The commissioner was said to have telegraphed the Denver club for copies of all telegraphic correspondence relative to the sale of Demaree, and also to have asked Demaree shortly after he took over managership of the team why he had not reported to Denver in the Spring.

BALTIMORE WINS WITHOUT BENTLEY

Star First Baseman Quits Team, but Orioles Defeat the Bears by 4 to 3.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 4.—Without the services of their star first baseman, Jack Bentley, hailed as the Babe Ruth of the International League, who quit the team today and went to his home in Baltimore, the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Newark Bears here today in the first tilt of a six-game series by the score of 4 to 3.

It is said that Bentley left the team because he objected to some criticism recently hurled at him by Baltimore newspapers. This excuse appears to have little strength and it is believed that the big Oriole star had a run-in with Manager Jack Dunn.

The Bears outhit the visitors 13 to 6. But they exhibited a poor brand of base running and their hits were not forthcoming in the pinches.

The Birds got off to a flying start, scoring one run in the initial session with an error paving the way. In the second frame three hits, one a triple by Boley, and another a double by Porter, gave the visitors two more tallies. Walsh's base on ball, his steal of second and Boley's single gave the Orioles their fourth run in the eighth.

Then the Bears came to life in that same frame and made three tallies. In this session they pounded out five hits, one of which was a double by Barnhardt. Their hopes of tying things up in the ninth were shattered when Frank, the Baltimore hurler, tightened up and retired the side in order.

SKEETERS SHUT OUT ACES.

A sharp pitching duel between Bobby Tecarr of the Jersey City Skeeters and Martin of the Reading Aces resulted in a victory for the former yesterday afternoon at Jersey City, by the score of 2 to 0. The work of the rival pitchers was so effective that neither side was able to score until the Jersey City batters got going in the seventh.

McCarren drove a sharp liner to left. Killinger beat out a bunt toward first. Martin made a wide toss and McCarren went to third and Killinger to second. Tommy Ray lifted a long fly to right, scoring Zitman, who ran for McCarren.

In the eighth Donelson drove a two-bagger to left, Graveson sacrificed him along to third. Holt walked and Harry Damrau, who substituted for McCarren at third, singled to centre, scoring Donelson.

O'CONNOR DENIES THAT HE HAS SECURED BOUTS

Says He Can Take No Steps Until Newly Formed Boxing Club Is Licensed.

No definite steps have been taken by John M. O'Connor, President of the Republic A. C., toward signing any important ring bouts or securing the services of a matchmaker for the new organization which has applied for a license to conduct bouts at the Polo Grounds. O'Connor yesterday denied reports that he had proffered the berth of Polo Grounds matchmaker to Tom O'Rourke, veteran deputy of the State Athletic Commission. At the same time O'Connor denied another report which was to the effect that Jack Curley, formerly identified with the promotion of wrestling bouts, was directly associated with the new organization.

"Reports that Mr. O'Rourke has been engaged as matchmaker for the Republic A. C. are premature, to say the least," said O'Connor. "There is no truth either in the reports that Jack Curley is associated with me or will act as matchmaker. I must also deny reports that I have Harry Wills signed to box Jack Dempsey for me. This report is exaggerated. The only time I ever saw Paddy Mullins was a few weeks ago, when he visited me and said he was ready to allow Wills to fight Dempsey at the Polo Grounds at any time. He has signed nothing for me nor has he definitely agreed to anything for me. As a matter of fact, I have not made him a proposition. I cannot make Mullins or any other manager a proposition until I secure my license. The commission has not yet acted upon my application, so talk of Polo Grounds matches and matchmakers is premature."

GOLDSTEIN ISSUES DEFI.

Another name has been added to the list of challengers for the world's bantamweight championship now held by Joe Lynch of the west side. It was announced yesterday that Willie Lewis, manager of Abe Goldstein, Harlem boxer, has issued a challenge to the champion through the New York State Athletic Commission. The challenge was accompanied by the customary forfeit of $2,500, it was said.

FAVORITES BEATEN ON SHAWNEE LINKS

Special to The New York Times.

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa., Aug. 4.—Matches of a one-sided nature and others carried to extra holes were interspersed during the first and second rounds of the invitation golf tournament at the Shawnee Country Club today. R. S. Worthington and Alex Coles, two local favorites and winners here in the past, were eliminated, as were E. W. Haley of Essex County and Ray Lambert of Trenton, the pair who tied yesterday for the medal.

The survivors today were Jack Davison, of the Home Club; E. T. Blair of the Kahkwa Club; Dr. J. W. Robb of Merion and Spencer Jones of Plymouth. They will meet as named in the semi-finals.

The longest match resulted from the meeting in the first round of Worthington and Dr. Robb. They were all even at the home hole, whereupon they started over again, halving the first two, but Robb brought the affair to a close with a "bird" 4 at the long third.

Davison, to defeat Haley in the morning, had to cut loose at a stiff pace, coming back in 36. He had the match won at the sixteenth. Later on he defeated Coles, thanks to another strong finish, Davison getting the last three holes in 4, 4, 3 and winning by 1 up.

In winning his second-round tilt Jones struck a brilliant streak in the afternoon, coming back in 34 against F. W. Tatler of Trenton. The first named won by 2 and 1.

First Sixteenth, First Round—Alex Coles, Shawnee, defeated R. C. Maxwell, Trenton, 5 and 4; Jack Davison, Shawnee, defeated E. W. Haley, Essex County Cricket Club, 4 and 3; E. T. PRESIDENT'S CUP WON BY PARTRIDGE

Bedford Golfer Defeats Fairchild in Final Round at Wyantenuck.

Special to The New York Times.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Aug. 4.—Dwight Partridge of Bedford, winner of the low-score medal in the qualifying round of the annual invitation tournament of the Wyantenuck Country Club, today captured the President's Cup by defeating D. Fairchild of Wannamoisett in the final round.

Partridge's golf had been consistently good throughout the tournament, but when Fairchild defeated Hamilton Kerr easily in the morning semi-final by a burst of sensational playing, the Bedford player's friends were a bit anxious as to the outcome of the final. In the morning Fairchild played the eleven holes which the match lasted in 40, four strokes under par, with four "birdies." Fairchild could not keep up this pace in the final, but had his rival three down in the first six holes, Partridge overplaying repeatedly into trouble. Partridge then took a turn at the sensational, and squared the match on the tenth. Coming in both played splendidly, but Partridge took the cup on the seventeenth, 2 up and 1 to play.

The summary:

President's Cup—Semi-final Round—D. Fairchild, Wannamoisett, defeated Hamilton Kerr, Wyantenuck, 8 up and 7 to play; Dwight Partridge defeated S. B. Hollander, Knollwood, 4 and 3.

Final Round—Partridge defeated Fairchild, 2 and 1.

Berkshire Inn Cup—Semi-finals—Second Sixteen—A. D. Paxon, Echo Lake, defeated W. W. Herrick, Sharon, 3 and 1; A. C. Pratt, Essex County, defeated E. E. Morris, Hartford, 2 and 1.

Third Sixteen—Semi-Final Round—E. B. Covington, Woodland, defeated Raymond, 7 and 5; J. D. Peters, Wyantenuck, defeated Baker, 2 and 1.

CUP MATCH DATE CHANGED.

International Golf Competition Will Be Played on Aug. 28.

The international golf match for the Walker Cup between teams of American and British players will be held Aug. 28 instead of Aug. 30, it was definitely learned yesterday from the United States Golf Association.

The British players probably will arrive here Tuesday on the Carmania and will be met by an official committee headed by President J. Frederic Byers of the American association.

JOHNSON IN RING TONIGHT.

Boxes Sailor Maxted in Feature at Queensboro A. C.—Other Bouts.

Sailor Tom Maxted, Newark's destroyer of heavyweight championship dreams, will attempt to discourage the title ambitions of Floyd Johnson, California heavyweight, in one of the two twelve-round bouts which will be held at the Queensboro A. C., Long Island City, this evening. It was Maxted who battered the highly touted Tarzan Larkin into submission and spoiled that young man's dreams of a bout against Jack Dempsey.

Jimmy Kelly of the Bronx and Tony Lyons, east side welterweight, will be rivals this evening in the stellar twelve-round bout at the Commonwealth Sporting Club. The contest is expected to furnish plenty of action, for both boxers are hard hitters and are reported in shape. Jimmy Carroll, promising west side lightweight, will tackle Jack Bernstein of Harlem. In the event that he defeats Bernstein, Carroll is promised a match against either Johnny Shugrue or Willie Jackson.

The principal bout of twelve rounds this evening at the Ridgewood Grove S. C., Brooklyn, will be between Al Boyle and Sammy Good. Henry Mick and Frankie Ritchie are slated for the ten-round semi-final.

LEONARD IN FINE FETTLE FOR BOUT

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Aug. 4.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, is in fine fettle on the eve of his battle tomorrow afternoon against [illegible] Hammer, aggressive Chicago lightweight. The boxers are scheduled for a ten-round, no-decision clash in [illegible] Fitzsimmons's arena here. The contest will be the fourth for the titleholder within the period of forty days. His previous opponents, in order, were [illegible] Britton, world's welterweight champion; Rocky Kansas, Buffalo lightweight, and Lew Tendler, Philadelphia's dangerous contender for the championship. According to plans of Promoter Fitzsimmons, the men will enter the ring at 4:30, standard time. The preliminary is scheduled for [illegible] standard time. Two six-round bouts and an eight-round contest will precede the main attraction.

Leonard is not making the lightweight limit for the approaching bout. The contest has been arranged at catch weights. The champion's title will be involved only if Hammer gets under the 135-pound lightweight notch. Then the Chicagoan can win the championship only through knocking out Leonard or on a foul by the champion.

The bout has aroused unusual interest. The hard contest Leonard encountered with Tendler has been accepted here as improving Hammer's chances for victory.

Leonard has engaged in little training work since arriving here early in the week. The cut over his right eye has prevented him from sparring. The titleholder was in superb condition for his recent scrap with Tendler and devoted his attention to light gymnasium work as the only requirement in maintaining his keen boxing edge. Leonard is a favorite in what betting the bout has produced. Hammer backers, however, are getting odds of 3 to 1 for their money.

Hammer has just completed an intensive period of training. The Chicagoan is facing his second battle with Leonard. The pair clashed six years ago, when Leonard took the title from Welsh. On that occasion Hammer succumbed to Leonard's blows in twelve rounds. The Chicago veteran is said to be in better condition today than ever before and is confident he can make Leonard extend himself tomorrow.

KAFES LEADS FIELD AT LANCASTER TRAPS

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 4.—E. B. Kafes, a twenty-one-year-old Trenton, N. J., youth, today won the Eastern Zone preliminary handicap event over a field of 135 contestants over the local traps. C. W. Jordan, Delaware City, and G. S. McCarty, Newfield, N. J., tied Kafes with scores of 94, but failed in the shoot-off.

E. B. Dupont of Greenville won the zone Class A championship by breaking 100 straight targets at sixteen yards. George Baldwin of West Chester and Steve Crothers of Philadelphia tied for second with 99.

George S. McCarty, Newfield, N. J., finished the 400 16-yard targets event with the highest score, 391. E. [illegible] of Paterson, N. J., was high gun for this event in Class B, with 372. Captain Simonton of Wilmington, Del., topped Class C with 366, and V. A. [illegible] of Buffalo, N. Y., Class D, was high with 327.

The five-man team to represent the Eastern zone in the grand American handicap at Atlantic City was selected today and includes M. S. Haines, Mount Holly, N. J.; G. S. McCarty, Newfield, N. J.; E. B. Dupont, Greenville; Jay Clark, Worcester, Mass., and W. J. Elliott, Coatesville, Pa.

STIRRING UP THE GOVERNORS.

The various State Governors replied to the President's appeal two weeks ago with many handsome sentiments. But these produced no coal. The growing shortage, however, is driving them to do something. If the renewed efforts to bring about a settlement between the miners and the operators do not succeed, next week, the country is certain to see a marked exertion of the power of the several State Governments. Already a number of Governors are unlimbering for action.

The Governor of Minnesota, where the fear of a Winter famine of coal is acute, seems to have a queer notion of the remedy. If the railroads do not promptly begin hauling coal to the Northwest, he would have the Federal Government take them over. How the coal could be hauled, even under a Federal operation of the railroads, if it was not mined, Governor PREUS omits to state. Washington is doing all it can to apportion fairly the coal that is mined, but is doing it in a way to show that every State is expected to do its duty. Thus it has notified the State Fuel Director of Illinois that only a limited amount of coal will be sent to that State from the outside. Illinois has its own ample coal supply. If the strike continues, the State authorities will be negligent if they do not see to it that Illinois coal is mined for Illinois needs. Fine words about law and order and the dignity of the State will not suffice much longer. The Governors will have to get busy and begin to dig coal.

THE TARIFF MAZE.

Orations, recriminations, negotiations, conversations: who can avoid the yoke of rhyme as he hears the Republican, Democratic and insurgent Senators rehearsing that grand sweet song, the McCumber Tariff bill? Shall there be a limit to each gifted soloist's effort? On what day shall this sublime concert close? Mr. LENROOT is ready to limit debate; has proposed a ten-minute-an-amendment limit after Aug. 11. Mr. LODGE indignantly waved away the proposal. Mr. LENROOT is justified in not consenting to agree to a final vote until all the important amendments are disposed of. But why does he accuse the Democrats of seeking the political advantage of having the new law—if it becomes a law—go to the country just before the election?

Here is Senator POMERENE, for instance, seeking not speed but deliberation. He says that more time should be allowed for "sugar, hides, potash and other controverted matters." The duty on hides and boots and shoes will touch everybody's pockets. It is indefensible. The House rose against it. There should be sufficient time for consideration of these and other duties about as intolerable. If Democratic Senators are eager to have this bill passed, it must be because they are homesick. The greatest political gain they could hope for would be the failure of Congress to pass the bill before the elections. Even of this Congress perhaps that supreme confession of legislative impotence is not to be expected.

Two opposite charges are brought against the Democratic Senators. For a long time they were filibustering wickedly to delay the progress of the sage and salutary measure. Now they are as wickedly seeking to send it through the Senate. If they are looking merely to partisan advantage, every additional day brings out some new folly or injustice or extortion in this mosaic of jobs. The Republicans of the Finance Committee are responsible for most of the time that has been wasted in the discussion of the bill. They brought in an interminable list of amendments. They have to keep making them over. "There are "200 committee amendments now "pending," cries the Indiana WATSON; "the Finance Committee can-"not keep more than a day ahead "of the Senate in effecting changes." To whom Mr. ROBINSON of Arkansas makes this fatal answer:

The policy of the committee should have been determined before the bill was reported. It shows the committee wants to retreat when the amendments attacked are proved to be vicious.

SECOND THOUGHTS ABOUT WAR DEBTS.

That Lord BALFOUR'S note about war debts was maladroit is sufficiently shown by the efforts of the British Government to correct the wrong impression which it made. Mr. LLOYD GEORGE was astonished, or professed to be, at the way in which it had been "misunderstood" in the United States. To clinch the matter, the Chancellor of the Exchequer was put up to affirm in the roundest fashion that Great Britain fully expected to meet all her obligations to the Government of the United States. If the Balfour note seemed to imply otherwise, the first inferences from it are thus officially repudiated.

Now, language may be given to diplomatists to conceal their thought, but certainly not to pervert it. Lord BALFOUR might be defended for writing ambiguously, but not for writing misleadingly. Although certain parts of his note could be interpreted as Mr. LLOYD GEORGE now explains them, there were other parts which had a distinctly different implication. The whole tenor was a subtle but not hidden insinuation that the United States was too exigent a creditor, and was the sole obstacle to such a large-minded and comprehensive settlement of the war-debt problem as the British would desire if it were in their power. It was this impalpable air of moral superiority which many Englishmen were quick to recognize as the chief "blunder" of the Balfour note.

In the Prime Minister's rhetorical defense and explanation, he made great play with the need of always remembering "the British taxpayer." In the name of that long-suffering beast of burden, he scored an easy Parliamentary triumph over Mr. ASQUITH. But he seemed to be unaware that he was putting a weapon into the hands of the American Government. There is also an American taxpayer who has to be consulted. Secretary MELLON might regretfully send word to the British Chancellor of the Exchequer that he would be delighted to cancel the British debt, were it not for the fact that the American taxpayer, who is now paying the interest on it, would not permit him to do so. That is undoubtedly the state of the case at the present time.

There seems now no alternative to a long-term funding of the debts owed by Great Britain to the United States. But the day may come when the American Government will wish to make some other use of those debts than to require their payment. It will not cancel them merely out of good nature. It will surely demand a quid pro quo. That may be in the nature of satisfactory international guarantees of economic stability and settled peace. In a true sense, America holds her foreign debt for ultimate use in achieving great ends for the benefit of the whole world. Some time in the future the road to that goal may seem more open than it does today. Meanwhile, the debts remain a binding obligation, though enlightened American opinion is more and more inclined to think of them as a great asset and makeweight in the adjustments between the nations that are yet to come.

MARRIAGE NO LOTTERY.

The little drama of some two hundred "picture" brides from Greece meeting their Greco-American husbands at the steamship landing is calculated to make Americans open their eyes—and perhaps also their minds. Since those distant days when maidens from London and Plymouth crossed the main to Virginia and matrimony, unheralded even by photographs, this has been the land of romance before marriage. To these young women from Hellas matrimony is a sober and a serious undertaking. The photograph is a matter of courtesy and of convenience in identification at the pier, not at all of feminine allure. The match is arranged by the parents in the Continental manner, and is quite literally a contract, involving all pertinent details of well-ordered living. "The women of Greece," says an agent of the Travelers' Aid Society, "are brought "up with the idea of being wives and "mothers. They find nothing strange "in marrying a man they have never "seen before." Marriage is more important than the man.

Even in romance-loving America there are those who of late have inclined to this belief. It has been seriously urged and soberly debated whether the net result would not be happier, both for the individual and for the community, if the young folk who meet in play at the country club or at work in office and department store were paired off by lot, instead of being abandoned to the caprices of the roving, romantic eye—mingled with equally capricious ideas of marriage gleaned from our literature of juvenile adventure. The women of ancient Greece also looked upon marriage as a reality, being chiefly ambitious to preside over a home that was at once productive and reproductive. Historians and feminists have combined to marvel at what has seemed to them a limited sphere, a degraded function. But has the literature of all the romantic nations produced a heroine to compare with Antigone, with Alcestis? Such creations are not conjured out of thin air.

We learn that PAULAQUITA LOUIS, late of Crestena, Olympia, is to become Mrs. PETER HRONOPOULOS of Clinton, Mass.; that PERONIKI GIOVANEKES, late of Mytilene, is already Mrs. VASILIOS DEMETRIAN of Sunbury, Pa. To wish them well, and all their compatriots, is superfluous. In time, perhaps, they may hear the despairing proverb of the American wife, that though men are different husbands are all alike. But they will rejoice in it, knowing its true meaning.

CONTROLLER CRAIG'S PLAN.

Commissioner WHALEN, who advocates the building of a new bridge across the East River instead of vehicular tunnels under it, and Controller CRAIG, who believes that efficiency and economy would be served by more rapid transit tunnels, agree upon one point. It is that the mooted question whether a vehicular tunnel can be properly ventilated should be settled by the test of experience in the case of the tunnel of the New York and New Jersey Commission under the Hudson. But the Controller would have neither East River bridge nor vehicular tunnels constructed until the usefulness of the Hudson River tunnel, which would carry gasoline-driven motors, has been proved; while the Commissioner would apparently go ahead at once with the building of a new East River bridge. He is a member of the New York and New Jersey Vehicular Tunnel Commission, which makes his opposition to tunnels under the East River singular, especially as a report of that commission to the effect that experiments show that vehicular tunnels could be satisfactorily ventilated bears his signature.

That a bridge would be cheaper than adequate vehicular tunnels the Commissioner affirms but the Controller denies. The weight of evidence seems to be with the latter, although Mr. CRAIG is not supported by GUSTAV LINDENTHAL, the veteran bridge engineer. Mr. LINDENTHAL, in a letter to THE TIMES, has calculated that the difference in original cost would be about $3,000,000, but that the cost of lighting and ventilating the vehicular tunnels would have to be added. He points out that a bridge over the East River could be designed for twelve lines of traffic, and concludes that several tunnels would have to be built to equal that accommodation. Controller CRAIG maintains that a new bridge would cost $40,000,000. "Besides the interest and sinking fund "charges for so large an investment, "there would be," he says, "a large "annual loss to the city of substantial sums now received in taxes "from property that would be forever "removed from the tax rolls when "acquired for bridge purposes." He is opposed to the building of such a bridge because it should be the policy of the municipal Government to conserve the city's credit.

On the issue between himself and Commissioner WHALEN the Controller proposes a compromise. The rapid transit service maintained over the four East River bridges could be directed into two pairs of new rapid transit tunnels, "the cost of which "need not materially exceed $10,-"000,000," and thus vehicular traffic over the four bridges could be increased 100 per cent. The investment in the new rapid transit tunnels would be self-sustaining, Mr. CRAIG contends. This plan looks feasible. The alarm about the deterioration of the Brooklyn Bridge the Controller does not share, having consulted his engineers.

SAVING INTELLECTUAL LIFE.

By what means the Geneva International Committee on Intellectual Co-operation is proposing to prevent the catastrophe which it is feared will overtake the intellectual life of certain nations is not reported. The committee asks the Council of the League of Nations to investigate conditions in the various countries with a view to helping those whose minds hold the title deeds to the true riches of their peoples. The justification for this concern is that the devotion of the energy of a race by its men of genius to the higher ends of mankind is "the sap of all the world." If the men of genius of any nation are starved, its peculiar contribution to the race mind is dried up, and the whole world suffers.

It must have been such a view that prompted the Commonwealth Fund to offer $250,000 for the special relief of men and women in Russia in whom the genius of that land, in science, literature, music and all other forms of art, and in the varied fields of scholarship and spiritual activity, has had highest expression. That the Soviet Government declined to permit this special succor, except as it could itself nominate the recipients, intimates the sacrifice it is ready to make of the intellectual riches of Russia, if they do not promote the ends of Bolshevism. But it is humanity's concern, and not Russia's alone, that her intellectual light should not be quenched.

In Austria and in other countries, the Government welcomes the assistance of more fortunate lands in preserving these precious assets of the spirit, which she will hold to, even as MOZART, though she were to go, as he, to a potter's field. Poland, in her struggle toward a balanced budget, is giving as high recognition in rank and pay to her professors as to her Generals. The Baltic States, in their new freedom, have such a passion for education that it assures the nurturing of their men of genius, even if others have to go hungry. Meanwhile, in Russia, it is said on good authority that many scientists of highest rank have disappeared or have been deprived of the means of research or have not the strength to go on.

Mme. CURIE as a member of the International Committee has urged some plan for saving the intellectual forces where the catastrophe is impending. If the world could first know what the need is and how to reach it, there is no question as to the response. It is hoped that our astronomer member of this committee, Dr. HALE, will soon be able to advise America how she can help salvage for the race the genius which "is of no country," but which is perishing from hunger or despair in certain States on this planet whirling beneath his stars.

A NEW ATLANTIS.

This new Atlantis is in the Pacific. Its existence and proposed occupation are vouched for by The London Observer, though it is nameless. It lies 600 miles from the Panama Canal and belongs to Ecuador. It is bounded by no tariff wall. There is no restricted immigration quota. It has no memory of the great war and it has no anxiety over strikes. It is an uninhabited island. But it is soon to have several immigrants, for about a dozen engineering students who have just won their diplomas at Loughborough College in Leicestershire, England, most of them ex-service men, tired of after-war Britain, are at the end of this month to set out for this Elysian isle where "climatic conditions are ideal," where the immediate food necessities are provided by nature, but where all will have to work and where there is to be absolute equality, though the son of a titled gentleman is among their number. It is planned to develop fruit growing, to import and breed cattle, and, with the assistance of a ninety-ton boat, which has been purchased for the expedition, to carry on commerce.

It is the merest microcosm of an experiment, but it will be interesting and perhaps socially and industrially informing to see what a group of war-tired and peace-trained engineers will make of their little world, with Ariels of science at their service and no drunken sons of Sycorax to molest them. Will the "latter end of it forget the beginning" and become as all the rest? Or will their one author—there is one among them—have a twentieth-century "Robinson Crusoe" to write? At any rate, it will be such an Atlantis as PLATO could not have conceived. The strike-troubled, debt-burdened peoples will wish these young adventurers bon voyage as they sail into those seas which have an assured peace and have become, as the Atlantic was to earlier mariners, the baths of all the Western stars.

CENSORSHIP FOR BOOKS.

The proposal made by Mr. JOHN S. SUMNER of the Society for the Suppression of Vice to the Authors' League and the book publishers, for a preventive censorship of all new fiction and "sex, medical, scientific and pseudo-scientific" literature, ought to wake up everybody who is concerned for such freedom as is left to the arts. There are already laws for the punishment of the publishers and distributers of obscene publications. Mr. SUMNER has lately prosecuted a number of publishers for issuing works which have hitherto been regarded as classics. Sometimes he wins, sometimes he loses. Inasmuch as the courts do not always agree with his idea of obscenity, he now wants "a committee which "would have the support and respect "of authors and publishers" to censor all new manuscripts before publication.

Presumably, this would operate more or less as does the "volunteer jury" system now invoked in the case of plays. That was introduced because those who objected to certain plays found it hard to get a conviction of the producers in court. It was forced on the theatres by the threat of a censorship such as now functions in the moving-picture field. The same threat has not yet been made against book publishers, but it lies in the background. Mr. SUMNER already has the power of prosecution. He can make arrests. He can seize all copies of any book which he regards as indecent and hold them until a court decides against him. If a book seems indecent to Mr. SUMNER, it is indecent in the eyes of the law until proved otherwise. He assures us that three publishers have already submitted manuscripts to him "for an expres-"sion of opinion as to the legality of "publication."

That is to say, we already have a censor of books. Mr. SUMNER holds that position. In justice to a gentleman whose sincerity seems unquestionable, whatever one may think of his judgment, it must be noted that he does not like his job. He wants to turn it over to a committee representing "authors, publishers, the reading public and the public authorities." Whatever might be the composition of this committee, its mere existence would have a hampering effect on the imagination of authors who do not share Mr. SUMNER'S peculiar views.

We do not see how any self-respecting publisher can accept this proposal, unless forced to it by fear of a censorship by political appointees. How the "volunteer jury" will work in the theatre nobody knows as yet; how official censorship works in motion pictures we know only too well. And the drama admits of arguments for restriction which do not apply to the printed page. It is surely not a convincing argument for censorship that the courts do not always agree with the Vice Society. The stereotyped defense of the Vice Society's work is that it has cleared New York of obscene photographs and postcards. It has not done that work completely, as anybody knows who walks along the streets. If Mr. SUMNER wants to fight indecency, he might better try to make good this claim of suppressing pictures which are nothing but obscene, rather than going about arresting booksellers who deal in the works of RABELAIS and SCHNITZLER.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

The Tsaritza Pictured by Herself. From the comments made by the London papers on the recently published letters and diaries of the late Empress of Russia, it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that a version of or selection from these documents entirely different from the one that appeared in Berlin was the basis of their remarks.

The English editors draw from their reading the conclusion that the Tsaritza was a much calumniated woman—that her character was admirable, that her devotion to her husband was that of a model wife, and that her pro-German sympathies were mere imaginings of her enemies. Exactly the reverse of these deductions seemingly is compelled by the letters as they were summarized yesterday in the dispatch from the Berlin correspondent of THE TIMES. Therein was presented almost precisely the woman of the rumors that have been in circulation for years—the woman who tried, sometimes successfully, to control the weakling Tsar, the woman who urged him to exercise ruthlessly his powers as an autocrat and to refuse all concessions to demands for liberalizing and modernizing the Russian Government.

Whether she tried to betray her country to Germany is not revealed, but evidently her ideas and ambitions were such as to make her antagonistic to the Allies. That she had much real influence over the Tsar is made improbable by the frequency with which she repeated the same exhortations for him to be strong, to "pound the table," to ignore the advice of all counselors—except herself. That he was afraid to assert himself in this way is obvious from the letters, just as it was obvious from his public and private acts all through the years before the war and after it began.

He must have been a most unsatisfactory husband for a woman so ambitious. Perhaps she did not hate him—he was hardly worth that—but certainly she despised him.

Fervently Devoted to Rasputin. About the greatest service rendered by these letters is in confirming and putting beyond question the truth of the reports as to the influence over the Tsaritza and all through the Russian court circle of the egregious villain, RASPUTIN, and of the only lesser power of the French charlatan, PHILIPPE. In these reports all of the really serious accusations against the Tsaritza were contained, and she discloses that they were not mere malicious gossip.

She writes repeatedly of the fellow with reverence and affection, commends him to the Tsar as the wisest of advisers, and would entrust the destinies of her house and of Russia to his hands. His death seems to her such a horrible affliction that she cannot believe the announcement of it; her confidence in his survival was created, presumably, by her faith in his supernatural and semi-divine nature.

This being the case, it is easy enough to understand why the London editors write of her as "that unfortunate woman," but impossible to understand how they can treat her letters as a vindication of her character, her intelligence and her good intentions. Whatever power she possessed was exercised against the interests of Russia, of the Tsar, and ultimately, of herself. Even as a mother she was desperately mistaken as to the way in which the future of her son was to be assured. For him nothing would satisfy her except the status, by the changes of time made impossible, of a Peter the Great or an Ivan the Terrible, and, seeking that, she lost everything.

Railway Cars and Ventilation. If the railway managers ever have a little leisure, they well might devote at least a little of it to solving the problem of finding some better way to ventilate their cars than by letting fierce drafts blow through them.

This is the season of that very serious affection, the "Summer cold," and particularly exposed to the malady are those daily travelers, the members of the commuting tribe. Such is their nature that they nearly always hurry to catch the train at both ends of their journeys. They arrive at the station in Summer more or less hot and moist. If wise or cautious, they take a seat where they hope to be safe from the breezes that motion soon is to create. No matter how much care they exercise, however, they are the helpless victims of the window next ahead of the one by which they place themselves, for it is a peculiarity of railway cars that the passenger gets the draft, not from his own window, but from that of his neighbor in front of him.

If only the action were direct—if the air from the opened window blew only on the opener of it—at least the risk of pneumonia and the chance of death would be taken voluntarily and consciously, which means that it would not be taken very often. As it is, nobody, or almost nobody, gives a thought to what is suffered by the other person upon whom the gales blow.

In this respect European cars, or some of them, are better arranged than our own. Their windows open from the top, instead of from the bottom; they do not go down very far, and ventilation is effected without drafts being felt by anybody.

Survivors Should Decide It. Dr. TAKAMINE, wise man that he was, probably had no very great or fixed desire that the instructions given in his will as to the disposition of his body after death should be carried out. As a man of science he knew that it might be of some value if carefully examined by one of his colleagues, and as a Japanese whose home had been made and his fame gained in the United States he had a sentimental inclination toward a division of his ashes between the two countries upon which he had bestowed as well as received honor. He realized, however, that the carrying out of either of these wishes might give pain to survivors, and therefore he gave no peremptory instructions.

If he had given none at all, it would have been, perhaps, just a little better. The matter is one that should be left to the living, since only to them does it make any difference what is done.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES.

Capital and Labor Both Responsible to Society.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The present industrial and economic situation grows out of the over-emphasis upon "rights." We have been fed up on the idea of the "rights" of citizenship, with little or no attention to the fundamental "duties." Despite the fact that strikes may not actually be forbidden by law, there is not, and cannot be, any "right to strike," whether the striker is a union of workingmen or a combination of capitalists. The right to cease employment under any one person or corporation and the right to employ this or that person has nothing to do with the case.

In one of the earliest so-called "labor" decisions in the case of a railway tie-up, Chief Justice Taft, then Judge of the United States Circuit Court, declared that "the starvation of a nation could not be the legal purpose of any combination." No more can the strangulation of the processes upon which the orderly life of society depends be the "right" of any body or combination.

Courts are created and maintained to protect the rights and to enforce the duties of citizenship against all injustices between individuals. The jurisdiction of a competent tribunal will have to be extended over corporate and collective bodies, whatever they may be, in order to preserve the existence of society.

Capital with its ability, labor with its skill, each is equally trusteeship held for the behoof of that organized society without which neither would or could have value or use, and simultaneous with the restraining influence of courts there must be education to emphasize the "duties" of citizenship, without the discharge of which in good conscience by all the people there will soon be no "rights" to enjoy.

Leonia, N. J., July 31, 1922.

Vaux & Olmstead.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I infer from the letter headed "Frederick Law Olmstead" that it is proposed to erect a monument or memorial to him. This is eminently fitting, but it would be incomplete did it not include the senior member of the firm of Vaux & Olmstead, Calvert Vaux, who with Olmstead jointly planned the park.

Few there probably are who realize to whom they owe the blessing of Central Park! Who ever thinks of the men whose far-sighted vision foresaw in the fifties this oasis of green in a desert of bricks and mortar?

As a young man it was my good fortune to be thrown in intimate relations with Calvert Vaux and his family, and often have I heard from him of the difficulties to be overcome in transforming what was once a wilderness of rocks interspersed with morasses, and covered largely with shanties, into a Park that is a model of its kind. And so well were the plans drawn and with so much foresight for the needs of the city that the planners knew must some day surround the Park, that practically no essential alterations in these plans have been necessary.

Calvert Vaux was a man of the highest ideals, of a shy, sensitive and retiring nature. A pupil of Downing, he was one of our pioneer landscape architects, as well as one of our greatest. All the more fitting is it that he and his partner, Frederick Law Olmstead, should have a monument commemorating their work.

WALTER MENDELSON.

Germantown, Philadelphia, July 28, 1922.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I may be minus that acute eye of the connoisseur, but Cesare's splotch entitled "Raymond Poincare," in today's TIMES BOOK REVIEW AND MAGAZINE, is the closest approach of "Old Black Joe" I ever viewed. In the Summer of 1919 the President of Switzerland arrived at the Gare de Lyon and was met by Poincare. During the drive from the station to the Bastile I had occasion to note, not with the artist's precision, but with the layman's sober observation, the features of the ex-President of France, which your artist has tried so painfully to depict. I say vehemently the subject appeared nothing like the illustration.

Mr. Saltus's Tribute to Poe.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your article on John Sanford Saltus of recent date you make mention of his gift, the statue of Joan of Arc, on Riverside Drive. I beg to call attention to the last gift he probably made, that of the beautiful bust of Edgar Allan Poe by Daniel Chester French, to the Hall of Fame, unveiled May 20, 1922. The lovers of Poe are deeply grateful to John Sanford Saltus for his share in placing him where by every right he belongs—in the Hall of Fame.

Now:
The gasoline's exhausted quite,
And we'll be late to tea;
Then there's the dinner dance tonight—
I'm vexed as I can be.

Then:
The old off ox has died of thirst—
Whatever shall we do?
This caravan it seems is cursed,
But still we'll see it through.

Now:
The way they run this place is raw,
The service simply vile;
Such clumsy maids I never saw,
And no attempt at style.

Then:
The cabin leaks a bit, I know,
But any roof is fine,
We'll make it tight before the snow
To shelter me and mine.

Now:
Those children make a fearful noise!
There ought to be a rule
That all the neighbors' girls and boys
Be sent to Summer school.

Then:
If only John would come—'tis dark,
And shadows slide about;
Ah, what was that? A rifle? Hark!
They say the Sioux are out!

BELL'S FIRST MODEL.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Following the news stories telling of the death of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell I note that there seems to be little available material in the biographical departments of any of the newspapers that enables the writers to carry the history of the telephone as devised by the inventor further back than 1875, or the year before Dr. Bell obtained his basic patent. I have the distinction of having seen the model of the first fruit of Bell's experiments in telephony. This was in the Winter of 1872. It happened this wise:

I was a small boy, just past my tenth year, and was living in Hartford, Conn. One day on my return from school my grandmother, Mrs. Ellen C. Van Deusen, said to me: "Come here, Willis, I want to introduce you to Professor Bell, who is doing a very wonderful thing. He is actually teaching deaf mutes to talk." I remember that my boyish curiosity was aroused and that I asked a great many questions of the pale young man to whom I had been introduced. I gathered that Professor Bell had recently come to the hotel to live while engaged in the work of developing the power of speech in those who had been deaf and dumb from birth, that he was musically inclined and that my mother had invited him to use our piano whenever he felt so disposed.

It is my recollection that the young man thereafter was a frequent visitor to our apartments and that he would sit at the piano for an hour or so at a time. Whether or not he was a master of the instrument I do not remember but I know that we all enjoyed his music. One evening I came into the parlor and was admonished for interrupting Professor Bell during an explanation he was making of a curious device that was standing on one of the small, oval, marble-topped tables common to that period. I was in a great hurry to get permission to visit a small friend, so remained only long enough to notice that the device had a small wire attached to it, one end of which ran over the edge of the table with its end in a cup of some liquid that stood on the floor and under which a newspaper had been placed, evidently for the purpose of protecting the carpet in case its contents should be spilled.

It was not until later that I knew what I had seen. Next day I overheard my grandmother say to my mother: "Jeannie, isn't it too bad that a young man of Professor Bell's attainments should have such a queer mental twist?" Of course I asked what was the matter with Professor Bell and was told that the little device I had seen on the parlor table the night before was an apparatus by means of which the young scientist believed he would some day be able to carry the human voice over a wire, so it could be heard "perhaps fifty miles away."

Of course, in later life the incident of the model and Bell's explanation of its possible use was a frequent subject of conversation within our family circle and we all came to realize that we had seen the very birth of the telephone.

It may be interesting to add that the first job I ever had was in the auditor's office of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, at Greenwich and Liberty Streets, fifteen years later, where I ran a collection ledger, and where I posted tolls every month amounting to more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Moving Platforms of Bridges.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mr. Lindenthal very ably discusses the economical aspect of bridges versus tunnels. But before scrapping a bridge that has cost $25,000,000 to build or before spending another $35,000,000 for enlargement or replacement by another bridge or tunnel it might be worth while to look around for other means less costly to attain the same object.

I have in mind to replace the elevated and surface lines by a moving platform, as I outlined in THE SUNDAY TIMES of April 9, 1922. The capacity of the bridge would be increased to about double, while the live loads on the bridge would be reduced to about two-thirds of its present maximum.

Consider only the middle span of the bridge, which measures 1,595 feet. During the rush hour, with elevated trains moving on one-minute headway and surface cars and vehicular traffic moving without restrictions, the live load on that part of the bridge would be at least 3,200 tons.

The total carrying capacity of all these transportation facilities would not exceed 96,000 passengers per hour in one direction.

Moving platforms occupying the space now used by the elevated and vehicular traffic, doubled by removing the surface track lines, could carry 180,000 passengers per hour with a reduction of the live loads to 2,080 tons.

The installation of moving platforms would therefore not only increase the factor of safety, but it would also positively prevent the overloading of the bridge by stalled trains and traffic, and, furthermore, would double the capacity of the bridge. All of this could be accomplished by an expenditure of not more than $2,000,000, and it would also result in an annual saving of about $500,000 in operating expenses.

The Chain of War Debts.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In reading Mr. Balfour's note and the comments on it I see little or no reference to the American taxpayers. Many write as if this chain of debts were a circle and by simply canceling all would be settled. But instead of a circle it is a line, and the American taxpayers stand at the end of the line. Foreigners say they received no money and that the Americans made enormous profits on goods that were furnished to them. Of course, war profits and graft made a good many rich, but the same thing occurred in England and all other countries. Now the American taxpayers are asked to pay for the war and pay for the war profiteers. The foundation stone upon which all of this rests is the American taxpayer.

Our Educational Leaders.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The death of Mrs. Strahan Forsythe is indeed a great loss to our city, but more particularly to the women of our educational system. Mrs. Forsythe was the one strong outstanding figure in the system.

Ten years ago we were rich in commanding figures. But today we have not a single writer, author or man of real power in the entire system, and it behooves the Commissioners of the board to look far and wide for a successor to Mrs. Forsythe.

Why is it that men and women prefer to work for Columbia, Harvard, Yale and other private institutions although the remuneration is much smaller? Is it association with smaller fry? Let the board seek to raise the standard.

In your editorial of 30th inst., "Wisdom Anticipated," you inquire where Disraeli took the quotation you print.

FAVORS FORD OFFER FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

URGES LEASE FOR 100 YEARS

Declares Value to Nation Can Only Be Compared to Accomplishment at Niagara Falls.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for the purchase and lease of the Government's vast nitrate and water power projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was urged by Republican and Democratic Senators comprising a minority of the Senate Agricultural Committee in a report submitted today to the Senate. Strong protest was entered by the Senators against the acceptance of the Government ownership and operation plan proposed by Senator Norris of Nebraska, the committee's Chairman.

The report was presented by Senator Ladd, Republican, of North Dakota, in behalf of the Ford proponents on the committee, and was also signed by Senators Capper, Republican, of Kansas, and Harrison of Mississippi, Caraway of Arkansas, Ransdell of Louisiana, Smith of South Carolina and Heflin of Alabama, Democrats. It estimated that the Government had lost $3,000,000 at Muscle Shoals since the armistice by failure to develop and operate the project, and declared the quickest way to stop these "losses is to accept Henry Ford's offer for the purchase and lease of the Government's Muscle Shoals properties."

"Certain objections to the Ford offer seem apparent," the report said, "but we insist, without fear of successful contradiction, that none of the objections to the Ford offer can be remedied or solved by Government ownership and operation—by the Government going into the power business or entering the uncharted and hazardous field of operating nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals in the production of nitrogenous and other commercial fertilizers, using electrochemical processes the commercial success of which is yet controversial.

"For Congress to adopt such a policy when Henry Ford's offer makes it unnecessary for the Government to do so," it continued, "would subject Congress to the just condemnation and reproach of all sober-minded people."

Replies to Subsidy Charge.

The report called attention to charges that acceptance of Mr. Ford's tender would give him a Government subsidy in the development of power and the manufacture of fertilizer and said:

"It has been claimed that the Ford offer constitutes a subsidy to Mr. Ford. If it is a subsidy it is not such a subsidy as is proposed by the Administration in the Ship Subsidy bill."

The report then cited a comparison between the Ladd bill and that proposing Federal relief for the merchant marine, showing that the former called for an expenditure of $42,000,000, while the latter required an expenditure of $125,000,000.

Referring to the relationship claimed between Muscle Shoals development and the fuel and transportation emergencies, the report said:

"No electrified railway and no industry served by water power can suffer suspension on account of a fuel supply, because hydroelectric power, both in its production and distribution, is practically free of all labor troubles. Fuel and transportation are the big national problems which now distress our people. Muscle Shoals, with the Ford offer accepted, may furnish an opportunity for the Senate to discover how such fuel and transportation emergencies can be, at least in part, avoided in the future."

"A fair consideration of all the facts," the report declared, "leads unmistakably to the conclusion that under the Ford offer the cost of fertilizer delivered to the farmer can be materially reduced."

The report added that from the present fertilizer industry the farmer might expect but little in the reduction of prices.

"These interests even declined the opportunity to use the Government's nitrate plants free of cost to them, and to be allowed without paying the Government a penny for the use of them to earn 9 per cent. on their invested operating capital before paying the Government anything, and after 9 per cent. was earned, additional profits were to be equally divided between these interests and the Government," it said. "How can these interests justly complain against the acceptance by Congress of the Ford offer when he proposes to pay $5,000,000 for the same nitrate plants that these interests declined to run free of any purchase or rental cost, Mr. Ford agreeing to sell fertilizer at no more than 8 per cent. profit?"

Compared to Niagara Falls.

"Mr. Ford's offer will result in a development whose National value can only be compared with the accomplishment at Niagara Falls," the report continued. "The applications of electrochemistry and electro-metallurgy have made the Niagara Falls hydro-electric developments successful, and in the same way it will take the skill of the chemist and the metallurgist, together with that of the hydro-electric engineer with ample capital to develop the full possibilities at Muscle Shoals, where, due to the fluctuating flow of the stream, the problems are greater than those encountered at Niagara Falls."

"Since a hydroelectric plant costs a great deal to construct and but little to operate," adds the report. "There is a feature of hydroelectric power economics well known to those in the business that the general public does not appreciate. When the items which go to make up the cost of hydroelectric power at the switchboard of the generating station are examined, it is found that under the conditions of construction and financing existing in the United States, the single item of interest on the investment constitutes 80 per cent. or more of the cost of the power.

"Mr. Ford proposes to eliminate the interest by amortizing and returning the investment, through the operation of a long-time sinking fund. He therefore provides a series of payments which, when invested in a sinking fund at as low a rate of interest as 4½ per cent., will return the entire cost of both dams, including the $17,000,000 already expended by the Government. This eliminates the capital charges and interest and ultimately reduces the cost of power to the mere cost of operation and maintenance, which in a large plant is from $1 to $3 per horsepower per year, or less than one-half of one mill per kilowatt hour. Under this plan the bonded indebtedness on a waterpower development is reduced instead of being increased as is the customary procedure in refinancing operations.

"We cannot withhold our support from a proposal which embraces a plan that may furnish an example of how perhaps 80 per cent. of the cost of hydroelectric power to the consumer may be taken from his power bill."

The Senators also declared their willingness to agree with Mr. Ford's request that the lease on the power projects be for 100 years rather than for fifty years as prescribed by the Federal Water Power act. They asserted that the operations proposed by Mr. Ford are on a scale without a parallel and call for an expenditure by him of $60,000,000.

'HOT DOGS' GAMBOL ON SOCIETY MIDWAY

COLORS VIE WITH BALLYHOO

The annual Street Fair at Southampton, L. I., for the benefit of the Southampton Hospital, was held yesterday. Thousands attended during the day and night session in Agawam Park, society enjoying the circus, boxing bouts and "hot dogs."

The spirit of the old-fashioned early nineteenth century continental traveling fair dominated the entire scheme. Francis Hartman Markoe, who has had entire charge of the decorations and plans for the layout of the grounds, introduced a note of gayety with bright red, yellow and blue predominating in the color scheme.

The streets of the fair extended from the entrance fan-like. The idea was to emphasize the modern spirit, using severe, if not actually cubistic form, to achieve vibrant effects. The picture presented was that of a jeweled limoge enamel against the lake with its soft willows, blue sky and rippling water. The decorative work was done in water colors by the weather-proof process.

Mrs. P. A. Valentine, with the members of her committee, sold shares all day for a touring car. Those assisting Mrs. Valentine were Mrs. Bradish Johnson Carroll, Mrs. J. Clifton Edgar, Mrs. Adam W. S. Cochrane and the Misses Juliana Cutting and Louise B. Willard. They realized about $3,000 on the car.

At the farm booth, presided over by Mrs. Ellery S. James and her committee, were on sale everything from pigs to peppers. Ducks, dressed or undressed, were to be had at regular market prices and the housewife could take them from the ice-box ready for the dinner table. Eggs that were laid in the morning and chickens of all ages as well as full-blooded stock were on sale. The farm booth had a thatched roof and an old oaken bucket well, and was enclosed in a rail fence.

Mrs. Victor Mapes, assisted by a committee who saw to it that no one passed their Egyptian tents who did not have his hand read or the story of his life and his real name told, had a busy day. Mrs. Mapes was dressed as an Indian seer and read the palms of those who came for sittings. Mrs. George Maxwell, Mrs. Simmons, Miss Rachel Hartley, Katherine Vernon Brown and Marianne and Frances McKeever were valuable assistants to Mrs. Mapes in directing the throngs to the mystery tents. The tents had been brought by Colonel Robert M. Thompson from Egypt several years ago. The interiors were done in designs and colorings representing ancient Egyptian art.

The Midway Plaisance had many attractions, including a boomerang, in charge of Mrs. Philips Thompson; a whirligig, in charge of Mrs. Finley Peter Dunne; cane rack, with Mrs. Frederick De Davies at the head; hoop-la, with Mrs. Albert Gallatin; weight-man, with Charles Andrews McCann, Mrs. Reginald Wigham and Mrs. Walter L. Niles in charge; Eskimo pies, Mrs. Thomas L. Chadbourne. The barkers for the Midway included Anderson Valentine, Gerald Kreck, William Hoppin, Frederick Hoppin and Fred Davies.

The dancing pavilion was gay with dancers, Esmond O'Brien being head of the committee in charge. The floor accommodated several hundred dancers, and Chinese red was the prevailing color effect of the pavilion.

A merry-go-round at the border of the lake was supplied by Mrs. George Leary. Walter C. Monahan was in charge of the boxing bouts. The large circus arena attracted many, and nothing was lacking in the circus features. Mrs. Pierce Butler and the Misses Katherine Mackay, Jean and Charlotte Potter, Frances McKeever and Phyllis Thompson were in charge of a peanut roaster and popcorn and accessories.

INSISTS OLD LOUISIANA CAN IMPORT WINES

Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—All that part of the United States comprised in the Louisiana Purchase has the inalienable right to import and drink as much French wine and liquor as it chooses, according to Mrs. Chauncey Olcott, wife of the actor, who bases her statement on American archives.

These show, she contends, that "at the time the United States made the Louisiana Purchase from France it was specifically stated in a areaty between the Governments that France would have the perpetual right to export all kinds of spirits to this territory." Mrs. Olcott says she discovered this in old American records, and that the agreement has been lost sight of for many decades.

Being an active worker against the Eighteenth Amendment she has come to France to co-operate with the French Wine Growers' Association in searching French archives concerning the Louisiana Purchase. If the French have a clear case against America she will suggest that the wine growers urge French diplomatic appeal.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The treaty between France and the United States for the cession of the Louisiana territory concluded April 30, 1803, does not appear to give France the perpetual right to export liquor to Louisiana territory. Nor is anything of that character discoverable in the separate convention, concluded April 30, 1803, between the United States and France for the payment of 60,000,000 francs by the United States for the cession of the territory.

The Empress, however, refused to receive the Italian sovereign, saying:

"I could not in any circumstances meet the man who at Genoa shook hands with the assassins of my son."

HUNTINGTON VERIFIES PURCHASE OF PAINTING

'Cottage Door,' Famous Landscape, to Join 'Blue Boy' in California Collection.

Henry E. Huntington yesterday verified the statement made in London that he had purchased the "Cottage Door," one of Gainsborough's most beautiful landscapes, to add to his collection of Gainsborough portraits, the latest and most famous of which is "Blue Boy." Mr. Huntington would add no further details concerning the picture except to say that it would go to California, where it will be hung in his home with the other Gainsboroughs.

The "Cottage Door," from the Duke of Westminster's collection, from which "Blue Boy" was purchased, was painted about 1772, when Gainsborough was living in Bath before going to London. He painted at that time in rich low brown tones, with great sympathy, while later in London his methods were hastier and more conventional.

POSTMASTER TIRED OF JOB.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Aug. 4.—That the job of running the first-class Post Office of this city is one to try the patience of Job and that the Postmaster does not find himself enjoying a "bed of roses" after having the job wished on him is demonstrated by the action of Postmaster W. E. Tobias, who has sent his resignation to Postmaster General Work.

The Clearfield office entered first class in the first year of Postmaster Tobias's term, when the postal receipts reached the $40,000 mark. Last year the receipts were more than $63,000, but the Post Office Department expects the Postmaster to handle the added business with practically the same force.

Postmaster Tobias says life is entirely too short to devote seven days a week, thirteen hours a day to such a job for $3,300 a year.

Canadian Locomotive Sale Pending.

MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—Reports regarding the sale of the Canadian Locomotive Company to American interests, probably the Baldwin Company, are still current, but it is learned that the negotiations carried on by President Wallace are not yet complete and that an extension of the option is to be given.

BERENGARIA BRINGS 1,752 PASSENGERS

Fire Chief Kenlon Is Welcomed by Department Officials and a Band.

TWO PUBLISHERS RETURN

Frank A. Munsey, Ogden Mills Reid and Bernard M. Baruch Among Those on Board.

The Cunarder Berengaria arrived late last night from Southampton, via Cherbourg, with 803 first cabin passengers, among whom were a number of Americans who had booked to sail on the White Star liner Olympic, which was delayed through a fracture in her stern post. The list included a number of notables, and 6,000 sacks of mail and eighty-five cases of gold containing more than $3,000,000 for New York banks. The voyage was perfectly calm, Purser Stanley Beynon said, and the only incident was the birth of a boy in the steerage yesterday afternoon to a Finnish woman.

The Berengaria was welcomed at Quarantine by the fireboat John Purroy Mitchel with a crowd of New York Fire Department officials, their friends and a band to welcome Fire Chief John Kenlon and Mrs. Kenlon, who returned from a three months' trip to Europe. The Chief, after acknowledging the cheers from the upper deck, had to descend a long ladder and board the Mitchel, where he was greeted enthusiastically while the band played "Hail to the Chief."

Among those on the fireboat were Fire Commissioner Thomas J. Drennan, Deputy Commissioner Joseph M. Hannon, Honorary Chiefs Robert H. Mainzer and Edward L. Kenny, Deputy Chief Edward J. Worth and Chief Kenlon's three sons.

The returning Chief said he was glad to get back home. When asked if any of the fire departments in Europe were better than that of New York, he just smiled and said he had no wish to criticise. He said he was leaving today for San Francisco to attend the International Fire Chiefs' convention. After leaving the pier, Chief Kenlon said he would have a look at the Jane Street warehouse, as he had heard a good deal about that fire.

Frank A. Munsey, the publisher, returned on the Berengaria after spending seven weeks abroad, which he said was mostly at Carlsbad. He had been taking the cure there for many years, but was disappointed with his visit there this Summer, he said, because it was so cold the whole time and so wet that he never got really warm. Mr. Munsey was pessimistic about conditions in Central Europe. When asked if he had anything to say about the recent published reports from Washington in which Senator Frank R. Gooding was quoted as asking for an investigation of Mr. Munsey's publications, he replied with a bored air: "I have not read the report and do not wish to hear it. It does not interest me."

J. Leonard Replogle, President of the Replogle Steel Corporation, and Bernard M. Baruch, the banker, also returned on the Cunarder. Neither would comment about his observation of conditions in Europe.

Another passenger on the ship was Ogden Mills Reid, editor of The New York Tribune, who returned with Mrs. Reid from a month's vacation abroad. "Politically speaking," he said, "conditions have improved, for France and England are getting together. France has put up a lot of money for reparations that Germany should have paid, and it is essential that she should be paid back if treaties are to mean anything."

Florence Ziegfeld Jr. returned on the liner with Joseph Urban, scenic artist, after visiting England, France, Germany and Austria. Mr. Ziegfeld said that the reports which had been circulated in regard to Mrs. Ziegfeld and himself were too ridiculous for words. It was his first trip abroad for ten years, he said.

Other passengers arriving on the Berengaria included E. G. Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation; Sir Charles Ross, inventor of the Ross rifle and owner of large estates in Scotland; Alexander Lyle-Samuel, Member of Parliament, and Chester K. G. Billings and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Bernstein returned from a honeymoon spent in France and Italy.

The Berengaria had 451 second and 508 steerage passengers, in addition to those in the first cabin. Captain C. A. Smith, R. N. R., master, was indisposed when the ship arrived in Quarantine, and Staff Captain R. D. Jones was in charge and navigated her to the Cunard pier.

MURDOCK ESTATE TO WIDOW

MINEOLA, L. I., Aug. 4.—The will of Harvey Murdock, disposing of an estate said to be valued at $250,000, was filed today.

All of the personal property is left to the widow, Mrs. Gabriella Murdock, and the residue is made into a trust fund to be used by the widow during her life if she does not marry. At her death it is to be divided equally among her six children. Four daughters—Dorothy McChesney Murdock, Clara Blaisdell Murdock, Priscilla Alden Murdock and Elizabeth Murdock Hadden—are to receive $5,000 in cash when they reach the age of 21, and the balance of their share is to be held in trust. The two sons, Lewis and Warren, are to receive one-half of their share when they reach the age of 30 and the remainder is to be held in trust.

Examine Niagara Power Dam Site.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 4.—The New York State Water Power Board today made a personal investigation of the lower Niagara River and the site of the proposed "Junior Niagara" power dam for construction of which Peter A. Porter of Buffalo and T. Kennard Thomson are seeking permits. The plan calls for immense power development at Foster Flats by means of a huge dam which would back up the waters of the Lower Niagara River, obliterating the upper and lower rapids of the whirlpool, utilizing the entire flow of the river with 100-foot head. They claim that thus they can develop 2,000,000 electrical horsepower and estimate the cost at $100,000,000. Carrying out of the plan would not affect the beauty of the falls, it is said.

Hailstones Break Watermelons.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 4.—Hailstones big enough to break watermelons wide open, with a fall of twelve inches deep in some places caused considerable crop damage in the Piedmont section of North Carolina late yesterday, according to reports reaching here today. The heaviest fall was in Iredell County. Around Concord, where it beat down growing crops, a thin coating of ice was reported after daylight.

Humane Society Decorates a Dog.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Aug. 4.—Spot, a dog, was decorated today for bravery by the Long Beach Humane Society. The dog is credited with having jumped from the municipal pier July 13 and rescued a cat which was struggling in the sea. Spot is owned by William Wrigby, chef of the steamer Bergland. Wrigby also owns the cat Spot saved. The animals are the Bergland's mascots.

GIRL STOWAWAYS REACH CHERBOURG

CHERBOURG, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—The Majestic's two girl stowaways from the Chelsea district of New York seem to have enjoyed every minute of their transatlantic trip. When the big White Star liner arrived here today both Anna Muller and Katherine Fleming, the 13-year-old chums, who secreted themselves in one of the Majestic's lifeboats before she sailed last Saturday, declared they had had a merry time all the way over.

"The Captain is a regular old dear," said Anna, "but the ship's cook—he's the most wonderful man I ever saw."

The stowaways will be returned to New York on the next westward trip of the liner, the girls meantime occupying the third-class cabin assigned them when they were discovered, soon after the Majestic left New York.

When the girls were found by the sailors and their presence was reported to the Captain, he called them before him, got their names and addresses, sent wireless messages to their families in New York, and told the girls they had nothing to fear and would be sent home in "good shape." They were treated good-humoredly by the third-class passengers and the sailors, and received as much attention from the stewardesses and other attendants as if they had been regularly booked instead of self-invited passengers.

PARIS MEDIUMS FAIL IN LEVITATION TESTS

Unable in Six Months' Time to Demonstrate Phenomenon and Win 50,000 Franc Prize.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 4.—Despite the alluring inducement of 50,000 francs offered by the Matin for a successful performance, the foremost Paris mediums have been unable to demonstrate under properly controlled conditions the phenomenon known as levitation, which consists of lifting or even moving objects without any mechanical intervention.

Following the well-known demonstration of table turning, which because the human hand touches the table, could not be accepted as fulfilling the requirements of the competition organized by the Matin, certain very interesting experiences were carried out by M. H. Bardez.

Placing on the table an apparatus called a "tromelin motor"—a small, very light millwheel turning freely on an axis—Bardez caused it to turn by moving his hand, but without touching it. It was found that the mill always turned in one direction under the influence of the right hand and the opposite direction under the influence of the left hand. Bardez believed this phenomenon was the result of his will, but the scientists forming the jury explained it was physiological, regulating from the radiation of human calories, the difference of direction being caused by the circulation of the blood.

The experiments, which were carried on during six months, have now been concluded, and despite the fact that the conditions gave the competitors very facility to work exactly as they liked the enterprise was crowned by complete failure.

DR. BELL IS BURIED IN MOUNTAIN TOMB

SERVICES IN THE TWILIGHT

BADDECK, N. S., Aug. 4.—All the villagers of Baddeck trudged to the peak of Beinn Bhreagh Mountain this evening and stood in reverence at sunset while the body of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell was laid to rest in a tomb blasted from solid rock, over which stands the watch tower built years ago by the inventor. Below are the quiet woodland and the serene lakes on whose waters Dr. Bell experimented with speed boats and fast water-sleds.

A homely tweed suit, similar to that which he had worn in his workshop on the hill, was the inventor's shroud. In the lapel of the coat was pinned the ribbon of the Legion of Honor, one of his most coveted possessions. The coffin bore but one floral offering, that sent by the employes of the American Telephone Company. The others were used to blanket the tomb.

First there were short services at the hillside homestead, attended only by those who had been very close to Dr. Bell at work or play. When these were ended, bronzed workmen employed on the estate lifted to their shoulders the coffin, which had been built in Dr. Bell's workshops out of rugged pine, and carried it to his coach, which led the cortège up to the very highest tip of the mountain.

There, his six-foot frame silhouetted against the twilight sky, stood the village parson, Rev. John Mackinnon of the Greenwood Presbyterian Church of Baddeck. Clustered about him down the slopes of the mountain were the Nova Scotians and a few who had come from the United States for the burial, one of them Dr. Bell's sister-in-law, a resident of Washington.

"Tell me not, in mournful numbers,
Life is but an empty dream."

Then the Ninetieth Psalm and finally the first stanza of "The Requiem" of Robert Louis Stevenson:

"Under the wide and starry sky
Dig the grave and let me lie.
Glad did I live, and gladly die,
And I laid me down with a will."

As the day departed and the night came on, the body was lowered into the rock.

For one moment during the service all of the 13,000,000 telephones in the United States and Canada were silent.

The last of the mourners to leave the grave was blind Hector McNeill, who worked with the inventor more than thirty years.

Messages of condolence were received from William H. Taft, Chief Justice of the United States; James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor; New York American Society of Civil Engineering, American Institute of Mining Engineering, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the United Engineering Society, representing the engineering profession in America. Expressions of sympathy were also received from Lord Byng of Vimy, Governor General of Canada, and Lady Byng.

Orders were issued yesterday to the operators of all telephone exchanges in New York City that the telephone service should be entirely cut off for one minute during the burial services of Dr. Bell. Beginning at 7:25 in the evening lights flashed in vain on all boards throughout the metropolitan area, and many persons, momentarily forgetful of the funeral, grew impatient at the delay until, at 7:26, centrals took up again their tasks.

Condolences to Mrs. Bell.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—A telegram of sympathy was sent today to Mrs. Alexander Graham Bell, widow of the inventor, by the Trustees of the National Geographic Society, in behalf of the 700,000 members of that organization. "The society's members rejoice in having an humble place among that great family he founded," the message said. "As he set physical forces in vibration to annihilate the deafness of space, so also in our society he set in vibration those sympathies and interests to which the human heart everywhere responds."

The non-stop flight from San Antonio to Camp Johnston was without incident, Lieutenant Doolittle reported. He maintained an average engine speed of 100 miles an hour, while a brisk wind shoved him along twelve miles faster.

'NEVER SAW A HORSE;' HELD AS BOOKMAKER

Despite his protestations that he was not a bookmaker but a jeweler, that he never had been to a race track, and in fact didn't even know what a horse looked like, Joseph Jaffe, 61 years old, of 288 East Houston Street, was held yesterday by Magistrate William A. Sweetser in Essex Market Court in $500 bail for trial in Special Sessions.

Detectives Wright and O'Connell of the First Inspection District, said they found him taking wagers on a horse near the Houston Street address. A notebook with many names was found on his person.

"What are these?" asked the Court.

"Those are the names of relatives I want notified in case I drop dead soon," said the defendant.

"How about these clippings about horse races—don't you ever go to the races?"

"Upon my honor," said the defendant, "I never saw a horse race in my life. I don't even know what a horse looks like."

"Come here," said the Magistrate, leading the defendant to a window looking out on a nag drawing a load through Second Street. "That's a horse down there."

"Oh!" gasped the defendant.

ASKS ARREST OF BLIND SON.

Mother Got Part of $75 a Week Till "Woman Vamped Him."

Until last October, Mrs. Margaret Grantsow's blind son Andrew, who is 28 years old, was her main support, as well as her pride and joy. He earned about $75 a week, she said. He was a beggar.

But times have changed, the aged widow told the Poor Master of Hudson County, Julius Klumpp, who found her destitute and starving in her shabby two rooms behind a store at 3,852 Hudson Boulevard, West Hoboken, yesterday. Now she wants her son arrested. If he can't be arrested, she says, she wants him to be forced to contribute to her support.

"He was a good, dutiful son," said Mrs. Grantsow, "until a woman came along and vamped him. She only wanted his money, she didn't love him like I did. But he was easy because he couldn't see. Since he met her he hasn't given me any money."

DANCER SENT TO BELLEVUE.

Entertains Crowd in Street Free and His Sanity Is Doubted.

Because he danced in public for nothing, Santo Spagulo, a sailor, was sent to Bellevue for observation in the psychopathic ward by Magistrate Max S. Levine in the Tombs Court yesterday.

Spagulo was arrested when he was entertaining a large crowd at Bayard and Mulberry Streets. He performed what appeared to the policeman to be classic dances. He shadow-boxed a round or two. Then he began assuming artistic poses and holding them for minutes at a time, while onlookers shouted and applauded. When he observed that Spagulo made no attempt to collect money from the crowd, the policeman arrested him on suspicion of being feeble-minded. On being searched Spagulo was found to have $353 and a ticket to Italy in his belt.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

All of the financial markets once more gave evidence yesterday of what on its face would appear to be entire absence of uneasiness. When it is considered that Germany's formal declaration of inability to make further reparations payments is scheduled for today, and with it the French Government's statement of what penalties will be imposed, if any, it might not unreasonably have been imagined that exchange would have moved sharply against France and Germany, if not indeed against London also. Instead of this, a decided recovery carried yesterday's market for francs and sterling to the highest figures since the beginning of last week. Even the German mark advanced.

Such a movement means something more than mere suspension of judgment. It is possible to ascribe it to the British Premier's speech to Parliament on Thursday, in which the effort to explain away the unpleasant implications of the Balfour note was evident; it may have measured the effect on financial sentiment of the vague rumors regarding more conciliatory purposes by the French Premier. But in any case, with the conference of the two Prime Ministers due to begin on Monday, and with the exchange market's action in previous crises over German reparations kept in mind, the natural inference from yesterday's market is that financial judgment is leaning to the belief that the very acuteness of the crisis will bring something in the nature of a practicable compromise.

The attitude of the stock market, as reflecting financial opinion on the labor situation, was very much what it has been on each day since the White House proposal complicated the negotiations. A decline in the early hours was followed by recovery, leaving the day's net changes irregularly divided between gains and losses. It was clearly a market awaiting some new turn in the controversy, but awaiting it without acute apprehension.

Under the peculiar circumstances of the moment in the field of production and trade, the week-end reviews of the mercantile agencies possess more than their usual interest. They show some interesting effects of the situation which the coal shortage has brought about. In certain cases, "virtual withdrawal of sales forces from the road" has occurred, notwithstanding belief in the large requirements of consumers. Delayed movement of merchandise on the one hand and curtailed buying power on the other have been still more direct results.

The first of the monthly "index numbers" of commodity prices, that of Dun's Review, shows the general average virtually not to have changed at all during July. As might be supposed by those who had watched last month's markets, however, this comparison is misleading. Textiles and metals have advanced, food has declined, and the two movements have almost exactly counterbalanced one another. It is these opposite movements of prices—due on the one side to last year's intentional cutting-down of the cotton crop, on the other side to increase in the world's planting of grain acreage—which confuse the cost-of-living question that has come to play so large a part statistically in such social controversies as the fixing of wages. We are likely to see the true average of living costs affected to considerable purpose by another influence this Autumn. Ever since the middle of 1920, rent has moved in the opposite direction from the declining household expenses. The signs of the time are now unmistakable that rent is about to join in the downward readjustment.

MONEY.

FRIDAY, AUG. 4, 1922.

The flurry of money which carried the call rate to 5 per cent. evidently has passed and the final figure yesterday was 3 per cent, despite the fact that funds taken yesterday will be retained by the borrower over Sunday. It was reported in the financial district that some of the interior institutions which withdrew funds during the early part of the week again are lenders in the New York market.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Strength Exhibited in Most Currencies in Anticipation of Results of British-French Conference.

The exchanges as a whole exhibited moderate strength yesterday, with sterling at one time showing a gain of a full cent over the close of the previous day. The close was at $4.45⅝, as compared with $4.44⅝ at the previous close. Francs were under moderate pressure after opening at 8.23, and closed at 8.20½, while German marks closed at the top price of .14⅞ cents. The strength is generally attributed to prospects of a satisfactory agreement as a result of the coming British-French conference over interallied debts.

In the subjoined table the quotation on sterling represents dollars and decimals of a dollar; all others represent cents and decimals of a cent. Quotations preceded by the decimal mark indicate a price measured in fractions of a cent.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Markets Still Hold Firm.

Prices on the Stock Exchange moved somewhat irregularly during the early dealings yesterday and there were some sharp reactions, but a firm tone developed around noon which continued virtually up to the close. A few speculative issues sold off rather sharply in the late dealings, but the declines in these stocks did not affect the general list. Trading was again on a small scale, creating the impression that the day's fluctuations had no great meaning. There seemed to be some improvement in sentiment on the belief that the conference of union miners and coal operators may lead to a mutual settlement of the long-drawn coal strike which is now in its eighteenth week. There was still great uncertainty of opinion regarding the shopmen's strike. Among the stocks which attracted attention yesterday were Adams Express, American Express, Wells Fargo, Woolworth, Corn Products. Other issues which were strong included Postum Cereal, Crucible Steel, Reynolds Tobacco, General Asphalt and the equipments.

Foreign Government Bonds Steady.

The coming conference between Premier Lloyd George and Premier M. Poincaré over the debt problem became a matter of general discussion in Wall Street yesterday. Foreign government bonds, in a quiet way, assumed a distinctly stronger undertone, the French 8s and 7½s being features of strength in the market yesterday, although the day's gain was but a fractional one. The belief was rather generally expressed by international bankers that the conference to be held next week will have as a sequel a larger conference, in which all nations will have the opportunity to get about the board for a discussion of interallied debts.

More High Records Established.

In all seventeen individual stocks established new high records for the year to date in yesterday's dull market. The list included a varied assortment of issues. They included Adams Express, American Ice preferred, Atlantic Coast Line, American La France Fire Engine preferred, Brooklyn Edison, Corn Products, Cuban-American Sugar, Mathison Alkali, North American, Pere Marquette, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph, Rand Mines, Sears Roebuck, Reynolds Tobacco common and preferred, Western Union and Woolworth. The list represents twelve industries.

The Foreign Exchanges.

The strength of yesterday's foreign exchange market was a matter of frequent comment; more particularly so when the depressing influence of the reparation uncertainties would naturally be emphasized by the approach of the Autumn payments for purchases in America. The franc sold fully ½ cent above the week's lowest and, although still nearly 1 cent below the year's high price of the Spring, it was about ¾ cent above the year's low level, reached early last month. Sterling ruled yesterday well above the average rate of July or June, and it sold higher than the closing price of the week in which the $4.51¼ price was touched. Exchange houses were disposed to accept the day's movement as evidence that foreign markets were entirely skeptical over any extreme move by France to discipline Germany for non-payment.

Mexican Seaboard's Gyrations.

The stock of the Mexican Seaboard Oil Company was a queer actor on the tape yesterday. After opening at 23½ it moved up to 24⅝, dropped back to 22⅝, again rose to 23⅝, and ended the day at 22⅝, at which price it recorded a loss of ⅞ of a point. Directors of this company were scheduled to meet on Tuesday to take action on the monthly dividend. That meeting was postponed until yesterday, because of the lack of a quorum. Early yesterday reports had that the regular dividend would be declared, despite rumors to the contrary, based upon recent salt water developments in Mexico. The affirmative rumors were responsible for the early strength in the stock. The Directors went into session at noon yesterday, according to reports in the Street. Consequently, an announcement was expected before the close of the market. None came, however, and speculators assumed that the delay meant unfavorable action, and their selling accounted for the late decline. After the close of the market announcement was made that the regular fifty-cent dividend was declared, but that in the future payments will be made quarterly instead of monthly.

Western Union.

Western Union made another new high price for the year today when it crossed 110, a figure which is also a high record for all time. The activity yesterday was attributed in many quarters to the report that an increase in the present 7 per cent. dividend rate would be voted by the Directors soon, although officials have declined to comment on the matter. For the six months ended June 30 the company showed net earnings, after charges and taxes, amounting to $5,682,868, equivalent to 5.69 per cent. a share on the $99,786,725 capital stock, as against net of $4,318,721, or 4.32 per cent. earned in the 1921 period. The stock yesterday closed at 111½, a net advance for the day of 1⅝.

Another rise of more than 3 points in Adams Express yesterday, making an advance of some 6 points in the past two days, was fuel for a recurrence of the recent rumor regarding the resumption of a dividend. At the meeting of the Directors the preceding day President Barrett was quoted as stating that the matter of dividends had not been discussed, but in supposedly well-informed quarters of Wall Street it is understood that the company has the matter of dividends in mind on either a 5 per cent. or 6 per cent. basis. It is understood that the management has disposed of all debts with the exception of about $1,000,000 in claims and, with an improved earnings position, dividend action is said to be up for discussion at the October meeting of the Directors. According to reports, there is opposition to a resumption of dividends, however, before the new express contract with the railroads is signed by the parent company, the American Railway Express Company. The stock yesterday made a net gain of 3¼ points, closing at 72.

The Yield on Liberty Issues.

The recent advances in the Liberty issues have carried the majority of them to a point where the yields to the investor are below the 4 per cent. mark. Of the nine active issues, five are selling at prices which yield below the 4 per cent. mark and four above, the yields ranging from 3.33 on the 3½s, which closed yesterday at 100.92, to 4.15 per cent. on the third 4¼s, which closed at 100.54, and 4.15 on the second 4¼s, which closed at 100.56. One of the features of the market at the present time is the flood of small "pieces" of Liberty bonds which are rolling into market. The explanation offered by some bankers is that they probably come from the districts in which strikers have been obliged to sell their bonds.

The coal and railroad strikes con[illegible] to impede the movement of trad[illegible] most sections of the country, acco[illegible] to the week-end trade reviews. This is particularly true in the manufacturing industries. The retail trade is also beginning to [illegible] the effects through decreased buying power and delayed receipts of merchandise.

Bradstreet's Review says, in part:

"Most reports as to trade and industrial conditions accentuate the responsibility lying with strike troubles [illegible] what irregularities or drawbacks [illegible] witnessed. In other words, trade [illegible] struggling bravely with man-made obstacles to a general gain in prosperity.

"The monthly returns of failures are the most encouraging for a year and a half past; reports as to buying of building materials have been good, whereas congestion of shipments of the [illegible] have been accentuated; there has [illegible] a further improvement in the shoe [illegible] leather manufacturing trades, especially at the East; the openings of woolen lines of men's and women's wear [illegible] Spring at small changes from Fall prices have evoked good buying; the railroads continue to purchase cars and locomotives freely; the jewelry trade [illegible] the East report more doing; collections are a shade better, and the tenor of crop reports is about the best reported this year.

"The trifling gain in iron production for July over June, most of this early in last month, is evidence of the burden that trade is under and the impossibility of its taking full advantage of the rapid advances in pig-iron prices noted in the past few weeks."

Dun's Review says: "Despite negotiations for an adjustment of the controversies, coal mining and railroad strikes are still present as obstacles to business recovery.

"The effects of the labor troubles not alone appear in restricted production and delayed merchandise movements, but also in curtailed buying power and rising commodity prices. While Dun's list of wholesale quotations does not disclose a particularly wide excess of advances this week, some leading markets have tended sharply upward and the strength of pig iron prices has been a feature.

"The virtual withdrawal of sales forces from the road in certain instances is a development that would not have been witnessed if strikes were absent, as consumptive requirements are large and a continued broadening of demand was foreshadowed."

NEW BONDS INACTIVE OLD ARE IN DEMAND

Turnover Averages Upward of $13,000,000, of Which About $4,000,000 Are War Issues.

NEW OFFERINGS CUT 50%

Long-Bell Company's $9,000,000 6s Was Largest of the Week—Another of $3,322,000.

The bond market has struck a period of dullness, with lighter inquiry for new issues. It is between seasons, the mid-Summer reinvestment demand being over and the Fall inquiries not yet having presented themselves. Old issues quoted on the New York Stock Exchange, however, are in steady demand, particularly the bonds of seasoned railroad corporations that have given a good account of themselves in the early months this year. The turnover daily has averaged upward of $13,000,000, of which approximately $4,000,000 have been in the Liberty and Victory bond issues, the balance being represented in corporate securities.

New offerings of the week totaled $31,261,800, a reduction of about half from the average of new issues introduced to investors weekly since the first of the year. They were divided into the following classifications:

State and municipal	$7,256,000
Public utility	11,822,000
Industrial	9,000,000
Railroad	952,900
Farm loan	2,100,000
Total	$31,261,800

The largest single offering of the week was $9,000,000 6s of the Long-Bell Lumber Co., which mature in 1942. The bonds are first mortgage sinking fund securities, and were offered at 96, at which they yield 6.35 per cent. The issue has been fully subscribed. Public utility bonds, sold at prices at which the yield ranges from 5.75 per cent. to 7.39 per cent., aggregated $11,822,000 par value for the new offerings. The largest was of $6,500,000 6s of the Toledo Traction, Light & Power, a gold note which matures at the end of three years. The issue was offered at 98 and interest, at which the yield is 6.75 per cent.

The second largest issue was of $3,322,000 5s of the Indiana General Service Co., a first mortgage gold bond offered at a price to yield 5.75 per cent. An issue of $2,000,000 7 per cent. collateral gold notes of the Central Indiana Power Co. were offered at prices to yield 7.39 per cent. All three issues were fully subscribed, it was reported.

The municipal list was featured by the offering of $2,000,000 5 per cent. road bonds of St. Louis County, Minnesota. The bonds mature in nine years and were offered on a 4½ per cent. basis. An issue of $1,170,000 4½ per cent. school bonds of Hoboken, N. J., maturing serially in two to forty years, were sold at prices ranging from 4.40 per cent. to 4.35 per cent. Other important issues in the municipal class were for Butler County, Pa.; Tampa, Fla.; Montclair, N. J., and Richmond, Va.

One of the outstanding features of the bond market is the fact that many issues maturing in three to five years have been called for payment during the Fall, and new ones have been issued in their place. Such a procedure, started early in the year, when money first worked easier, and continued intermittently since that time, has the advantage of effecting a considerable savings to the corporation in interest charges over the long period of years, even though the call price is moderately high.

MANHATTAN PLAN STATUS.

Approved by 80 Per Cent. of Shareholders—Two Big Ones Hold Out.

Announcement was made yesterday that 80 per cent. of the Manhattan Railway stockholders have approved the Interborough Rapid Transit-Manhattan Railway readjustment plan. Two large stockholders, however, were said to be holding out because of the belief that the terms of the plan were not sufficiently favorable to the Manhattan interests.

Holders of approximately 90 per cent. of the Interborough-Metropolitan 4½ per cent. bonds and 50 per cent. of the Interborough 5s have approved the plan. It was explained that a 75 per cent. deposit of the Interborough 5s was needed, but no difficulty is anticipated by the committee in gaining the remainder. The heavy deposits of the Interborough-Metropolitan 4½s were said to practically assure the adoption of the plan, but in the case of the Manhattan stockholders practically a unanimous consent is needed.

Worsted Company Is Reorganized.

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Plans for the reorganization of the United States Worsted Company made public today call for the formation of a new company to acquire the assets and business of the present organization. Under the plans there would be authorized $3,000,000 of 15-year 6 per cent. debentures of which $2,888,400 would be issued; 30,000 shares of first preferred stock of which 24,946 would be issued; 10,000 shares of second preferred stock of which 9,652 would be issued, and 125,000 shares of common stock of which 116,684 would be issued. The first and second preferred stock would carry preferential dividends of $8 a share.

Butte Mine Is Reopened.

The Emma property of the Butte Copper & Zinc Company, located at Butte, has resumed operations, and normal production is expected by the middle of the month. The mine has been closed since the beginning of 1921. Improvement in the demand for lead and zinc and current prices caused officials to order the mine in operation.

Mesabi Iron Co. Offering Closed.

Announcement was made yesterday by Shonnard & Co. of closing of the books on the 50,000 shares of common stock of the Mesabi Iron Company offered by them at $12 a share. The issue was heavily oversubscribed.

MEXICAN SEABOARD DECLARES DIVIDEND

Regular Monthly Payment of 50 Cents Ordered in Spite of Salt Water Conditions.

TO BE QUARTERLY IN FUTURE

President Hammond Says Change Is Due to the Uncertainty in the Toteco Field.

Directors of the Mexican Seaboard Oil Company at their meeting yesterday declared the regular monthly dividend of 50 cents a share on the capital stock, payable Aug. 21 to stockholders of record Aug. 14. The Directors decided that in the future dividend payments will be made quarterly instead of monthly. Predictions had been made in the financial district that the encroachment of salt water in some of the company's fields might make it necessary for the Directors to suspend dividend payments.

Following the meeting Harris Hammond, President of the company, said that during July the company had delivered approximately 2,500,000 barrels of oil, and that for the first three days of August production of the Toteco field, which was invaded by salt water, averaged approximately 28,000 barrels daily, exclusive of the 7½ per cent. royalty oil due from the Mexican Gulf Oil Company. He added that the company had cash on hand and accounts receivable of $6,185,859.

President Hammond issued a statement in connection with the action of the Board of Directors, in the course of which he said:

"The decision to change the dividend program was due to changed conditions in the Toteco field, which made it uncertain what amount of oil can be taken out per day from this time forward, and therefore what the company's earnings from future production would be.

"In our statement of July 12 it was pointed out that large quantities of oil would still be produced from the Toteco field and that daily production would be on a continually reducing scale, and that actual reduction could only be determined by conditions as they develop from day to day in the field.

"Since this, this company has been forced into competitive drawing by action of its competitors. This competitive drawing has resulted in raising artificially and prematurely the level of the salt water, and if continued we may reach a point when all wells in the pool will have to be closed down, and a period of from thirty to sixty days allowed for the oil and water to settle—thus allowing the pure oil to again come to the surface.

"When production of all interests in that field is resumed on a conservative basis, we should find ourselves again in the position indicated in our statement of July 12."

$4,000,000 Stock Offering Taken.

More than 5,000 subscribers in amounts of five shares and less have applied for approximately $4,000,000 of American Telephone and Telegraph stock, according to announcement yesterday. The stock was taken under the plan proposed to those applicants for the recent offering of $25,000,000 New York Telephone preferred stock who did not get their allotments. American Telephone and Telegraph stock was at the market on the same instalment plan as outlined in the New York Telephone offering. Approximately 40 per cent. of the American Telephone and Telegraph subscriptions are fully paid for.

CAR LOADINGS IN THE WEST.

Large Increase in July on Many Roads.

Financial circles showed interest yesterday in the condition of freight movement on some of the leading Western railroads during July. The fact that these were the first complete reports of traffic conditions on individual railways for the single month since the beginning of the shopmen's strike was held to be indisputable evidence of the ability of the roads to cope with the situation as well as indicating a steady upturn in business, despite the handicap of curtailed coal loadings.

The Northwestern, for example, reported July loadings of 189,511, an increase of 48,254 over the same month of 1921; the Illinois Central's loadings increased 16.6 per cent. to 160,421 cars; Atchison's traffic for the month was 139,249 cars, as against 119,998 a year ago, and the Burlington reported increases of 9 per cent. to 147,849 cars.

GOOD DEMAND FOR WOOL.

American Woolen Company's Season Prices Awaited.

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"A fair demand has been in evidence in the wool market this week which has embraced nearly all grades at steady prices. The openings of the American Woolen Company apparently are being attended with a fair degree of success and this is giving the wool trade more confidence.

"The tariff outlook still is uncertain but not sufficiently so to cause any price cutting, especially in view of the problem of replacements. A little buying is reported in a desultory way in the West, on recent price levels."

PEOPLE FOR BRIDGE, DECLARES WHALEN

SUGGESTS A REFERENDUM

Commissioner Tells Knowles One of Cables Did Slip Despite Engineer's Denial.

Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, who has advocated building a new bridge over the East River, asserting that the cables on Brooklyn Bridge have slipped and that the bridge, unless reconstructed, cannot bear the strain of heavy traffic, remains firm in his views in spite of criticisms. The Commissioner yesterday replied to two of his critics, Controller Craig, who favors more rapid transit tunnels instead of a new bridge, and E. M. Knowles, an engineer who helped to build Brooklyn Bridge and who says that it is impossible for the cables to slip off their saddles.

To Controller Craig Commissioner Whalen says that the entire matter of under-river tunnels is in an experimental stage and that, anyhow, the people want a bridge.

"The idea suggested by the Controller of utilizing the rapid transit tracks for vehicular traffic on the East River Bridge," he said, "is not feasible because of conditions of the streets adjacent to and leading up to the bridge, which are now being used beyond their capacity. The streets leading to our present bridges would not accommodate 100 per cent. more vehicular traffic, as the Controller thinks.

"Most of the rapid-transit lines using the bridges find their way into tunnels at the bridge plaza. This condition brings about a question of the structural changes that would be necessary to make possible the Controller's plan.

"I can only reiterate that I do not believe tunnels should be adopted for vehicular traffic for the East River until the tunnel which is now being constructed under the Hudson River has been proved successful. If a referendum were to be held, I am quite certain that a vast majority of the people of this city would vote for a new bridge instead of a vehicular tunnel under the East River, despite the much greater cost of the bridge.

"The Controller says there is no danger of the Brooklyn Bridge collapsing. I have never said there was such a danger—with the present weight of the traffic. But the city cannot afford to maintain the Brooklyn Bridge for light traffic only."

With regard to Mr. Knowles's contention, Commissioner Whalen says:

"It is a fact that one of the cables did slip off its saddle. This is not a theory; it happened. Mr. Knowles is entirely wrong. There are no rollers under the saddle as Mr. Knowles contends. There were rollers once, but as I have explained, they have been useless for many years for the reason that they have sunk into the concrete and are therefore immovable."

The Real Estate Board of New York issued a statement yesterday condemning as untimely the recommendation of Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, for a new East River bridge, and declaring that no action should be taken to place such a burden on taxpayers until the matter came before the Board of Estimate at an advertised meeting.

The statement refers to various proposed city improvements, and adds:

"The Commissioner of Plant and Structures now proposes a new bridge from Manhattan to Greenpoint, or thereabout, at an estimated cost of $50,000,000, which, incidentally, with interest and amortization, will mean an annual additional tax levy of $2,625,000. This would be 2½ points added to the tax rate at present assessed valuations.

"The proposal for the new bridge is based on an opinion from the experts of the department over which the Commissioner presides that the present Brooklyn Bridge is inadequate, is improperly located and must be rebuilt if its use is to be continued. Other experts, and among them the builder of the bridge and Mr. Lindenthal, whose reputation as a bridge designer and builder is worldwide, think differently.

"The entire question, of course, is one for serious consideration and for examination and investigation by impartial and qualified engineers and city planners. The relative cost of production and cost of maintenance of a bridge and a vehicular tunnel should be thoroughly gone into.

"But in any event the subject is so important, and the contemplated expense is so serious, that no action should be taken hurriedly and no suggested special meeting of the Board of Estimate is needed. There will be a regular meeting of the board on Sept. 22, 1922, and an advertised meeting for public hearings on Oct. 6, 1922, and either of these meetings will be early enough to discuss so important a subject."

SOUTHERN SELLING A MARKET FACTOR

New Orleans and Other Belt Points Send in Liquidating Orders—Loss 20 to 29 Points.

Cotton continued to decline under weight of Southern selling. Houses with New Orleans connections sold contracts on a scale that indicated hedges have become a factor in the situation and will have to be reckoned with more and more each day now. Reports of showers helped the decline, but drought conditions at Southwestern points remain unbroken. After reaching 21 cents for all three distant months, a better degree of resistance developed, though without evidences of any radical change in the position. A recovery of 30 points failed to hold, final quotations showing a loss of 20 to 29 points.

Early trading revealed virtually identical characteristics of the preceding session. First, a steady opening owing to failure of Liverpool to show weakness and then a running decline to new low figures on general selling. Though weather conditions indicated no essential change, high temperatures in the Southwest, with only a shower here and there, selling orders predominated. Commission houses, Southern interests and local operators all seemed to be on one side of the market. While trade buying increased moderately, it failed to appear along lines needed to inspire confidence. When Liverpool weakened later in the morning and New Orleans dropped 10 to 20 points, pressure carried October to about 21.10 and December to below 21.20. This represented a basis 10 points lower than low figures of Thursday. Large blocks changed hands, and at the same time a steady stream of selling orders came from the South. Beginning with the report on Tuesday, Southern selling continued hour after hour, bringing prices to lower and lower levels. As New Orleans weakened even more than New York, it became evident that pressure was derived from the weight of general and not of speculative selling for a decline. Owing to deterioration having started west of the river, operators merely liquidate contracts bought previously, but comparatively few pursue the selling side.

While reports of showers in Texas helped unsettled sentiment early, there were no evidences that drought conditions have been relieved to any appreciable degree. A light fall of rain is not what Texas needs but several days' downpour. This will be quickly known and unmistakably once rains set in. August produces either a drought or a sufficient moisture to further growth. At the present time plants have begun to go backward over a large area and without adequate rainfall in Western sections of the belt the yield will be cut down materially. It is still possible to have abundant moisture that will raise a large crop. Mill interests seem to be influenced more by labor than by crop developments, which accounts in great measure for the sharp break in prices this week.

Without developing a radical change, the market showed resistance around 21¼ cents for near positions. After various lots of cotton had been liquidated on stop loss orders, selling pressure diminished. This gave room traders an opportunity to start a rally and December recovered from 21.16 to 21.50. Demand was not general enough to maintain the advance and a slow setback occurred in late trading. Final prices were less than 10 points from the bottom for some positions.

Spinners took 156,000 bales for four days this week, against 180,000 for five days last year. This brought another substantial decrease in visible supplies, 119,000 bales against 88,000 bales last year, leaving 1,883,000, compared with 4,024,000 a year ago.

SEE DYE TRADE RUIN IF EMBARGO FALLS

WARN OF GERMAN VICTORY

Forecasting the ruin of the American chemical industry by the great German Kartel unless the embargo on foreign-made dyes were continued, the Synthetic Organic Chemical Manufacturers Association of the United States yesterday drew up a petition to the Senate Finance Committee protesting against the defeat of the Dye and Chemical Control act in the Senate on July 15, and asking the reinstatement of protective clauses for the dye industry in the tariff act.

The petition was framed at the end of an all-day session at the Hotel Pennsylvania, and was unanimously adopted by about fifty leading manufacturers. It was forwarded last night to Senator McCumber of North Dakota, Chairman of the committee, and to the other members of the committee.

Dr. Charles H. Herty, President of the association, led the discussion with a speech in which he attributed the action of the Senate to confusion resulting from the controversy between the Government and the Chemical Foundation over the German dye and drug patents which the Foundation took over from the Alien Property Custodian three years ago.

In resisting the efforts of the present Alien Property Custodian for the return of the patents to the Government, Francis P. Garvan, President of the Foundation, has repeatedly stated that the patents were being used to develop the American chemical industry and that President Harding and his Administration were being hoodwinked by the German Kartel in its efforts to regain its monopoly and crush its American competition. Dr. Herty yesterday emphasized the same danger to the American industry from the German Kartel, but also differentiated between the two issues of patents and protection.

American Industry Faces Danger.

"There is no question that the American industry today faces a grave danger," said Dr. Herty. "It is my belief that the recent vote in the Senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, was due to a confusion of thought in the minds of several Senators between two issues—patents and protection for this industry. This confusion arises, I believe, from the recent action of the Government in connection with the Chemical Foundation.

"Logically, this has no connection with the consideration of the question of adequate protection for this vitally important American industry. The nation must depend upon this industry for much that is absolutely essential to the continued freedom of scores of our industries from foreign domination for medicinals and medical science, scientific and industrial research, and for essential weapons of national defense if ever again there is another war, which God forbid.

"I sincerely hope that the confusion of thought which existed at the time the vote was taken in the Senate, striking out the provisions placed in the bill by the Senate Finance Committee, will be cleared away, and that these paragraphs will be reinserted in the measure before it is passed.

"Unless this is done I foresee the ruin of the American industry by the great German Kartel with its fifty years of experience and its vast resources, which has been so strenuously fighting us through its agents in this country."

Says Banks Will Help.

Addressing the manufacturers at a luncheon which divided the morning and afternoon sessions, G. A. O'Reilly, Vice President of the Irving National Bank, advised them to beware of German propaganda, and to take steps themselves for getting their side of the story before Congress and the banks. He said the banks would be glad to join the fight to save the American dye industry if they knew more about it. Mr. O'Reilly described members of Congress as not essentially different from hard-headed business men and likened the function of the Congressman to that of the banker.

"Those interested in the future of the chemical industry of the United States," he said, "should take it upon themselves to see that the banking interests of the country as well as the representatives in Congress are given fundamental and convincing information regarding the situation of your industry today and the effect the tariff bill will produce on it.

"You should have thousands of bankers interested in your case. I firmly believe in the development of our own industries. I am very nationalistic. In the natural reaction of fighting our enemy we have swung back too far toward liking him. The past situation did not work and we can not go back to it again and make it work. This situation has got to be seen and the facts presented just as they are. The situation exists now and that is what we are concerned with."

Demand Protective Clauses.

"At a meeting of the Synthetic Organic Chemical Manufacturers' Association of the United States, held at New York Aug. 4, 1922, the undersigned manufacturers of dyes, drugs and other organic chemicals gave consideration to the serious danger that threatens their industry by reason of the defeat of the Dye and Chemical Control act in the Senate July 15. They now respectfully petition the Finance Committee to take such action as may be appropriate to reinstate the clauses in the tariff act stricken out by the Senate's action.

"They repeat what they have heretofore testified to before your committee, that nothing less than the provisions of the Dye and Chemical Control act will adequately protect their industry; that no specific or ad valorem rates will prevent the German Kartel from regaining absolute control of the American organic chemical market; and that the manufacture of dyes, medicinals and other organic chemicals can no longer be maintained in this country without the legislative protection heretofore advocated by your committee after thorough investigation of all the facts."

MARCY'S STATEMENT GIVES WHEAT A LIFT

Future Deliveries Gain on Short-Covering Deals and Good Export Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—George E. Marcy's statement as to the wheat situation had a decided effect on local sentiment and induced general short covering, especially in the September. The latter advanced 2¾ cents over the previous day's close and finished at the top, while deferred deliveries were up 1¾ cents, the September-December spread at the last being only ⅛ cents, against about 2 cents the previous day.

A statement by Julius H. Barnes, the head of the Federal grain distribution during the war, in which he took practically the same stand as Mr. Marcy, was a factor in making the strong close, as was the report that exporters had taken 725,000 bushels from here during the day.

The bulk of the cash business reported of late is regarded as representing covering of grain by exporters who have sales made for forward shipment. Several of the local houses are understood to have large open contracts with the seaboard and have been instrumental in bidding up premiums.

As far as known, there has been practically no fresh export business at the seaboard, and there were offers here after the close to resell below a replacement basis. Houses with foreign connections were credited with buying 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bushels futures during the day, about equaling the purchases of new grain in the interior. The Southwest sold heavily on the bulge, and the day's purchases by one house are said to have been in excess of 1,000,000 bushels in the country, despite the increasing reports of car shortage.

While some interests are inclined to the bull side, others say they cannot enthuse on the buying side at present and look for a decline as soon as the technical position is weakened by short covering.

There will be no Liverpool cables tomorrow or Monday.

A house with seaboard connections was a heavy seller of futures here today, part of which was said to represent hedging against cancellations by foreign buyers.

Leading American cash handlers say they do not believe Canadian operators will dare sell Manitobas for forward shipment, in view of the prospects of a Wheat Board taking control of the Canadian grain shortly, which may result in the crop moving to market without any great amount placed abroad.

Corn and oats reflected the action of wheat, corn closing ⅝@1¼ and oats ⅝@⅞ cents higher. Exporters took 300,000 bushels corn here and charters were made for 1,500,000 bushels wheat and corn to Eastern lake ports. The prospects are for a liberal reduction to be shown in local stocks of corn for the week.

Primary arrivals of wheat today were 2,063,000 bushels; week ago, 2,161,000; last year, 2,368,000. Shipments were 2,114,000 bushels; week ago, 1,809,000; last year, 1,938,000.

Corn receipts were 654,000 bushels; week ago, 852,000; last year, 524,000, and shipments 605,000 bushels; week ago, 1,612,000; last year, 411,000.

ATTACK ON BROKERS HALTED BY COURT

In the application of the brokerage firm of Gutcheon, Nash & Co. for an injunction to prevent Klipper & Co. from sending out circular letters to customers of Gutcheon, Nash & Co., accusing the latter firm of bucket shop methods, it was announced yesterday that Justice Dowling of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court had signed a temporary restraining order returnable when the Appellate Division meets in October.

The temporary order was obtained by Saul S. Myers, counsel for Gutcheon, Nash & Co., after Justice Finch had signed an order on Wednesday denying the application of Gutcheon, Nash & Co. to continue a preliminary injunction in the case issued by Justice Wasservogel on May 9. When the Appellate Division meets on Oct. 6 argument will be heard as to whether the Appellate Division shall grant a stay in the case until the appeal is passed on some time later.

Justice Finch based his ruling on the ground that the Court had no jurisdiction to restrain the publication of a libel. Mr. Myers, in asking for the temporary order of Justice Dowling, pointed out that the complaint seeks to restrain the members of Klipper & Co., all but one of whom were formerly in the employ of Gutcheon, Nash & Co., from making use of the plaintiff's list of customers, which he alleges was obtained by the chief defendant, Charles R. Nichols, while he was employed in a confidential capacity. Mr. Myers said he believed Justice Finch was mistaken in his ruling that the Court could not restrain the dissemination of information received by an employe by reason of his confidential relationship merely because the question of libel is incidentally involved.

DOMINICAN TRADE BETTER.

Republic's Customs Collections Securing Bond Issue Rise.

Reviving trade activity is reflected in the increase for the second quarter of 1922 in customs collections of the Dominican Republic, on which the Dominican Republic bonds, recently floated in this market, are a specific charge. Customs receipts by months for the quarter compare as follows:

June	261,500	240,303

Reports to the bankers who were interested in the loan indicate that the Government's budget is more than balanced and shows a surplus.

LONDON LIVING COSTS UP.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Another very slight increase came in July to its index number of wholesale commodity prices, says the Economist, the figure rising by a meagre seven points—from 4,389 to 4,396. This is 187 points above the lowest figure of the present year—at end of February.

During the last ten months the total movement has been only 17 points, and the Economist considers that this shows an increasing tendency towards stabilization, although it declares it would be over bold to consider this necessarily more than temporary.

	Points.
Other food products (tea, sugar, &c.)	669
Textiles	1,120
Minerals	712.5
Miscellaneous (rubber, timber, oils, &c.)	900
Total	4,396
Percentage of change	190.5

The highest point reached in the monthly averages during or since the war was 8,352, on April 1, 1920.

Loans and Discounts at Local Banks Show a Drop of $61,000,000 in the Week

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Continued loan liquidation, aggregating $67,000,000, as against a further increase of $59,000,000 of investments, largely in corporate securities, accompanied by substantial reductions in demand deposits, reserve balances and borrowings from the Federal Reserve Banks, is indicated in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement of condition on July 26 of 794 member banks in leading cities.

Loans and discounts of member banks in New York City show a reduction of $78,000,000, of which $61,000,000 represents the reduction of loans secured by corporate obligations, and $17,000,000, the reduction of other loans and discounts, largely loans of a commercial character.

Investments of the reporting banks in United States bonds show an increase for the week of $20,000,000, while holdings of other Government securities declined by $2,000,000. For member banks in New York City an increase of $7,000,000 in United States bonds and of $3,000,000 in other Government securities is noted. As against the substantial liquidation of loans secured by corporate securities, bank investments in these securities show an increase of $41,000,000, the greater part outside of New York City.

Total loans and investments of the reporting institutions declined by $8,000,000 and those of New York banks by $54,000,000.

As against a nominal decline in Government deposits and a reduction of $58,000,000 in other demand deposits ($56,000,000 in New York City), time deposits show a further gain of $28,000,000 ($19,000,000 in New York City). Borrowings of the reporting institutions from the Federal Reserve banks show a reduction for the week from $158,000,000 to $98,000,000, or from 1 to 0.6 per cent. of their combined loans and investments.

For the New York City banks a reduction from $72,000,000 to $10,000,000 in borrowings from the local reserve bank and from 1.4 to 0.2 per cent. in the ratio of these borrowings to total loans and investments, is noted.

Reserve balances of the reporting institutions show a decline for the week of $46,000,000, while cash in vault fell off $8,000,000. Member banks in New York City report a decrease of $24,000,000 in reserve balances and a nominal increase in cash on hand.

O'BRIEN INSISTS ON SUBWAY INQUIRY

RENEWS ATTACK ON PYRENE

Condemns General Andrews's Report as "Whitewash" and "Sophomoric in Style."

In a letter to George McAneny, Chairman of the Transit Commission, John P. O'Brien, corporation counsel, yesterday demanded again that the commission immediately institute public hearings into the causes that led up to the breakdown of service on the Interborough Subway on July 10, the causes and conditions of the fire in the Lexington Avenue Subway on July 6, and the conditions that surrounded the fire in the Brooklyn Rapid Transit plant on July 26.

Discussing his demand, Mr. O'Brien asserted that the city officials had been completely ignored by the Transit Commission in the conferences between members of that body and representatives of the rapid transit companies. He said that if witnesses were duly sworn and the privilege of cross-examination extended to the city authorities, he was confident he would be able to show that reports of subordinates of the commission were "entirely unreliable."

The Corporation Counsel in his letter enumerated the recommendations of the Mayor's Committee of experts in regard to the Lexington Avenue subway fire, and added:

"These recommendations were followed by a progress report prepared by your General Andrews, in which he undertook t owhitewash the whole situation and relieve Mr. Hedley and his subordinates of all responsibility in connection with that disaster. General Andrews's report was most general in its scope and sophomoric in style and entirely unworthy of a situation involving vital concerns. This report was adopted by your commission and given to the press.

"If the management of the subway systems are required to provide a means of completely isolating the interior of the car from the source of electric supply, then there would be no excuse for using Pyrene for extinguishing the electric arc and any means of fire extinguishment which the Fire Department may approve for use in confined and crowded quarters would meet all requirements. While the adoption of such a device for cutting off entirely from the car in difficulty all electric current would render unnecessary the use of such an extinguisher as Pyrene, the sharp issue which has been raised by your commission with the city's experts as to the dangerous characteristics of Pyrene is another urgent reason why you should, at the earliest possible date, institute an open proceeding for the taking of testimony.

"The position of the experts of the city with respect to pyrene is unchanged. Indeed, various bureaus of the Navy Department, having had experience with carbon tetrachloride, recommend that for the protection of the personnel, such extinguishers may be used only for fighting fires in the open air or where the fighter is equipped with a gas mask, and the interior of a subway car in the tunnel most certainly cannot be classed as 'open air.'"

COMMODITY PRICES.

Sharp Recovery in Grain—Cotton Again Declines—Other Markets Little Changed.

The feature of the local cash markets yesterday was the sharp recovery in grain prices. Wheat was most prominent with an advance of 5⅝ cents a bushel. Corn gained a cent a bushel and oats ½ a cent. Cotton reacted another ¼ cent a pound and has now wiped out virtually all of the gain scored earlier in the week following publication of the Government crop report. Lard reacted following the drops in pork prices on Thursday. Tin was up 50 cents a hundredweight.

Total operating revenues stood at $4,086,217 against $4,147,960 in 1920, and total operating expenses were $3,653,017, compared with $4,909,101 in 1920. In the balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1921, total current assets stood at $1,118,104, compared with $1,506,498 for the previous year, and total current liabilities were $1,249,430, against $1,692,126 for 1920.

President I. B. Tigrett said in part to the stockholders: "The year might be characterized as one of continued readjustment for the property. Traffic, particularly in the more profitable commodities, did not materialize as anticipated, due to the general business depression, while the restoration of efficiency and reduction in expenditures proved a slow and difficult task. The condition of the property and the organization is now such that any increase in the volume of traffic can be handled economically."

'DYNAMITING' NOW A BUCKET-SHOP TRICK

INDICTMENTS ARE EXPECTED

Victims Lured to Heavier Purchases by Profits on First Few Transactions.

District Attorney Banton yesterday began an investigation of a new bucket-shop practice known as "dynamiting orders." "Dynamiting" is described as taking money from an investor, giving him nothing in return and going into hiding before he has time to discover that he has been robbed.

The "dynamiters" start, according to Assistant District Attorney Benjamin F. Schreiber, with a list of small holders of stock. Telephoning to a man with three or four shares of some forlorn and forsaken line of stock, they tell him that there is sudden demand for that stock, but that the demand is entirely for ten-share lots. They advise him, therefore, to buy six or seven more shares, thus making up a ten-share lot, and then unload it on some of the eager purchasers who have newly appeared on the market. The "dynamiter" offers his services to purchase the missing six or seven shares. He requires a check from the proposed victim in advance of the purchase.

In many cases the "dynamiter" arranges that the first two or three dabbles of his victim are successful, thus enticing a larger sum for investment. One of the complainants told the District Attorney that he had been led on by this sort of encouragement until he discovered that $7,000 had been "dynamited" from him. This man wrote Governor Miller a description of the manner in which he had been entrapped in the high-explosive stock deals.

About a score of others have made complaints. Most of the "dynamiters," as soon as they had blown up a large group of victims, gave up their offices and disappeared. Some have been traced to New Jersey, where they opened new "dynamiting" offices.

Some of these explosions have been carried out, according to the District Attorney, by men representing themselves to be friends and helpers of the District Attorney.

"We are helping the District Attorney clean up the bucket-shop situation by giving an honest deal to the small investor," one of the "dynamiters" told his victims.

No arrests have been made, because the accused have been found absent from their former places of business. The investigation, however, has hardly been started and several indictments are expected.

Organize Oil Lease Development Co.

Announcement was made yesterday of the organization of the Oil Lease Development Company by the Middle States Oil Corporation, with a capitalization of 250,000 shares of common stock without par value. It will also issue $2,000,000 ten-year 8 per cent. gold bonds, to be sold at par, with a bonus of five shares of stock with each $100 bond.

OIL CO. TO SPEND $1,000,000

Directors of the Tide Water Oil Company have authorized the expenditure of $1,000,000 to enlarge the capacity of its subsidiary company, the Tidal Refining Company, which operates in Oklahoma and Kansas. The company at present operates twenty-two gasoline plants and two refineries, having started in 1919 with four plants.

Detailed estimates have been worked out, it is said, to consolidate in certain fields the several groups of plants into single units, and the units so formed into one compact working system. When the construction work now well under way is completed the several plants affected, with the naphtha and pipe line and increased refinery capacity, will present a rounded, well balanced group with a centrally located blending supply, eliminating inefficiency.

RUSSIAN CROPS THREATENED

Friends Committee Hears Food Situation Will Be Serious.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The food situation in Russia the coming Winter, declares a telegram received by the Friends Emergency Relief Committee here today, will be twice as serious as was expected a month ago.

The rye harvest will be from 40 to 80 per cent. less than was predicted in the forecast of June 16, says the message, and unless there are good rains within a week the later crops will be for the most part lost.

CAR LIGHTING STOCK PLAN.

Stockholders to Vote on Creating Two Classes, Also New Issue.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Car Lighting and Power Company has been called for Aug. 22 to vote on the matter of creating two classes of stock of the present capital stock. Permission for the sale of 40,000 shares of new preferred stock, with rights to subscribe to present holders will also be voted on.

At a meeting in March this program was ratified, but an injunction nullifying the action was obtained by a dissatisfied stockholder because some of the proxies were not properly signed. J. L. Watson, Secretary of the company, said that additional working capital was needed in order to take advantage of new business.

BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday—4 to 4¼% for the best names. Thursday—4 to 4¼% for the best names. The quotations are for six months paper.

Gray Goods Sales Small.

The further drop in cotton here yesterday kept trading light in the gray goods market. Most first hands held their goods very firmly, but some of the others, as well as second hands, were willing to trade in staple printcloths for prompt delivery on the basis of 6¾ cents for 38-inch 68-72s, and 8½ cents for 38½-inch 64-60s. A few lots of Southern 38½-inch 60-48s were reported available for late August and early September delivery at 7⅝ cents. Seven cents was the price paid for September deliveries of 4.15-yard sheetings, while 5.50s brought 7⅝ cents. Sheetings, as a whole, were not very active during the day, and the same was true of the specialties and fine yarn cloths.

Buying of Coats and Suits.

Garment manufacturers say the volume of business placed during the current week was fairly good. Some of the early Fall requirements of the retailers have been filled, but the consensus of opinion is that the best selling weeks of the season, as far as the manufacturers are concerned, are directly ahead. Much conservatism has been shown by buyers, who are taking a portion of their requirements now, intending to come back later on. The demand for coats and suits of the better grades is good. Coats continue to be in more demand than suits, which also indicates a good season for dresses. Fur trimmed garments are expected to figure largely in later buying, particularly those trimmed with beaver, squirrel, fox and wolf.

A Novelty Pocket Bag.

As a means of advertising his novelty pocket bag, a manufacturer has made up one of the largest sample handbags on record. The size of this is 23 by 13 inches. It will be shown in the concern's booth at the National Merchandise Fair. It is a large replica of the pocket bag which this firm has been featuring. The leading advantage of this bag, according to the manufacturer, is the hidden safety pocket which begins under the top flap and runs the whole length of the bag. Besides this feature, which is claimed to be exclusive, the bag has a complete equipment comprising a mirror, writing tablet with pencil and small change purse. The bags are made in pin seal, English cross grain and imported tapir calf leathers. They wholesale from $24 per dozen.

Spring Woolens' Season.

During the next week the woolen trade is expected to get completely under way for the Spring 1923 season as regards men's wear fabrics. A number of the leading independent mills are scheduled to open their lines within the next seven days. One of the firms which has announced its opening for Monday is Strong, Hewat & Co., who will make a complete showing of their wool and worsted fabrics. The number of patterns in the showing, according to an official of this company, will be larger, and novelty effects will predominate. Several new woolen fabrics for both general and sports wear will be shown. Jobbers continue to report a very quiet business. The demand for serges which showed improvement a while ago has now fallen away somewhat.

Fine Shoe Business Gaining.

Reports from retail handlers of men's fine shoes in various parts of the country, and particularly in this city, indicate a very noticeable improvement in the sale of this merchandise in the last few weeks. The buyer for one of the best-known stores in the metropolitan district yesterday reported that from July 1 to date his sales had exceeded every day those of the same period last year. A prominent manufacturer of this class of shoes also reported that during the period from April 1 to date more business from retailers had been booked by several thousand pairs than during the preceding six months. An easing up in financial pressure is regarded as one of the reasons for it; many men are now feeling free to purchase the class of goods they were accustomed to buy before the pinch came.

His Troubles Never Cease.

There seems to be no end to the troubles of the retail credit man. One was recently made the victim of a man who asked him to reopen an inactive account. An investigation showed that it was apparently safe to do so. It was done, and the man bought a quantity of merchandise. Shortly afterward he went into bankruptcy, and now offers settlement at 15 cents on the dollar. In another case, a customer has informed a credit man that he will have to sue for collection of a bill covering several pairs of silk stockings. These had been returned to the store for credit by his wife after they had been worn and damaged, and credit, naturally, was refused. In another instance a customer insists on taking a discount for prompt payment when no discounts of any kind are given by the store.

Hard Coal Difficult to Get.

Now that the railroads have commandeered what pea coal the producing companies had left in their stocking plants, Saward's Journal will say today, dealers are unable to get anything at all from larger interests. All that is offering in the market is a limited quantity of independent pea and buckwheat, and an equally small amount of river barley. All the retailers can do is to parcel out what little tonnage they have on hand and wait, with as much patience as they can muster, for the collieries to start up. In the meantime they are making persistent efforts to obtain assurances of prompt shipments when work is resumed. The bituminous market has been quieter this week, and prices at the mines are somewhat below their peak. No pronounced drop is looked for, however, until the supply loosens up.

Glove Silk Underwear Orders.

Buying of glove silk underwear at the present time continues to be confined largely to "fill in" purchases for the current season. Some advance orders for delivery later than Sept. 1 have been placed, according to leading manufacturers, but the larger part of the Fall buying is still to be done. Flesh and white are the colors predominating in present sales, while the higher colors are expected to come to the fore in the later Fall orders. Manufacturers are beginning to talk of price advances as a result of the continued strength of the raw silk market. One of the leading makers said that the supply of silk on hand, which was bought at prices considerably below the prevailing quotations, is becoming exhausted. He claimed that the cost of manufacture of women's silk underwear on the basis of the present raw silk quotations would exceed the current wholesale price.

Ribbons That Are Favored.

Buyers in the ribbon market increased during the present week, the largest delegation being from the Coast. The amount of buying done for Fall, however, was restricted. Manufacturers say that the next three weeks, which includes the period of the Merchandise Fair, will be the time in which it will be seen how the Fall situation will shape up. At the present time, the narrow ribbons, sizes 1 to 5, are in most demand. The fancy edge ribbons in this category are the best sellers, especially picot edges, narrow grosgrains and moires. For the Fall, the narrow metallic ribbons in gold, silver and steel effects are looked upon to do well. A little improvement has been noted for hair bow ribbons. Some makers look for more demand from the millinery trade, as several model collections have hats trimmed with wide moire, faille, tinsel and grosgrain ribbons.

BUSINESS NOTES.

The annual sales convention of the Cooper Underwear Co., Kenosha, Wis., at the local offices, 387 Fourth Avenue, will conclude today. It began on Thursday.

THE WEEK'S PRICE TREND.

Foodstuffs Generally Lower, But Hides and Metals Higher.

The excess of the changes shown in Dun's list of wholesale commodities prices this week was again on the side of the advances, the actual division being 49 to 26. Fully a third of the revisions were confined to the foodstuffs, in which the declines outnumbered the advances by more than two to one. Last week the general list showed 73 changes, of which 37 were upward. Hides and metals also displayed considerable strength this week.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

	This Week.	Last Week.	Year Ago.
Apples, com, bbl.	$4.50	$4.50
Beans, m. c., 100 lbs.	9.50	9.50	4.00

The foodstuffs changes totaled twenty-six this week and eighteen of them were declines. In the local provisions market further reductions were seen in flour. The Spring patent grade dropped 35 cents a barrel and a decline of 40 cents was shown in Winter straights. Bacon did not change here, but hams were lower. Middle Western lard advanced. At Chicago live beef and sheep went up, but live hogs declined. Mess pork declined for the first time in several weeks, but short ribs did not change.

All of the butters in the dairy list were lower this week, the declines ranging from half a cent to a cent a pound. A slight decline in the best cheese was also seen, but both varieties of eggs in the list went up. Near-by fancies were 3 cents a dozen higher, while the rise in the best quality fresh-gathered stock was a cent a dozen. The entire list is well below the corresponding figures of 1921, with the exception of cheese. In that the decline has been only a cent a pound for the year.

For the third week in succession, neither the fresh nor the dried fruits in the list showed change either way. Red and white kidney beans both declined in the vegetables, and choice Blue Rose rice also was cheaper. Cabbage dropped 25 cents a barrel and onions slipped off a similar amount per bag. A decline in No. 7 Rio coffee was the only change in the beverages. In the spices, cloves were higher, while nutmegs and black and white Singapore peppers declined. Fine granulated and 96-test raw sugars both were higher.

With the exception of No. 1 Texas hides, which did not change, every item in the hides list was quoted higher this week. There was no change in the listed leathers, however. The only drop in metals took place in tin. The advances were seen in several varieties of pig iron, refined iron bars, electrolytic copper, spelter and lead. Foundry coke, for prompt shipment, continued to rise, but the advance in furnace coke appears checked for the time being. Changes in the combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils were lacking in feature. They included eight advances and four declines. A rise in resin and a drop in turpentine completed the fluctuations in the naval stores.

General weakness was seen in the grains and, excepting for hay, in which no change was indicated, all of them were quoted lower than at the close of last week. Miscellaneous changes included advances in hemp and red cedar and declines in plantation crude rubber and Japanese and Chinese raw silks.

Further openings of Spring worsteds and woolens dominated the week in the textile markets. The loss of strength in cotton, following the spurt which resulted from the bullish crop report, kept trading light in goods which are made from it. Burlaps also had a rather quiet week of it and closed easier.

PRICE CUTS IN CRUDE OIL.

Wyoming, Oklahoma and Montana Products Affected.

CASPER, Wyo., Aug. 4.—The Midwest Refining Company and the Ohio Oil Company, principal purchasers of crude oil in the Wyoming and Montana fields, today announced a reduction of 20 cents a barrel in the posted prices of all grades, effective at once.

The new prices are: For Grass Creek, Lance Creek, Elk Basin, Osage, Greybull, Torchlight and Cat Creek (Montana), $1.20; Rock Creek, 80 cents; Big Muddy, Salt Creek and Hamilton, 70 cents; Mule Creek, 65 cents.

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 4.—Eighty-five cents per barrel for Cement, Okla., crude is within 10 cents of the low record for that oil, according to the Magnolia headquarters here. On June 4, 1921, the price fell to 75 cents.

Subsequently it advanced to $1, and recently began to decline in connection with reductions in other oils.

Current Sales Drop, but Road Orders Exceed Those of Year Ago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade, say:

"Orders from salesmen on the road were ahead of the same period of 1921.

"There were fewer customers in the market than a year ago.

Will Hold Back Buying.

Converters of cotton goods, more especially those that handle lines of wash and other dress fabrics, are not so sanguine now about getting a good Spring business from jobbing buyers this month. The relapse in cotton is the reason and, unless this staple takes something of a spurt in the near future, trading in these goods for the new season will be deferred indefinitely. Jobbing buyers, when in this city last month, were not backward about saying that only higher cotton would justify the prices asked for many types of Spring goods, and they held off in the hope that a decline in both the staple and the fabrics would come about. Only the better constructions of the moderately-priced printed goods, such as high-grade percales, are meeting any real demand at the moment, and this is due to the attractive values offered.

Ames-Holden Concerns to Merge.

MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—Ames-Holden-McCready, Ltd., and the Ames-Holden Felt Company, Ltd., are to be merged into the Ames-Holden, Ltd. The Ames-Holden Tire Company remains an independent concern. The preferred and common stocks of the two companies are wiped out, but the preferred will receive 25 per cent. of the new common. One million dollars of new bonds are to be sold at 95.

Operators and Investors Figure Prominently in Purchase of Apartments.

Apartment Hotel May Replace Late Judge Horace Russell Mansion on Park Avenue.

Operators and investors figured prominently in yesterday's real estate trading when several good apartment house properties were acquired by new owners.

Joseph Shenk, operator, purchased from the Decorating and Fine Furniture Corporation the eight-story elevator apartment house at 530 West 113th Street. The building is on a plot 50 by 104 feet, between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue, and contains nineteen two, five and six-room suites. It yields an annual rental of about $37,000, and was held at $225,000.

Joseph G. Abramson, attorney, sold to Max Dubroff, an investor, the modern five-story store and apartment building at the southeast corner of 163d Street and Amsterdam Avenue, containing twenty-six apartments and seven stores, on a plot 45 by 100 feet, known as 452 West 163d Street. The property, which contains all improvements, has a rent roll of $16,000 and was held at $85,000. The brokers in the transaction were Pierre & Golden, Inc.

Mr. Abramson also sold to Conrad Glaser Realty Company, Inc., the vacant plot on the west side of Broadway between 132d Street and La Salle Street, plot being known as 3,103-3,113 Broadway; dimensions being 126 feet front by 90 feet deep.

The new owner is a builder who has already started excavation and on which plot will be erected a two-story modern business building, containing ten stores on the street floor and offices on the upper floor. The construction will be under the supervision of Louis Allen Abramson. The plot was held for $120,000, on which the Mutual Life Insurance Company makes a building loan mortgage of $80,000. Slawson & Hobbs were the brokers in the transaction.

The five-story apartment house with stores, on a plot 24.10 by 100 feet at 1,738 Lexington Avenue, has been sold by Lina O. C. Prescott and Samuel J. Corker to the newly formed 1,738 Lexington Avenue Corporation. Moses H. Rothstein, attorney, represented the buying interests.

A loan of $700,000 made by the City Real Estate Company has been advanced to improve the site of the late Judge Horace Russell mansion at the southwest corner of Park Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street. It is understood the new building will be an apartment or an apartment hotel.

The loan is made to 45 Park Avenue, Inc., recently formed and representing Cyrille Carreau and associates, who lately bought the property from the Cuidado Investing Company. The site fronts 98.9 feet on the avenue and 100 feet on the street.

There was also recorded in the register's office an "agreement" involving the property between the former owners and 45 Park Avenue, Inc., Samuel L. Fuller, Charles L. Tiffany and others. Recently the Twelfth Church of Christ, Scientist, made overtures to purchase the property, but the deal was not concluded.

Plandome is on the North Shore branch of the L. I. R. R., 17 miles from Penn. Station; electric service, 32 minutes express trains; 60 trains daily; 3 theatre trains.

House is situated on a knoll overlooking Manhasset Bay and surrounded by beautiful gardens and shrubs; shrubbery alone has been appraised at $9,000. There is a wonderful sand beach for bathing, a pier and bath houses.

First floor has a large reception hall, living room, spacious sun parlor, dining room, pantry, kitchen, ice box room. On the second floor there are four master bedrooms, large sleeping porch, two baths an extra lavatory and basin. Three bedrooms and bath on the third floor. Hot water heat, electric lights, gas, silver electric fixtures, canvas walls and ceilings, tiled roof, shades, awnings; completely screened and weather stripped.

Garage for two cars with chauffeur's quarters, hot house attached. Numerous fruit bearing trees, grape vines, strawberries, rhubarb and asparagus beds—in fact everything you would expect to find in a high class country estate and it is so arranged that the present chauffeur takes care of the entire place.

The property is one mile from the station, ¼ of a mile from school and one mile to churches of four different denominations. The owner, who is now occupying the house, has it very artistically furnished and decorated. He will sacrifice the furnishings if desired.

Owner, being forced to leave within a short time, will make a big sacrifice for quick action. Come out today and make an inspection. Photograph sent if desired.

WRITERS UNANIMOUS AGAINST CENSORSHIP

"Preposterous," Says G. P. Putnam—Waldo Frank Denounces the Plan.

The proposed application of trial by jury to questionable manuscripts, in order to check the publication of so-called immoral books, especially by authors of the "younger school," caused a great stir yesterday among authors and publishers.

The system, proposed by John S. Sumner, Secretary of the Society for Suppression of Vice, after conference with certain publishers, to have committees or juries review challenged manuscripts before publication, was opposed with apparent unanimity by writers, and was received with divided opinions by publishers.

Charles J. Herold, manager of the publishing department of Brentano's, said that the proposal was favored by Brentano's, and that he thought many other publishers wished to have the protection which would be afforded by such a committee.

Horace B. Liveright of Boni & Liveright said that he was preparing to bring a suit for libel against Mr. Sumner, because of the reflections cast by the latter against the practice of publishing limited editions of works conceded to be too realistic or too strong for the general public. Mr. Sumner said that such works were usually sold to any one who would pay the price. Mr. Liveright said that the Sumner statement specifically dealt with his publication of a new translation of "Satyricon," a work by Petronius, which sets forth shocking occurrences in shocking words, and which is translated into language sometimes heard exchanged by chauffeurs on street corners in New York. While admitting that the volume is not all that it should be, Mr. Liveright alleges that he has been libelled by the statement that such publications, supposed to be limited, have actually been sold surreptitiously to anybody ready to pay the price.

Brentano's Favors Censorship.

Speaking for Brentano's, Mr. Herold said:

"We are really in favor of such a committee. I believe that what Mr. Sumner and Mr. Holt have been advocating is not the review of all manuscripts by a censorship committee, but the review of such manuscripts as seem to the publisher to be of doubtful propriety. It was not to act as an arbitrary censorship committee, controlling all publications. The committee would give the publishers its opinion whether a given book or a given passage was permissible or not. Even in scientific works there is often a doubt as to the permissibility of certain passages. We are in favor of a committee of this kind. I cannot speak for others, but I believe many other publishers are likewise in favor of it."

Waldo Frank, a prominent author of the "younger school" so severely criticised by Mr. Sumner, made this statement:

"The proposed literary censorship would result in driving American literature underground. No man with the slightest understanding of literary values would serve on a censorship committee, for any such man knows too well the delicate problem of spiritual expression to exercise a veto of life or death over any book, however alien it might be to his own taste. The result would be that the committee would consist of men who, however well-meaning, were incompetent to judge a literary work, and that the true carriers of a spiritual message would be forced to underground means of finding their audience, similar to the means resorted to by revolutionists in Czarist Russia.

Literary Freedom in Czarist Russia.

"The comparison is, however, unfair to Czarist Russia. In Russia there was, indeed, a ban on political discussion, but at its darkest hour man's right to explore the human soul along literary channels was not denied.

"In literature the average is not the most significant, and the accepted has no creative value. The function of literature is to seek out and formulate new visions and new values. Such material, through the very fact that it is new and upsetting, is bound to shock the average mind. For, while the average mind accepts docilely what was new and unacceptable yesterday, it revolts against what will be old and accepted tomorrow. The censorship plan, being a plan to impose an average standard, is, therefore, a dangerous blow to the spiritual growth of our nation.

"Doubtless many salacious books are printed each year whose suppression would do no harm. The point is that no human being is wise enough to judge which are the salacious books, and that it is only the ignorant and bigoted who dare to make their personal judgment binding on the entire world. Moreover, the dissemination of many salacious books does harm that is as nothing compared to the harm done by the suppression of one creative work. And since it is only the ignorant and bigoted who ever dare to force their judgment in such matters upon others, it is usually the bravest and truest that risk suppression."

No Writer Committed to the Plan.

Mr. Sumner said yesterday that he could not name a single writer who had committed himself in favor of the censorship plan. Mr. Sumner's letter, printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday, explaining the plan to Jesse Lynch Williams, President of the Authors' League, received only a formal acknowledgment, with the promise that the suggestion would be referred to the Executive Committee of the league. Ten publishers, according to Mr. Sumner, have expressed themselves in favor of the principle of his plan. When he was told that the theory had been raised that Walt Whitman would have been suppressed by such a censorship committee, if it had functioned in his day, Mr. Sumner replied:

"I do not think so. I think some of his poems and some passages in others would have been suppressed if they had been referred to a representative committee in his day. I think they would be suppressed if referred to such a committee today."

Eric Schuler, Secretary of the Authors' League of America, issued this statement:

"The attention of the Authors' League is called to an article in THE NEW YORK TIMES in which the impression is conveyed that the Authors' League is in accord with the proposal of John S. Sumner for a voluntary censorship of manuscripts. A letter on the subject has been received by the league, but no action has been taken. It can hardly be said, though, that this league is in favor of the proposed censorship of manuscripts. On the contrary, in all discussions of the censorship problem the league has been unalterably opposed to pre-publication censorship in any form whatever. It is the opinion of the league officials that the present laws and courts offer ample opportunity to bar distribution of books whenever it may be in the interest of the public good."

Opposed to Judgment in Advance.

When Mr. Schuyler was asked why the league favored the jury system of voluntary censorship for the stage and opposed a similar suggestion in the case of book publishing, he said:

"The stage censorship does not function until after a play has been produced and a complaint made against it. Under this plan, however, the manuscript would be tried and sentenced in advance of publication. In my opinion, no change whatever is needed in the present situation. If they are bad, books may be suppressed and their publishers prosecuted, and that power is sufficient."

G. P. Putnam of G. P. Putnam's Sons issued the following statement:

"The implication in the story in THE NEW YORK TIMES this morning, based on an interview with Mr. Sumner, is that the publishers are actively engaged in organizing a voluntary censorship plan. 'The story states that 'the committee of the official organization of publishers is studying the plan.' I happen to be a member of the Censorship Committee of the Publishers' Association, and, so far as I know, the committee has nothing before it of this nature. The only meeting it ever had was a session two or three months ago with the Authors' League Committee, from which resulted absolutely nothing.

"Preposterous," Says G. P. Putnam.

"It is my personal opinion that a supreme authority of censorship for publishers is unworkable, unnecessary and unwise. The publishers are, or at least should be, capable of judging the decency of their own output. The proposition of submitting manuscripts in advance of publication to any committee whose advance O. K. must be secured is to me preposterous.

"As I understand the theatrical plan, a panel is to be available from which a jury can be drawn to pass upon plays which, after presentation, have been questioned. Possibly something like this can be done for books. But a censorship in advance of publication is something else again. I am afraid I agree with Heywood Broun, who says that 'a censor is a man who has read about Joshua and forgotten Canute.' Largely it can't be done and shouldn't be done."

Taken to Children's Society After Neighbors Had Fed Them.

Abandoned by their parents and dependent upon the charity of neighbors for what little food they had eaten within the past week, according to the police, Philomena Calandra, 13 years of age, and her sister, Salvatrice, 12 years, were taken from a flat at 229 East 107th Street last night to the rooms of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Complaints from tenants of the house led to an investigation by Detectives John McGlaughlin and James Lynch. The little girls said that two weeks ago their father, Ousta, had left home, and that on July 27 their mother, Mary, had departed, taking their little six-year-old brother, Tony, with her. Neither parent had returned, they said, and what little food they had received had been from other tenants.

A search for their parents is being made.

Application to Surrogate Cohalan for letters of administration on the New York estate of John C. Fisher, one of the producers of "Floradora," which netted millions of dollars, shows that he left only $6,500 in this State, although it is believed he had nearly $100,000. One of the claims listed against the estate in New York is $40,500, held by the Hotel Claridge.

Mr. Fisher was in Chicago with the Irish Players when he died on Dec. 18 last, and his will has been probated there. He left his residuary estate to Olivia Depp Seiler, wife of J. William Seiler of St. Louis, an actress who had aided him in many of his productions, and also provided, "I give and bequeath to any and every person who may claim to be one of my heirs, the sum of $1." The New York estate consists of Liberty bonds and oil stocks.

Black's physicians confirmed his words and now are hopeful for an entire recovery from concussion of the brain and other injuries he suffered.

Wolf estimates his loss at about $50,000.

TEAPOT OIL OUSTER UPHELD

White House Calls Use of Marines "Lawful and Efficient."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Use of United States Marines to oust the Mutual Oil Company from the Teapot Dome naval reserve in Wyoming was declared today at the White House to have been "lawful and efficient."

The White House spokesman, commenting on the protest recently forwarded President Harding by Governor Cary of Wyoming, said it was imperative that the Federal Government protect its oil reserves and prevent trespassing which would result in court litigation. The spokesman added that according to reports received by the President the removal of the alleged squatters has been accomplished "sweetly and without conflict."

ASK $100,000 EACH FOR FAILURE TO WED

J. B. W. NOTES FOR EVIDENCE

"Daddy Longlegs," Sued, Wished Her Luck With Contest, Says Girl Plaintiff.

Two $100,000 breach of promise suits were launched here yesterday. In the first, Miss Edith L. Ransom, once employed by George Creel in his wartime information bureau, asked that sum from John B. Woodward, Eastern advertising representative of The Chicago Daily News and other dailies. She charged that Mr. Woodward, who she said was 57 years old, or thirty years her senior, had proposed to her and then refused to marry her.

In the second suit Miss Diana Sherry, 26, described as a distant relative of a former Mayor of New York, alleged that Henry de Berniere Hooper, former President of the Marine Record and now with the Shipping Board, had wished to wed, but that the wedding had not occurred because Hooper has a wife and two children. Miss Sherry had an affidavit in her papers about Hooper slipping out of the United States Shipping Board offices at 45 Broadway via the freight elevator to avoid a process server.

The action by Miss Ransom was started through Stapleton & Friedman, attorneys, of 305 Broadway. To support their complaint, Thomas J. Stapleton exhibited yesterday a mass of letters written by "J. B. W." to "Dear Edith," urging the young Creel employe to go in for the literary life, supplying tips on the length of New York skirts and advising her to marry a young man identified as "Harry." In other letters economy was preached by means of Walt Mason rhymes.

Love passages in the alleged correspondence, however, were strikingly few. The only hint of such a thing was at the close of one of the letters which Mr. Stapleton said would be used in the trial of the suit: "With much love from your fussy old Daddy Longlegs."

Mr. Woodward characterized the allegations as "absolutely untrue," and referred reporters to his counsel, Henry Smith of 261 Broadway, who said that he was "not accustomed to trying my clients' litigation in the newspapers." He added that "Mr. Woodward has a good and substantial defense to all the allegations set forth in the complaint and will frankly and fully meet them when the case goes to trial."

Miss Ransom is a decided brunette with large, liquid black eyes. To reporters who talked to her yesterday evening at the Hotel Laurelton, 147 West Fifty-fifth Street, she described herself as an orphan reared in a Masonic home at Richmond, Va. She sketched her alleged romance with Mr. Woodward freely and said that even now, with the suit and all, she felt that "deep in his heart he loves me."

Miss Ransom said she still loved him and would "marry him right now." She asserted, in fact, that the advertising man called at her hotel on Thursday night—he had been served with the summons and complaint of the suit that afternoon—and wished her luck, adding that he had even said he hoped she won the suit.

They met, she declared, in October, 1918, at a social function at the home of mutual friends. The proposal came, she alleged, across a luncheon table at the Hotel Majestic in April, 1920, since which time the alleged love had gradually but steadily diminished. Friends who emphasized the difference in their ages had come between them, said Miss Ransom.

Called "Shrimp" and "Villain."

According to her counsel, witnesses will be produced to swear that Mr. Woodward introduced the girl as his fiancée to friends and relatives in Chicago and Summit, N. J. One of the "J. B. W." to "Dear Edith" missives produced by Mr. Stapleton was on stationery headed "Office of The Chicago Daily News." After complimenting Miss Ransom on her versalitility as a letter writer, it had this paragraph:

"Sunday you pictured me as a great big wonderful man; Tuesday I was a shrimp not fit to continue as your devoted pal; on my return to New York I was not to speak to you. Wednesday I was to prepare for the wedding march and on Thursday I was a cold-hearted villain who had forsaken his princess and was rushing widows and vamps."

For about four months prior to last May Miss Ransom worked in Mr. Woodward's office. He said he had dismissed her then with three weeks' pay.

Papers filed in the Hooper-Sherry suit disclosed that efforts were made to serve Mr. Hooper for several weeks. When they proved unsuccessful an order was obtained from Supreme Court Justice Erlanger permitting service to be made by mailing the papers to Mr. Hooper's home at 6 East Ninth Street and also by tacking them on the door.

An affidavit by a process server set forth that the server had been told that Mr. Hooper had not been at the Shipping Board more than twice in the two weeks preceding the visit and that he had left by the freight elevator each time. At the office of The Marine Record, 18 Cliff Street, it was said he came there only on unexpected occasions and remained only a few minutes. Irving H. Lambert, counsel for Miss Sherry, talked to Frederick W. Park, attorney for Mr. Hooper, in an effort to settle the case, but Mr. Park refused to settle on behalf of his client.

Mrs. Clarke withdrew a contest in which she alleged undue influence by Miss Hallett, who had been a member of their household. The Clarkes had not lived together for twenty-seven years.

3 DEAD, 2 INJURED IN DAY

Two Boys Killed Playing in Streets—Truck Nearly Wrecks Warehouse.

Within five blocks of the place where her husband was killed a year ago Mrs. A. W. Finney of 144 East Twenty-second Street was killed in the street by an automobile truck at Twenty-second Street and Third Avenue yesterday. Leo Peck, 24, of 820 East 160th Street, driver of a Metropolitan News Company truck, was arrested on a technical charge of homicide.

Mrs. Finney had supported herself by dressmaking since the death of her husband, Thomas J. Finney, an insurance agent. Mr. Finney was struck by a surface car when crossing Third Avenue and Seventeenth Street in June, 1921. He died in August. A suit which Mrs. Finney brought to recover damages was still pending yesterday.

Joseph Desmonie, 9, ran under the rear of a peddler's wagon standing at 148th Street and College Avenue to pick up a ball yesterday afternoon just as a passing motorist tooted his horn. The noise frightened the peddler's horse. It backed up, catching the boy under one of the rear wheels. His head crushed, the boy was instantly killed. He lived at 293 East 148th Street.

Playing tag in the street in front of his home yesterday afternoon, Dominick Starace, 8, of 150 Summit Street, Brooklyn, ran directly in front of a passing automobile truck and was instantly killed, while half a dozen playmates looked on. The driver, Edward J. McTighe, of 266 York Street, Jersey City, was arrested on a technical charge of homicide.

Stephen Kat, 40, of 310 Van Winkle Avenue, Jersey City, was taken to the City Hospital there yesterday with a possible fracture of the skull after a collision between his car and that of Mrs. Mary Geisler, 44 Beacon Street, Jersey City. Mrs. Geisler said he was driving on the wrong side of the road and lodged a charge of reckless driving against him.

A head-on collision in Ridgewood, N. J., between automobiles driven by Mrs. George J. Steinmetz of Ridgewood and Jacob Urotsky of Manhattan resulted in serious injuries to the woman and the arrest of the man on the charge of assault. Mrs. Steinmetz, believed to have suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries, is in a serious condition at her home. Urotsky, a real estate broker of 15 East 118th Street, was locked up at Hackensack to await the outcome of her injuries.

A five-ton motor truck belonging to the American Sugar Refining Company yesterday almost wrecked the one-story grocery warehouse of Herman Gottlieb & Sons, Inc., at 593-601 Gravesend Avenue, Brooklyn. The machine, out of the control of the driver, Doremus Carter, a negro, smashed into a three-foot pillar, pushed aside a steel girder and caused a cross-beam above it to buckle. The brick facing fell and the walls of the building cracked. Gottlieb said it would cost $20,000 to repair the building.

CROWD SEES POLICE THRASH TWO IN TAXI

Attacked by two men, one of them armed with a revolver, while directing traffic at Sixth Avenue and Forty-second Street yesterday afternoon, Policeman Charles Nickels of Traffic Squad B fought a thrilling battle before hundreds of shoppers. Only when a patrolman and two citizens had come to his aid did Nickels succeed in overpowering and arresting his assailants.

Just before 4 o'clock T. L. Doyle, the elevator operator in the building occupied by the Fleischman Baths, 47 West Forty-second Street, called Policeman Nickels to eject two men who were threatening him and insulting women passengers. Nickels did so, warning the strangers, who drove off in a taxicab. Fifteen minutes later, he said, the same cab stopped near him, and one of the men started to leave the taxicab, drawing a revolver from his rear pocket. The policeman grabbed the pistol arm, raining blows with his blackjack and blocking the man's egress from the automobile with his right knee.

As the other man joined the fight against Nickels, two citizens came to Nickels's aid, as did Patrolman Thomas G. Egan, who had seen the gathering crowds and had come running. Egan took the pistol from the first assailant, pressing his own to the man's side, and after a severe tussle the pair were subdued and taken to the United Cigar Store on the northwest corner, where the doors were locked and two taxicabs commandeered for the trip to the police station.

At the West Forty-seventh Street Station House, the armed man gave his name of Owen J. McClain, 31, of 130 Lawton Street, Yonkers, and produced a badge and card showing him to be a special policeman of the New York Central Railroad. His comrade said he was Daniel Smedley, 27, of 127 West Sixty-first Street, Manhattan. Dr. Paul H. Bernstein, from Flower Hospital, took six stitches in McClain's head and one in Smedley's cheek. The policemen were uninjured.

The prisoners will be arraigned in the West Side Court this morning.

AUTO OFF BRIDGE; SIX HURT.

Prompt Aid Saves Men Pinned Down in Shallow Water.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 4.—Six men on a fishing trip to Barnegat had a narrow escape from drowning, when their automobile got beyond control, shot off a bridge and fell fifteen feet into a creek near Clarksburg, N. J., late this afternoon. Two of the men were badly hurt. Four were from New York. The car turned over when it hit the water, pinning its occupants underneath.

The men were saved from drowning by the shallowness of the water and the fortunate arrival of help immediately after the accident headed by Mayor Mooney of Burlington. The injured were taken to St. Francis Hospital here.

The most seriously injured are Helmsworth Levick, a retired business man, of 71 East Broad Street, Westfield, shock and lacerations, and Samuel Garshowitz, 32, of 1,301 Hoe Avenue, the Bronx, fractured arm and possible internal injuries. THREATENS JAIL FOR IGNORING SUMMONSES

Magistrate House, in the Traffic Court yesterday, sentenced Harry Dorry, 23, a clerk, of 554 West Fifty-fourth Street, to ten days in the workhouse. Dorry was served with a summons on Wednesday, directing him to appear in court on Thursday. When his case was called his brother-in-law, Michael McGlinn of 235 West Eighty-sixth Street, told the Magistrate that the defendant was unable to appear as he was packed up and ready to leave for California.

"He won't go to California yet if I can help it," said the Magistrate, sending a warrant officer after Dorry. The latter was found leaving his home with his luggage. He was brought before Magistrate House yesterday and sentenced.

Magistrate Cobb sentenced Albert J. Raymond, 44, an insurance broker of 74 West Sixty-ninth Street, to ten days in jail and fined him $50. The Magistrate announced that he would notify the Secretary of State not to issue a new license to Raymond. The latter was charged with running his automobile upon the sidewalk and injuring Joseph Florsheim, 52, of 204 East Seventeenth Street, after striking a truck at 166th Street and St. Nicholas Avenue on June 30.

GASOLINE 2 CENTS LOWER.

Standard of New York Also Reduces Price of Naphtha.

The Standard Oil Company of New York yesterday announced a reduction of two cents a gallon in the wholesale price of gasoline, thus bringing it down to twenty-five cents a gallon. This follows a similar reduction by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, announced on Thursday. In addition to the gasoline cut, varnish makers and painters' naphtha was also reduced two cents a gallon to twenty-four cents. The Texas Company cut its gasoline price two cents a gallon in the same territory served by the Standard of New Jersey.

Additional cuts in crude oil were also announced yesterday. The Midwest Refining Company reduced the various grades of Wyoming and Montana crude oil twenty cents a barrel. Louisiana crude, with the exception of Caddo, was lowered twenty-five cents a barrel. The Magnolia Petroleum reduced its purchase price of Mid-Continent crude twenty-five cents a barrel, thus meeting the cut put into effect by other big purchasing agencies in that field earlier in the week.

TRAIL MANY CLUES IN POISON PIE CASE

Investigations So Far Fail to Reveal Slayer of Six or Motive in Mystery.

TWO SUSPECTS SHADOWED

District Attorney Still Without Evidence to Order an Arrest—More Victims Recover.

Two suspects continued to be shadowed by detectives trying to discover the person responsible for the deaths of six persons by putting arsenic in dough at the Shelburne Restaurant, but District Attorney Banton said yesterday that he was still without sufficient evidence to order an arrest.

The investigation is going on in chemical laboratories, in drug stores and farm supply shops selling arsenic preparations for killing plant pests, and in various clubs and restaurants frequented by cooks and waiters, but no light has yet been thrown on the motive for the wholesale murder by poison.

Dr. Ole Salthe, food expert of the Health Department, analyzed scrapings from cracks in the tables where the dough was mixed, and sought poison in about forty specimens of food, hoping to be able to discover if the poison was placed in the dough last Saturday or last Monday. His results left the point doubtful.

District Attorney Banton questioned employes of the Bliss Disinfecting Company and confirmed previous statements that the visit of the exterminator preceded the poisoning by nearly a month and could not be connected with it in any way. The work of the District Attorney and his staff was increased by a flood of anonymous communications and signed letters, setting forth an endless series of speculations as to the motive for the crime.

Mr. Banton said that the only progress made so far was the elimination of a large number of persons who were physically placed so that they might have put the arsenic in the dough from which pies, rolls and pastry were made. When asked why two men who have incurred suspicion have not been arrested, he said:

"There is no greater mistake than to arrest a man on insufficient evidence. We cannot now show who possessed the arsenic, and we cannot produce any person with a motive which seems sufficient. All that we can do is to follow every possible clue. This takes time. We believe that the perpetrator of this crime will eventually be caught and punished."

No further deaths have resulted among those poisoned. Most of the fifty or sixty who were made ill by the poison are progressing satisfactorily. Some have entirely recovered.
